Thread: Post/Delete to Bump will not be tolerated.

Factor8™ - August 18, 2014, 10:37 am

In reference to this thread .

Seems some of you take rules lightly or feel you'll not be caught.

I've just banned/Repfucked a couple of members and closed their threads in the Ebook Bazaar .

Rule: 5. If you post//delete it's an automatic rep fuck and week ban.

You've been warned. This BS stops now. Remember I'll be viewing thread notes of random threads in the entire Marketplace forum.

You're SOL if I catch you.

Hire - August 18, 2014, 10:39 am

That's a good rule, thanks for pointing it out again. You're doing a great job, keep it up!

redpenguin - August 18, 2014, 10:44 am

Finally, it was pretty annoying, good job.

Goodjob Factor8™. ?

Dumb dummies thinking they wouldn't be caught ?

Aceman - August 18, 2014, 10:50 am

Great job, glad to hear it's still something that's being monitored.

SIM-1550131 - August 18, 2014, 10:52 am

What if someone in that section posts something and they delete it, just because they don't want to say that anymore or something and not just to it? It says "automatic" so if I post a thread then say something and delete it a week later.. is that a "automatic" ban?

Talu - August 18, 2014, 10:54 am

It's a good thing that this rule is still being enforced.

CRT - August 18, 2014, 11:00 am

What about if a member is compiling a thread, which exceeds the character count and they require you to post and then delete that post, so they can use an extra post slot on said thread?

That's not a problem. The problem is that people delete their posts and then repost the same content to their thread to the top so more people can see it.

No because that's reserving a spot. That is not to your thread to the top.

When Factor8 said automatic he ment if he sees you there's no questions asked your banned and repfucked. If it was automated system you would see that happen to this people sooner. Not just now when he noticed.

It's a great thing to see this is being monitored since it gives an unfair advantage especially in the market place.

Obviously they would do it only once and Staff/Admins can see it in the thread notes. We don't ban for that.

Why just a delete would matter?

Try to understand the objective. The objective is to avoid B*mping which people do, to get more people attracted to their content for their own benefit.

And if everyone does that, it will be spammy/floody.

Anyway, just in my opinion it doesn't make sense to immediatly go into rep fuck mode all of a sudden when this rule hasn't been enforced for years. 50% warning level would subdue this matter, until people start to catch on and then proceed to rep fuck.

All in all, if this keeps the site clean, then I guess I'm okay with the rep fuck.

Probably because you weren't noticed until now. Normal members can't see post activity to report people, so it's up to the staff to comb through threads, which Factor8 is doing more aggressively now.

The reason for my post is that,

Punishments were hardly enforced to the point where I didnt even know it was bad anymore.

A staff member just comes out and rep fucks everyone who has done it (and misses people that I know have done it) and says it wont be tolerated.

I totally agree with the rep fucks, I just think they should've gave 2weeks of 50% warning to people if they did it, then proceed to rep fuck after people didn't quite catch the picture.

Because I know for a fact that I would have stopped if I received a warning (I didnt even think it was something bad until now.)

WTF is that? You follow Morons but fail to read Rules?

So you mean 2 wrongs make a right huh? Just because You got Repfucked and the others didn't gives you a right to be a crybaby?

You didn't read site rules. Your problem.

You want us to first warn/spoon feed you when you break rules so you can stop doing that huh?
How Lovely!

Read rules, respect rules. If you've a problem now, LMK right now so I can ban/close your account. Heck, I was probably nice to you by just doing a RF. You don't fuck around with rules. Nobody does. I sincerely apologize Factor8.

I didnt intend on making it seems like I was crying, I just spoke freely about how I (a repfuckee) felt about the casue.

after some time has passed here, I more and more believe in what you are doing. I'm sorry for the frequent posts, and thank you fo sticking up to us wizards.

I'm gonna code something into HF that will prevent this type of abuse. It's too rampant and I'm just going to be forced to take more drastic measures.

i'd be thinking about that, just make it so that posts fall back in rankings when the last post of the owner gets deleted.

but then again they could ask others to do that. I know nothing about coding but i'd rather leave it here than staying silent about it. you never know what's helpful.

Any timeframe for this to be complete? I mean this must be an extreme and severe issue if Factor8 put the thread up. PBD is getting kind of rampant around here on HF.

You shouldn't be doing it anyways. Don't have to be an extreme if you didn't do anything wrong, am I right?

sonex - August 24, 2014, 4:22 pm

How about not being able to delete last post unless it exceeds 24h timeframe? PDB doesnt count if your post is older than 24h, am I correct? It's as if you bu-mp it after 24h which is allowed. That seems simple and perhaps easy to do?(have no idea on coding though).

?OpDoritos - August 24, 2014, 11:01 pm

I don't get why people have to abuse the system.

Bumping after 24 hours seems good enough I don't understand why a thread would need it continuously.

If people are diligent about ing correctly I doubt they would get many more customers than they are already.

Edit: It keeps censoring a word so I hope anyone who reads this gets the point.

Then their account gets fucked royally. If F8 finds out that you asked for another member to PBD your thread, both accounts get fucked.

You can close/trash the thread if you want, it doesn't apply on threads.

People post on their own thread in marketplace and delete their last post so the thread will go back on top of the list, that's what we're talking about here.

Mahdy - August 25, 2014, 10:22 am

It's really funny though how many people actually do this. And, if they don't do this, they ask their friends to the post for them. I have done it TWICE & I got completely RF'd & banned. I've been here since 2010 and never have done anything wrong. Is a complete RF really needed? Like, I understand if it's more than one violation, but your first punishment is really kind of out there..

Keep in mind that a "rep fuck" was given for a reason; any complaining will result in a one month ban.

Thank you for this F8. Another think I really dislike is when certain users make a thread under the member contests sub forum and make the requirement to post in their sales thread to be entered in to the contest. They end up leaving things like, "legit product good loock with sales" or "looks very nice, vouch, glws" It ends up misleading other members browsing the E-Book Bazaar.

'Snorlax - August 26, 2014, 7:04 am
