Thread: Would you rather be burned to death or drowned to death?

nondescriptoldie - July 28, 2014, 7:10 am

Another one of those "Would you" Questions on HF.

Would you rather be burned to death or drowned to death?

You will have to die but what would you die from, so lets imagine that their was the crazy guy and you accidentally key-logged him and he noticed, he got your IP and your info and came to your house, he then came in and then hooked you up and restrained you so you cant move and he said "Would you rather be burned to death or drowned to death" what you say? do? I would say be drowned to death as it a much more peaceful way of ending your life whereas being burnt is a quick and easy way of dying but will hurt more.

Wicked? - July 28, 2014, 7:12 am

I think drowning will be worse than burning to death as drowning would be a lot more painful and a lot longer, think of yourself using the last amount of air, then your lungs filling with water and then your gasping for air which lasts minutes of suffering whereas if you was burnt, it depends how you was burnt and were on your body however burning would be much quicker.

i?irXa™ - July 28, 2014, 7:12 am

Hall no. Neither. Nope nope nope nope.

Ofux - July 28, 2014, 7:13 am

Black man here, drowning is in no way "peaceful". That day when I dropped my Js in the pool was almost the end, and it was terrifying.

+Haze - July 28, 2014, 7:13 am

Touch decision, If I was burned to death I'd pass out after 7 seconds from the intense pain, but I heard drowning was more peaceful (NDE). I guess I'd choose drown.

Within 5 seconds of the pain it'd become that intense you'd just pass out and wouldn't feel anything, chances are in that period all of your nerves will be just destroyed so you cannot feel anything.

No. You'd pass out after couple seconds from the intense pain man. Google it.

Burney Teh Dinesur - July 28, 2014, 7:18 am burning is a longer and painful death while drowning is just complete panic... Unless you take it calmly which I'm sure no one would.

I would take it calmly if I knew the option, enjoy the last moments getting drowned in water, take it easy and then the longer you would survive and also you were going to die anyway, whatever the option so make it less intense for you, instead of suffering the heat suffer the cold....

$hmoney - July 28, 2014, 7:37 am

I would totally rather be drowned. I don't want to be put in a fire and have someone watching me look like a chicken, roasting in a pit of fire. I would rather be drowned because I would probably just pass out.

Shoppa - July 28, 2014, 7:37 am

Burn to death, i think it will be faster.

Pillows - July 28, 2014, 7:41 am

Depends what kind of drowning. Is someone smashing my face into the water? I'd prefer if i drowned myself.

DeXuM - July 28, 2014, 7:45 am

Burned, as you would pass out from the pain and sheer fear of dieng such a horrid death in the first place.

Raptar - July 28, 2014, 7:50 am

I'd rather drown defiantly I think burning would be more pain

Griev?us - July 28, 2014, 7:52 am

Can I pick the "or" option by any chance?

khaleesi - July 28, 2014, 7:53 am

I've drowned before. IT WAS THE WORSE thing I've ever experienced in my whole entire life. So probably burn.

IQKiitty - July 28, 2014, 10:39 am

Burning would probably hurt more... but I really really hate water and all things water-related and drowning-related things, so I'd choose burn. I think. I hate water XD

S?kid - July 28, 2014, 10:41 am

I'd want to be drowned is gasoline. Then mid way through my drowning he throws a match on me.

Cuz I'm a thug

Psifour - July 28, 2014, 10:47 am

Drowning all the way. After the first deep breath it only stings for a second (if you don't exhale deeply first it is AGONIZING). Although it depends on what you are drowning in I guess. I wouldn't want to drown in the ocean or a chlorinated pool, but a fresh-water lake wouldn't be too terrible. Drowning also leaves a much better corpse.

DotPSD - July 28, 2014, 10:58 am

I would be burnt, I personally would be fucking scared to be drowned.

It sounds like hell.

I also liked OP saying

"Image if a hacker got your IP and shit, came to your house"

loll...

u?op ?pisdn - July 28, 2014, 10:59 am

Burning is worse than drowning #fact.

When you burn you'll stay longer alive and feel more pain. Also when you get burned to death your lungs will fill with water and eventually you'll die by drowning because well.. you get no air just water.

Hash Slinging Slasher - July 28, 2014, 11:00 am

If you are burnt to death, it will be a bit slower than drowning I believe. Depends how he burns you. Image he lights a candle and uses that to slowly burn you.

You'll pass out of intense pain within like 5-10 seconds too.

#fact.

Preperition - July 28, 2014, 11:01 am

Apparently drowning is not to painful but burning is after burning my hand I know that so I would rather drown to death

u?op ?pisdn - July 28, 2014, 11:05 am

Lol you don't pass out of intense pain, however you can pass out because of the smoke but that depends on the type of fire.

Imagine8 - July 28, 2014, 11:14 am

Burnt. You would experience a lot of pain, then pass out after like 6 seconds, in the water you would be holding your breath as well as you could until your body naturally tries to take a breath then your lungs flood. Or you could just use a VPN and you wouldn't have to choose :)

Deko - July 28, 2014, 11:17 am

I'd say, I'd rather be burnt to death on the condition I can have one arm free so I can eat some crispy human meat. I may as well experience it before I die.

Fabsy - July 28, 2014, 11:27 am

I would drown, fuck burning would slowly tear through your skin.

Income. - July 28, 2014, 11:35 am

Drowning will make you pass out after a couple of minutes, I'd rather drown than burn to death.

Stoke - July 28, 2014, 11:37 am

Neither.

If I had to choose, I'd have to choose drowning.

Revamp - July 28, 2014, 11:57 am

I would do neither... I want to live. But, If I had to choose a way to die, I would shoot myself. A lot faster and least painful.

shredder - July 28, 2014, 12:01 pm

Honestly drowning because at least my body is not burnt.

Trisomy 21 - July 28, 2014, 12:02 pm

I would gladly burn to death to see our mother the Firehawk smiling down upon me!

PHoeNuHX - July 28, 2014, 12:05 pm

I would rather burn, because Shrek would heal my wounds and breast feed me.

The_Rat - July 28, 2014, 12:10 pm

Burn after 3rd degree you won't feel anything then you'll just die but I'd like death by ejaculation or drugs

You could say the same about drowning, you'll pass out because you don't get enough air. So basically, you won't be in any pain either.

I'd choose drowning.

Trisomy 21 - July 28, 2014, 12:12 pm

oh I hear that's a common one these days

romanocartago - October 28, 2018, 11:17 am

Burned it's cooler than drowned but none is good

?ystem - October 28, 2018, 11:24 am

I'd rather drown, because immolation is a very slow and agonizing way to die, whereas with drowning you just struggle to breathe and just drift away.

Woods - October 28, 2018, 11:25 am

I'd much rather burn and roll around like a rolly-polly. Drowning is a piss poor way to die.

voidshifter666 - October 28, 2018, 11:32 am

Drowned, 100%. Burning is too painful. Drowning is agonizing too, but you lose your consciousness rather quickly.

SIM-3257834 - October 28, 2018, 12:10 pm

Can I get both? Can my body be burned after I die drowning

Zeus - October 28, 2018, 12:11 pm

Burned, I would not wish to drown.

Riggs - October 28, 2018, 12:16 pm

Odd scenario to find myself in. Depends how hot the burn is.

Zettabit - October 28, 2018, 12:18 pm

I would probably say burned, cause I've had a dream that I almost died from drowning and it was horrific.

spradebassen - October 28, 2018, 12:18 pm

id like to be burned, thank you

savaged. - October 28, 2018, 12:45 pm

burned as i'd be panicking a lot if i was drowning.

Redemption - October 28, 2018, 12:51 pm

Both of these choices are super hard to decide. I think I would rather drown than be burned. It's either a ton of pain with dying to fire or the feeling of losing all your oxygen, water filling your lungs while being drowned.

i agree, it'd be a horrible feeling when you can feel yourself drowning.

The only plus side I can see with either choice is if you pass out halfway through it, you don't have to feel the pain of dying to fire or feeling yourself drowning.

Bossk - October 28, 2018, 12:56 pm

drowned i think, just a few sec of suffering then u blackout

lunaticcc - October 28, 2018, 12:56 pm

Not exactly because I really want to die either ways, but if I should go with one, it would be fire.

yeah, but if you drown you are going to psychologically hate it. however it wont hurt as much physically as being burned

b?xxy - October 30, 2018, 11:47 am

I personally would rather drown than burn to death.

Zeus - October 30, 2018, 11:52 am

I will take burning over drowning certainly.

Caliban - October 30, 2018, 11:53 am

Drowning is one of the most brutal ways of dying however burning it depends if its a slow or fast burn

Tax - October 30, 2018, 11:54 am

I think this is a really difficult choice to make. I think you will survive burning to death longer than drowning. So i'd go for drowning. + it's also a way more peaceful way to die than burning from a fire
