Please, just give some time out of your day if you want to try and get motivated. There are tons like you, although we together can be better than those who're "popular."

How are you going to explain to all of hackforums all of the bully-esque pms you sent me earlier?

This thread is very strange coming from you. Nevertheless, at least it looks like you're making an effort on changing the way you think of others.

Great to hear that you've grown to be a better person.

It happens regularly as people who're the bullies tend to do bad in school and start to fail in life.

As long as you have that motivation, you'll easily make it through.

I simply stated that you're bothering other users so I decided to stand up against it.

Just because you're not "strong" enough or "muscular" enough to be the bully?

I really want to see your side on how it's a human's fault for being bullied when the other simply does not have respect.

I've never been bullied to that point as I was more of a handle it then and there and some people were scared of me, I was a skinny guy and not very strong at a young age. Although, I knew how to fight.

Sometimes you got to fight back. If you don't you let them get away with it. Think of the guy going

If you're getting emotionally bullied, you need to stop being a little bitch and knock the bully out. Knock them out? In most cases it's more than one person being the bully and they pick on the smaller, weaker ones because they know they can get away with it. It'd be hard to knock a whole group of jocks out by yourself when they're 10x stronger than you.

It all depends on the situation.

if you stand up for yourself, 9/10 times the bully will leave you alone it doesn't matter if you lose the fight or not bullying people is about control. control that the other person gives you.

standing up for yourself takes out that control. Unless you're a 5'2 75lb kid being bullied by a 6'4 300lb big ass nigga, if you fight back, the bully will leave you alone.

nobody ever bullied me because i never put myself in that situation.
a couple times when i was in 6-8th grade, people tried to because i didnt talk to many people and stayed with 15-20 people most of the time whom i would talk with.
when i wasn't with them, people would start fucking with me.
next time they did it, i told them to fuck off or actually try something.
nobody ever did.

I was 5'0 until my freshman year in high school then i hit puberty and grew 10 inches in 4 years.
you only get bullied if you let it happen and you refuse to stand up for yourself.

You shall study the pure meaning of vengeance, my friend. It's not about the thrill of it. Or even the satisfaction of oneself. There's a higher purpose there. In essence you're teaching an asshole (bully) to not be one. If you're successful, the purity of vengeance is righteous.

Yes, I understand what you're stating.

I'm simply stating that vengeance may be needed at times for a reasoning as to why one may be needing a lesson on how it feels.

That one you teach a lesson may grow to be a better man instead of how he is that one term that he bullies you.

WarOnDrugs - August 24, 2014, 5:01 am

Ah, good topic. All I have to say is.

The best way to but a cease to bullying is to give said bully a reaction they aren't expecting, and that reaction is retaliation and standing up for yourself. You see the bully is under the mind set that he/she controls you, so if you break them from their illusion of control and stand up for yourself, giving them a reason(s) you're to be left alone, they will leave you alone.

I understand people being bullied may not have the confidence to achieve such a thing, but I want you to think to yourself, would rather live life thinking "what if" or live life knowing you did? knowing you did stand up for yourself, knowing you are strong enough work through hard situations, knowing you can grab life by the reigns and ride it to the end.

Adam out.

you only get bullied if you let it happen and you refuse to stand up for yourself.

Some people are born weak, feeble physically. Some are born with diseases, disorders, lack or surplus of chromosomes. Don't talk about the totality of persons who get bullied for their nature if you never got bullied because you were able to put up with it and stand for yourself. Not everyone is like you.

You "stayed" with people, what about those who cannot blend in with others? Social rejects?

Stop talking out of ignorance

I was the prone to bulllys when I was younger. I have a terrible lisp, I was only about 5"3 until last few years of school where I shot up to about 6"1. However, I stood up formyself and therefore, nobody touched me. Infact, I made best friends with the kid who got bullied the most and made sure it stopped. He is still my best friend to this day. Saw this a long time ago, it's a pretty cool video. Cool guy as well. And let me explain something, we live in a world full of stereotypes, all of us are unique in some way, through our DNA. And to be honest with you . . bullying is also a stereotype. If people acted technically, we'd all be bullying each other. Because unique people are the ones being bullied. And yeah, stereotypes control today.. e.g: The fat person is this one, the thin one is this one, the nerd is this one. What people don't understand that we're all nerds in a way, e.g with cars or hacking or food or something else. So, yeah.. do not let another person define you. Stand up for yourself, I myself am 6'3" tall and about 170-180 pounds which equals to 90 KG in my country. If anyone dares to fuck with me or bully me of my weight, he's getting a punch back. I know what bullying can do to someone's personality, hell.. I've volunteered in a suicide hotline, I've heard some very weird shit.. don't let bullying get the best of you. I myself am a bullying victim but I won't let it get the best of me, you know? I hang out with a lot of 'emo' and 'scene' girls and boys and hell, I even am one of them. Just.. yeah. And if you're a bully, stop it. You don't know what that kid is now doing because of you, cutting, burning, not eating at all, pulling their hair out, punching themselves, taking pills, drugs.. (I've seen all of those happen). Fuck stereotypes, fuck what everyone says, you are unique, you are yourself, be yourself and decide for yourself, do what YOU want and stand out, even if people say you stand in a bad way, or a good way, that still goes accordingly to stereotypes, so I say.. fuck stereotypes, we all are ourselves.

I was in grade 4? How was I meant to know any better? I was raised to listen and do as I was told.

It's hard to stick up for yourself when you've tried it before and it's just gotten worse. Every bullying situation is different, so there isn't one method that works every time.

EDIT: I bet you were the bully throughout your school years. You don't know what it's like to be on the other end.

WarOnDrugs - August 24, 2014, 5:15 am

To understand bullying all you need to know is basic psychology of power. Bullies shroud themselves in a false sense of superiority making people see them as a figure of power. They're loud, abrasive and don't stop till they get what they want, but they go for easy targets, which makes the illusion stronger in the eye of bystanders. But when someone stands up to the bully, they for a moment break their illusion of superiority and power and people begin to see they're no different to themselves, eventually making standing up to a bully easier.

Every bully is different, how don't you understand that? Some bullies do it to get a reaction, which is made when you "stand up for yourself". It's just like trolls, they do it because it's funny when someone gets mad and sticks up for themselves, so they continue to do it.

Just because the school tells them to stop, it's not like they're going to. If you tell your parents, they're not going to fork out the money to get a decent lawyer to be able to win the court case. Some bullies are worse than others. Telling them to "do something about it" would probably 7/10 times get you beaten up. I'd love for you to go back in time and actually go through a proper bullying experience. Your view on this topic would be a whole lot different.

Nice share Grievous.

I was bullied years ago, and the reason I am no longer is simply because I stopped caring for what was being said. Nothing continued after that; unless physical (In this case you should fight back when necessary), they only damage you as much as you allow them to.

Just because you're not "strong" enough or "muscular" enough to be the bully?

We've all been in the position before, you cannot say you have not.

Go to gym > look after yourself, people with mental issues then yeah they can't really help it.

I have also been both sides and tbh i felt worse being the bully rather than being bullied, not sure if it was because they never got to me or it was me feeling bad about being a cunt.

Totally agree with you, on my first week in a new school in grade 3, a kid started mocking me and the next day you know I beated his ass. Since that day I started fighting everyone who would try to pick on me and usually bullies calm theirs asses when they see their friend getting beaten up.

To stop bullies, you just need to always stand up against them and not be afraid. If you feel they're stronger than you, build up your weight and muscle power.

If you're strong and not a coward, you'll never be bullied.

Everyone has been bullied somehow.. I was bullied in 8th grade by this one kid on the bus almost every day. I lived near base so I just stopped riding the bus.. use to hang out with him and his friends too just to stop the bullying and it stopped for a while. Before that and after that now (i'm in 12th grade) I've never been bullied again because I just thought "fuck everyone who hates" and that I will love myself and if others don't like me that's their problem. Right now I'm friends with almost everyone and I'm semi-well known. I don't like saying popular because i hate that word. We are just people.. I don't like labels. I've been in the DoDDEa school system for all of my life and I guess I should be grateful for that.. I haven't seen any bullying at our high-school for the 3 years I've been here and I should be grateful that I'm lucky that I'm not in the public school system. I watched this video twice because the first time I didn't pay attention much but the second I actually comprehended what he said.

Bullying sucks.. most people get bullied sometimes.. but it will end eventually.

Good luck to everyone struggling, you can make it too! ?

bullying is important to growth, it happens regardless of the agent. there isn't an 'escape' to bullying but rather a means to handle it and lessen the frequency, this goes outside of school as well.

Yeah, I agree with this.

If someone says you're gay every day for wearing skinny jeans, you just need to take those off and slap on a pair of ball shorts. Go out with those ball shorts and just start dunking all the bulliest at the court and nobody with give you any problems anymore.

Those types of bullies are dangerous psychopaths. That's why you start being aware of all your surroundings, no matter where you are. You think fast on your feet and adjust, adapt and improvise.

Yeah I'm being bullied even here, by a gang of asshats. Stemming from the fact I'm friends with someone who reported a scammer about a year ago. I avoided HF for the most part. Came to ask a simple question and this bully just jumped on my thread and started hurling aggressive bullshit at me.

I reported his posts. Admins removed his posts. Next thing I know, a loudmouthed bully who's into his own hype and badass image and thinks the world revolves around his asshole comes and attacks me. When I fought back against that bully, he whined to his minions and they ganged up and bullied me (in his name) because I fought back.

I was supposed to (according to a bully mindset and he's definitely a bully) be silent, not say a word, and definitely not have connections to a blog owner who exposes bullies, trolls, pedos, etc.

The lowlife cannot fight me in real life obviously so he uses the internet to act out his psycho illusion of "control". Because he has no control over me, he gets others to come after me.

But remember what I said about vengeance?

This asshole, this bully is so stupid (and bullies are disconnected from reality because they never consider consequences) but this one is so stupid because what he did was cross my path. He never thinks before spouting, or understanding why someone reported a scammer. He just jumps in because he's a bully and cannot, will not understand the why of something. His infantile response is "suck my dick" after he pops off his cunt mouth.

What he has done was cross the wrong person. Some nurture grudges. And will bide their time. I'm very patient. I won't be forgetting that asshole. That's a promise. And when shit starts happening for him, no matter where or when it is...by the time it does he'll not know from where, who or what it comes from. By then he'll have a long line of people he's pissed off and won't know who it is.

That's the thing about serial bullies. They go through life pissing off or victimizing so many people while maintaining those who bought into his tough act, and when the come uppance happens...bitch won't know where it's coming from.

Thus the ancient Chinese saying. Bide your time. People misunderstand the concept of "revenge is a dish best served cold" as an expression of serving a cold revenge. Something very cold and cruel. That's not the meaning at all.

The meaning of serving it cold, means to let the trail go cold. To let the bully/asshole/dick-seeking-sucking asswit to forget all about you. To let him focus on other targets or potential new victims. And by the time his come uppance comes, you won't be a factor.

Those Chinese, they have all kinds of codes, and heavens, and hells. Their wisdom is quite impressive and everything about their lore comes down to one root law of existence. To survive. Whether you're fit or not.
