Thread: Learning Web Development and Game Development possible?

nonsense309 - August 15, 2014, 4:09 pm

Hi, i've wondered a lot if it is possible to learn both, sure it will be hard but will it be possible?

I'm asking because i can't decide for what i want to be, i really enjoy both, i first tried C# so i know the basics of C# and it was really fun, i then bought a course for Web Development to learn HTML, CSS, JavaScript, jQuery, Bootstrap, PHP, and MySQL, it was really fun too and i enjoyed it as much as i did with Game Development using C#.

I really want to do both things, i don't care on how long it takes to learn, i just want to know if it is possible so i'm not wasting my time trying to learn both things :-)

By Game Development i mean programming languages like C# and/or C++

Kind Regards,
Jesper

Yes, it's possible to learn both. It just takes time and practice.

In game programming you might have more intense math work then compared to web development.

So, just know that there's a lot of work it in. Don't rush through it or else you will end up learning how to program a game in a lazy way. Which ends up producing crap.
