Thread: I need good Mobile Tracking website \(free\)

Dannethabest - July 25, 2014, 7:15 am

Hello, I've been having a bit of trouble with my friends lately when i call them and ask their location they just make something up this is really difficult for me ?
so i wonder if there is a good tracking website for mobile i would like it free please. thnx!

If you friends don't want you to know where they have been going then you should respect their privacy. However, if you still want to do this then the only way I can think of doing this is getting a RAT or something similar installed. I'm not very knowledgeable on .apk RATs so read up on it in the rat section.

You don't need to infect the user to get their location. I don't believe you can get their pin-point location but I do believe you can get the general location of which state and city they're in. For example, Miami. Miami is very big but that's what the location would say. If you'd like a full non-stop location of your target, you'd need to infect them with a .apk RAT.
