Let's say internet collapses, what are you going to do if it gets completely shut down? That means no HF either :P

Just imagine, the systems shut down, companies cannot operate anymore. The banks are down and you cannot send or receive money. It's a blackout! The internet is dead. Amazon revenue is about 200 million per minute that means if it goes down their stock is down, the economy is down. I'd be the one fixing it :P studying for network security and engineering.

Wrong section, OP.

I'd just tether my phone to my PC.

id go outside and sell more drugs than usual? lol its not that hard, the internet isnt everything. skateboarding, biking, swimming, getting closer to nature is more exciting than the internet in my opinion.

its a bit ironic that im saying this because im building a gaming computer haha but still, id just go outside and walk around and enjoy the breeze.

Everyone would live a life without Internet. When you think about it, it can be a good thing.
