

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: TrueCrypt - Dev's may have placed a "Secret Message"

Beast Boy - August 21, 2014, 5:03 pm

Quote: The message on TrueCrypt's new website got me thinking:
Using TrueCrypt is not secure as it may contain unfixed security issues

Let's isolate the first letter of each word:

(U)sing (T)rueCrypt (i)s (n)ot (s)ecure (a)s (i)t (m)ay ©ontain (u)nfixed (s)ecurity (i)ssues

Result?

utinsaimcusi

Let's spread that!

uti nsa im cu si

That is latin for

"If I wish to use the NSA"

Stay away from future Truecrypt releases. This is clearly a warning from the developers.

Link - <https://www.livebusinesschat.com/smf/index.php?topic=5629.0>

Aura - August 21, 2014, 5:22 pm

It's old news and it's been posted already here.

Beast Boy - August 21, 2014, 5:27 pm

(Aug 21, 2014 05:22 PM)Aur? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's old news and it's been posted already here.
My Bad,

Sorry @Aura. ?

It won't happen again.

Meow - August 22, 2014, 6:11 am

This might be posted before but this is 1st time I see this.
Thanks for warning! ?

Beast Boy - August 23, 2014, 10:09 am

(Aug 22, 2014 06:11 AM)Meow. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This might be posted before but this is 1st time I see this.

Thanks for warning! ?

No Problem @Meow. ?

I actually just found out about this a couple days ago myself.