Thread: Mass Twitter Follow Script | Flat UI | Panel | Unfinished

Kasual™ - July 28, 2014, 6:10 pm

Hey guys.

I was working on an updated Mass Twitter Following Script. It has a beautiful, Flat UI with a contact and FAQ page. I used an old mass follow script I had bought earlier and improved, but it doesn't seem to be working. i'm releasing this to everyone so you can attempt to fix it because I don't have the time for it at the moment.

This is a really nice share, I personally wont use it but Im sure somebody will.

Kasual™ - August 9, 2014, 7:34 am

Still hoping someone finish this. Its free guys.

VRUMM - August 9, 2014, 7:36 am

I think that flat admin template is overused.

Well what would you recommend i use instead?

carbos - August 9, 2014, 1:40 pm mh, for ever "follow" you change IP ? And it is "legal" ?

(Aug 11, 2014 11:29 AM)ComputerTrophy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So you're giving us a code and telling us to fix it under the premise that you've released it to us? That won't work. If your script is broken, you will have to tell us specifically what's broken so we can try fix it. "It doesn't seem to be working" is not good enough, unfortunately.

This isn't a help thread, its a release thread in the PHP development section.

Imperious1 - August 12, 2014, 8:13 am

I'll have a go on this. I'll let you know if I fix it.

taufan55 - August 13, 2014, 1:55 pm

There are so freaking many twitter follow script out there using mobile twitter site which isn't much complicated as the original site as yours.

No offense, just, nice share.

rudeman - August 14, 2014, 6:12 am

Posting to see if someone fixes this.

CottleSilver - August 15, 2014, 10:06 am

Nice work, I think the flat ui is used too much but it looks nice so keep using it

BitCodex - August 15, 2014, 6:40 pm

Personally I like the flat ui even if it is considered "over-used". Anyways, thanks for sharing. I'm not really sure if I'll be able to fix it though.

Yes I agree with you. I think it still looks great.

jeroendj2 - August 18, 2014, 5:08 am

Any updates on the fix? I think flat-ui looks mint

SIM-852088 - August 18, 2014, 3:10 pm

This is pretty nice, I don't use Twitter or know anyone that uses Twitter a lot, so I would find this pretty useless. But knowing there are lots of people who use it, they could find this very helpful.

Kasual™ - August 18, 2014, 3:45 pm

Yeah. So far I am not aware of anyone that has fixed it and shared it with me.

I've tried to fix it, but it seems that whenever it tries to authenticate with twitter, it just says username or password error. Even when the login info is correct.

I'll try again later, more than likely Twitter updated the way sessions and authentication are handled.

MrPip - August 18, 2014, 4:56 pm

Try using twitter's API documents/reference, it will fix this small issue.

_H0rn - August 19, 2014, 6:10 am

Looks smart, now you need to make a twitter account creator ;)

jeroendj2 - August 19, 2014, 6:47 am

Theres a working one within it :) :)

Kasual™ - August 20, 2014, 1:26 pm

Updated the link! Hopefully someone will fix this.

The problem was the script was using the old twitter app. I am guessing if i posted the fixed version users will sell ? I tested it with 153 accounts and works fine. I also added a paid version were i added twitter accounts into the db and the users enters there username and it will use the accounts stored in the db but will only show the username to the user.

jiaugia - August 31, 2014, 6:45 am

I'm pretty sure the script you're basing it off of (the old script) used the old method of posting the login information, which Twitter no longer supports - now it uses oAUTH

You 100% correct i fixed this script. This script uses the old twitter api twitter has now stopped all access to there old api and the script needs to be coded around the new twitter api which ive done.

You can't really overuse a simple, flat design.

The reason flat design is so popular now is because it's easy to make, looks good and gives the user the functionality they need without a huge amount of resources being wasted on fancy graphics.
