Thread: Trigun Maximum anime?

Wouldn't it be awesome if they re-did Trigun but more close to the manga. Don't get me wrong I loved the original series, but i just feel like there was so much more to the manga. It worked so well with Full Metal Alchemist so I would love to see them do it again, but this time with the Humanoid Typhoon.

The problem with that would be thats how it is. Ofc the manga will be more detailed and generally better than the anime. If you check out my reviews you will see I gave Trigun a 10 though. I dont think Trigun was popular enough to get a 200+ episode series though. Shit happens. I think it would be a terrible idea though. The ending was really good and there is a large chance they fuck it up in comparison to the original series.

I don't mean as a continuation to the original series or a 200+ episode anime like dragonball. I just want them to remake the show with a story line closer to what it was originally supposed to be. Trigun Maximum wasn't long enough that it would end up with a lot of episodes, but it would probably be more than 26. They left a lot of things out of the anime that happened in the manga since the show caught up to it while it was still being written. In my opinion I just think it would be interesting to see Trigun rebooted closer to the original story. Of course I am very biased though since I consider Trigun to be my favorite anime.

Thats not it. Thats just really how it always is. The manga will always have more detail and go longer. The anime will always have things left out from the manga.

Well yeah. I know that is how it usually is, but i'm saying it would be nice if they took the FMA: Brotherhood route and went back to it.
