Looks like it's going to be an awesome group, good luck Hex.

Kosmos - July 31, 2014, 10:17 pm

When knowledge comes a knockin', who are you gonna call?

Call of the Void

alright, that was cheezy, anyways, bring on the userbars! ?

First post means I get an auto invite right?

PHoeNuHX - July 31, 2014, 10:17 pm

Still waiting for recruitment... Hopefully someone can make a good userbar.

Silent ? - July 31, 2014, 10:17 pm

Yes we need a userbar! Bring them in now!

Jay? - July 31, 2014, 10:17 pm

I sort of like our userbar right now, Hexi. Describes our group rather well.

Can't wait for the change, kind of digging the whole no-userbar type thing as well. Hopefully we can get the graphics done quickly.

This is an idea, I would have done something related to FBN if 1: It wasnt copying, 2: If I had the talent, but oh well.

Because this essentially is bringing back Void, I used the whole space theme, with a small outer glow. Someone can remake it or whatever, it isn't anything fancy or huge, but it is good to think on.

My only question is: Where did Qualia go? He was one of my favorite members in Void. It's as if he had a heart attack upon hearing the news of Void's closure.

I'm happy to be back. And if people are wondering what kind the application to this group will be like, go to this thread for refrence: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3575417>

I am really enjoying the group so far.

I got back from a trip and realized the group was in full swing.

I love discussions and it being in a private sub-forum really helps the quality.

Qualia is very mature for his age. I really hope he rejoins, already got Neamento to come back but I didn't take Qualia's skype unfortunately so I couldn't reach him.

Congratulations on 11k posts, and I completely agree. Out of all of his lengthy but beautifully written posts, my favorites were on the "Discussion on monotheism" thread.

My, my, even his "Away reason" is elegant:

I'd rather have that then all of these in your face neon colored user bars they have everywhere else.
These bring a type of art into it.

I take these in the deeper meaning "We don't really have a purpose, we define ourselves as we go". Which can go good and bad. Due to people in HF being lazy and groups not doing shit, it's usually bad.

cortz - August 6, 2014, 6:18 pm

I actually gave a brief explanation of my thought process when creating the userbar.

Quote:The original idea behind my userbar is that I wanted to abstractly represent the 'void', which is most commonly connected to some sort of black hole in space..etc.... Initially it was just the large 'void' and it felt too centered, so I added a second, smaller sphere to balance out the piece. Because of its abstract foundation, you can say it resembles a moon orbiting a planet, or the void consuming some thing. Regardless, it's meaning can be much more abstract and can be interpreted differently but the idea ultimately revolves around the idea of something close to a void-like object in a space-like setting. Which is supposed to give the viewer a much more dynamic experience
I apologize that the silhouette of the design resembles others and that your interpretation of the design was misleading.

Updated the original post with more information. Depending on how you look at it.

Back to Void, thanks for this Hex. This is such a good and HQ debate group, literally a post every 10 seconds.

Raddify - August 7, 2014, 6:44 am

If they make different departments of it. I want there to be a psychology section. That would be awesome.

You don't need sectors for intellectual discussion and debate. If you'd like to take a psychological approach when posting in the group (should you ever join) then I'm sure it would be welcome.

Hexicidal - August 7, 2014, 6:15 pm

I don't believe I will allow sectors at all.

SHIFT? - August 7, 2014, 6:25 pm

I was in this group when it was "Nexus" and I can say I enjoy the current group much more.
