Thread: [\[REQUEST\] Program or something to mess with this guy who won't leave this girl alone](#)

SomeAsianDude - July 30, 2014, 4:31 pm

Hey guys, what is a program that I can get this guy to easily click and it'll automatically download or whatever?

This guy is a complete psycho, his girlfriend has broken up with him for over a month and she likes me. However, he still considers them together and he calls her babe and shit. She is totally done with this guy and he keeps coming to our workplace and trying to talk to us saying shit like her sister sent him and she'll call her sister and her sister would be like what the heck? I didn't.

He got her into trouble making lies and crap (bringing her family into this and her family believed him... sadly... -_-), saying shes cheating on him with me and a ton of other shit.

He's one hell of a dumbass though, he talks a lot of shit and makes up a ton of it. I'm just getting really tired of him.

So could you guys help me out? What is a good easy program that I can download, use or someone could make that he would just simply click the link or whatever and then I can do shit to his computer or like it'll keylog him?

It would be great if I could get his facebook, that way I could expose his cheating, lying, psycho ass.

Help would be greatly appreciated!

I doubt giving him a computer virus will lock him in the basement. I say you glock that motherfucker.

But my friends already want to beat him, so I'll let them do that and I'll fuck up his phone or computer and make him get a new one or something.

Viruses can't permeantly ruin the system. You can always reformat the hard drive and do a fresh operating system install.

If you have access to his computer: If you really want to I'd say download a rat, drop the stub on an exe, add an exception on his antivirus in the settings, than execute your server. Than do whatever you want to him.

you want to him.Hm, I wish I had access to it. Thanks for the idea however.

This is kind of complicated for a beginner, but send him a RAT!

RAT = Remote Administrator Tool

If he opens the file, you have all access to his computer! You can control it, spy on it, etc.

You can crypt it so his Anti-Virus doesn't pick it up as a virus!

Or you can just be a fucking man and have a "talk" with him.

I doubt he'll do anything even after you destroyed his computer.

Or just fake his account and set up something like a facebook chat, with screens of him saying that he cheated etc.

You can use them to cause system damage, it's possible, I remember a script floating around here somewhere that causes the motherboard to become basically worthless (Have never used it though). Mining on their computer can also stress it, it may not cause immediate damage but it will be a lot slower because of the CPU usage.

This situation needs to be resolved irl, not over the internet, beat him up irl, stab him with a knife (Since you get the same punishment as getting caught with 15K botnets)

Most computers will shut themselves down or crash if the CPU usage is too high. Although I'm sure it can maybe work depending on the motherboard.

There is one program call kickhisass.exe you could try

13uNkNoWn - July 31, 2014, 10:59 am

The best way to fuck with him, call the cops on him...

Get her and him together, have them get into an argument of sorts, and Have her show them scratches that HE(you) put on her...

I dunno where you are, but here in California he would be guaranteed to be going to jail for at least a few days.

Just make sure she doesn't scratch him or anything

No computer virus is as bad as having someone tell you to squat so they can check your asshole for drugs/weapons lol...

Well you say he's a dumbass, is he just pretentious or actually stupid? If he's actually stupid it should be easy to RAT him, maybe use a JDB. You can find cheap crypting services around HF for around $2-$5 for a FUD crypt. So just try getting him to install a RAT (Dark Comet most likely), and then you've pretty much got full control of his computer. Other than that check out some of the various virus makers around HF and hit him with a worm or trojan. Again, you'll need to get your virus crypted before you can do anything.

Wrong, you can have a CPU Usage of 100% and no computer will turn it self off.

However, on the other hand, if the CPU Heat gets too high, I think it's about ~90-105 °C it will shut itself off, following a blue screen (On most computers, on other computers it just goes black, and it's off).

I see where you're at, and it must suck for you. I suggest showing him who's da real boss. (If you know what I mean).

What you are looking for should be RAT'ing him, by RAT'ing him, you'll get access to almost everything you'll need to know/have about/off him.

park outside his residence with your wi-fi laptop or whatever and hack onto his wireless network. he's probably like 99% of most households and don't have any wireless security. i easily hack into my neighbors networks all the time. its entertaining to say the least. once your in you can browse all over his files and *uck up his hd, os, or whatever.

I consider it sheer stupidity. I have really considered beating the shit out of him, but the girl that likes me I know isn't completely over him. She doesn't want to be with him anymore and doesn't have feelings, but after being with someone for a year or so, it is rather hard to just forget everything.

Here, I'll tell you one of the many things he has done. When we started work, she just thought I was cute, and after awhile we started talking and it was mostly about work. So we were talking about work on her wall and we switch over to messages, her boyfriend out of no where messages me and says he sees me talking to his girl and like all that crap. Telling me not to ask for her number, but I'd already gotten it because she gave it to me.

He starts talking shit and causes drama. So he came to our work place to talk to us and he's like talking to me like he is the good guy and he's the one that has been abused and crap. He tells me I'm kicking him when he's down, when literally the night before I told her I should probably back off and let them resolve this (he'd been begging me to back off and giving me a sob story). So he came to our work place, talked to me for a bit and then I went inside because the higher up staff have a meeting. The director who is my cousin tells him that since this is personal matters that he should leave, he decides he'll stay and wait for "his girl".

She comes and he gets physical with her, and he starts banging on the center door (I work at a community center). And after the girl told him to leave and he tried to get in and the other mentors blocked him, he decided to leave. He came back after we were finished to try and talk to us and this time the director and the master (the community center is a martial arts place as well) get involved and he's like shaking in his pants and shit.

But yea, he did a ton of other stupid stuff but that was like just one of the many. He simply doesn't get that they've broken up and every chance I gave him (backing off) and she gave him (picking up his calls), he just fucks up because he is just so fucking stupid.
