There's 100's of equivalent programs.

Nonetheless, thanks for the release.

You should at least add a Theme to make it look more professional.

Well the theme isn't the problem, it's more because it has been released hundred times ..

Maybe if he added a Theme or something that wasn't released already then it would probably be fine. He should be a little more creative, but it's fine.

Fancy themes don't make it look more professional. Adding a theme for something like this is totally unnecessary: it's about functionality.

Well it would bring more attention to everybody and adding a Theme isn't tough so why the hell not?
