I've been on this forum for a month. So I want to state out my opinion.

I've managed to do a lot of accomplishments and gain a lot of more knowledge thanks to this forum. A lot of new HQ members joined this forum, and a few of the members got banned. Nothing new, HF is always going to change, no matter who gets banned, it will always go to the right and positive direction.

A lot of progress was made in less than a month, and that kind of news needs to be told around the forum. New members won't instantly fit here after they register, they need time. Time to find new friends, new threads to make them motivated so we can be proud on what we have done! Bad behavior won't get any of us nowhere, it will just give a bad reputation to this forum - and that's the last thing we want.

My public opinion on this forum? It's a forum that everyone with a common sense is accepted. This is a forum that is constantly growing. I have no bad intentions to anyone here. Sure, scammers will always get banned because they were only here for the money. Money that some decent member earned with a lot of work invested. Those are the only kind of people I don't want here. Now the question is.. how are they banned so fast? The answer to that is - Staff. Those are the members we should respect. Every single one of them is an outstanding member who is dedicated and who keeps this forum in its place.

This is all I have to say currently. I will always make threads like this. Everything I said here is real. Thank you for reading and I will make more of these threads as time passes by.

Nice and sweet feedback. Don't let anyone look down on you just because you're non-upgraded.

You just rambled on about random shit, alright that's cool. Get yourself a cookie.

OATMEAL, ill be that guy. OT: Make the font somewhat readable and have a bit of structure, staying on topic and not moving around like a military wife.

Who are you, what have you done, and why do we care about your opinion?

Seriously, people need to stop posting feedback threads when they haven't done shit on the forum.

Seriously, people need to stop posting feedback threads when they haven't done shit on the forum. Why does it matter if he gives a pov of his first months experience of the forum, or 2 months, or so on? Just because you were staff before does give you an excuse to be a prick to everyone else because they haven't "done" anything for the forum yet.

Short sweet and to the point. Nice feedback.

Perhaps I have the wrong mindset. I feel one should only post feedback when one has done something on the forum. You've been here for over a year. It gets a little tiring when people are posting: "MY FIRST DAYS FEEDBACK." when, honestly, who cares?

I understand the first day feedbacks, I agree those do get annoying, but still. Everyone has an opinion, everyone may not like or care for them but it shouldn't stop them from posting it. Well, that is unless they are trolls of course.

That was unexpected Saged'. You came out of the blue with that one.

You're right but if people start encouraging this then many new members will start picking it up.

Ugh, why are you using that font with that small text size? Burns my eyes just trying to read this shit. Do you want people to actually read this?
