Yes, Dignity actually referred me to this site and I'm glad I did.

I wasn't to sure if I should post a thread about my site since I'm still kind off a smith so he was kind enough to do it for me instead :D

Been watching kill la kill 2 days in a row. A very good anime.

Btw guys there's a giveaway on masterani.me

Oh by the way OP, the notice box that comes when you watch an episode (sign-in reminder or a 'episode x successfully added to HB' etc) is very annoying when it pushes the videoplayer down when you're not in fullscreen.

Would prefer it to either be on top of everything as a GUI style thing so that it doesn't move the video player, or somewhere else.

I'll put it in a better place tomorrow, I kinda assumed everyone goes full screen mode!

Yes the only thing that separates my site from overtaking kissanime are the ads and stamping anime as my own and maybe a better looking design.

I like your site tbh I switch back and forth from using this and Kissanime because I like both.

Uhm.. I actually started out on this website with little to no knowledge about web development (HTML5 & PHP).

It did take me about 1.5-2 months to completely finish the website built on the laravel framework (I'm still in school) and then I improved the website little by little for the next 3 months and I'm still working on improvements right now (I' m redesigning the watch/anime pages).

Recently masterani.me has been increasing insanely fast on google ranking, it's right under kissanime when you google "anime hd" or "watch anime hd" which really helps a lot.

The only thing why right now people would chose kissanime over masterani is because they have more series available and better quality (1080p) but this is because they have a bigger team for uploading anime.

Design wise, try to incorporate just a little more of that orangish color from the line in the logo. I think if the site had a touch of that, the contrast would make it pop :)

I don't really like the logo myself but since I suck at designing stuff its better then nothing.

I don't know if adding red color would make any difference, since I have not used it at all in the website.

A nice QoL change would be to be able to press the enter button if there's only one option when you use the search bar.

There's only 1 search result, so it would be nice if I just pressed enter right now it takes me to that result.

As it is currently pressing enter refreshes the page i think.

I don't know how you've made the search function though, but a change like this should be rather simple, like a check for amount of search results when the user presses enter, and if it's 1 then go to the page of search result index 0 (or 1). Then again I don't do web development.

Anyway this would save me a second or two every time I'm going to the anime I'm gonna watch, would be great :D

Also I like the new design you posted above a lot.

Still on top for "anime hd", keep up the good work

Crunchyroll is amazing, don't get me wrong. I'd recommend MasterAnime over Crunchyroll mainly because of the fact that it is free with high quality streaming. You won't find many websites like that.

Though, I do see nothing wrong with giving a couple bucks back to the anime industry, but I would rather spend it on something else than a paid subscription ;)

Trying to watch Log Horizon in HD on your site but for some reason it keeps buffering and I never used to have this problem. I waited 5 minutes and tried watching again and it's buffering after about 2 minutes in. I figured maybe my connection has been temporarily cut, but I checked another site and I can stream in 1080p without any problems. So I don't know what's going on there.

I get that sometimes too...

I think it has to do with the servers Nex is using or hosting on. Idk.

And it's not my net either, because I have 100DL and 50UL

Which mirror and have you tried switching mirrors? I know some services had memory leaks in the past or caching issues.

Not sure about him, but I've tried both MP4Upload and Arkvid and they are both keep stopping. Was able to watch most of the episode I'm watching with Arkvid, but it just freezes every few seconds.

Never used it before so I guess not. Either way, I was able to finish it, but still did take me x2 as long to finish it.

Just watched arkvid without buffering once.

You could always open developer tools before you start the video and see how the download goes example.

If the download is slow it could just be your internet or to much traffic on the arkvid servers.

Lots of more new updates have come on.

Hopefully nex can make a app for the site :D

KyHax - January 31, 2015, 5:16 pm

Looks like an amazing website, I will check this out now. If I love it then I will be sure to use this as my new anime watching website, I am also currently working on my own anime watching website aswell. One of the main things that is helping me create the website is the Anime Downlaoder another user posted on here, which I forgot the name of. So props to him and GL with the site!

Perfect_Soul - February 1, 2015, 8:37 am what about the uncensored version of Tokyo Ghouls ?

Aura - November 8, 2015, 3:47 pm

What's the deal with Masterani.me? I use it now as my main website to watch Anime (I was using KissAnime before), but now sometimes I hit videos that just won't load. And the webpage is always, ALWAYS loading, even though I'm watching the video and/or it's fully buffered.

Duyere - November 8, 2015, 4:21 pm

Only thing that's arguably better on kissanime is their player/streaming speed, which masterani.me is still working on and will soon be released :) So make sure you keep up to date!

masteranime is a mix of php and js, for example this page <http://www.masterani.me/anime> is pretty much 90% js

A SEA country. It seems that the cloudflare prompt is no longer there, thanks a lot! It had been bugging me and wasting my time all these months. ?

FunnyHands - March 24, 2016, 7:08 am

Vouch.

Me and my friend have been using Masterani for almost 6 months now, and the site is always getting better.

Has direct link to HD and SD dub/sub players for all their anime, and I've had extremely good buffering speed with HD.

It also had a tracking system for all your anime built into the site, and it will give you notifications when new episodes of anime you watching comes out.

Will always user Masterani ?

Hunger - March 24, 2016, 7:53 am

Recently pushed pretty nice update:

- New weekly schedule layout.
- Info pages now look a lot cleaner.
- Option to rate anime.
- Option to favorite anime.

I'm also working hard behind the scenes on redesigning profiles, that will support following friends with a simple feed to see what they are watching.

I love the website :) Please focus on offering mp4up and moestream as main mirrors^^

Previously I wad with KissMafia but atm not that much anymore.. Your site is quite the good alternative to be fair :P

However sometimes kissanime still has better quality. Aaaand Kiss has way more series (especially old ones). I hope you will be working on adding them also. Good thing: You seem to add new series very fast!

Mp4upload and Stream.moe are our main mirrors already. But yeah we're still working on getting a lot of older series up.

Right now I'm mainly focusing on programming, because the next update is going to be pretty stacked with new features and upgrades.

Little update: Locally tested live search so searching feels a lot more responsive, it will also consider typos now. Hoping to get this out in 2 weeks to production. With a bunch of other new features.

Good job and I wish you good luck with this project. Yes, I'm the developer/owner, OP is a friend that was kind enough to post this thread to get some users back in the early days.

We're also slowly trying to become a sort of a myanimelist clone while at the same time keep providing links to streams.

Thanks, usually the users will just post on disqus if an anime they want to watch is missing/broken then our team of uploaders will add it.

Can you force the use of HTML5 over Flash from certain hosts? Having to switch manually every time is becoming irritating.

I agree with Aura, if you could default it to HTML5, or have a way to let users choose. That would be dope. Thanks for keeping the site up regardless!
