Uriel - August 31, 2014, 9:09 pm

Arrow is kind of legit! I have no doubt that he wouldn't sell a product unless it was of extreme quality and actually worked like promised.

If you have any issues ever, he's a super cool guy that I've gotten to know in Enterprise and can certainly say if nothing else he's very friendly and a joy to speak to.

0x - August 31, 2014, 9:10 pm

Vouch for Arrow, another fabulous product on the market once again.

DB was whipped for obvious reason.

Mastery and EK gave away alot of free credits to some and I was afraid people would come to abuse it. The old project died, no credits will be given out.

iOS version doesn't matter because you're going to be using the website to do everything. You enter the information and it gives you a number to call, once you call and enter your pin your call should be connected. It's pretty simple Ofcourse you can use Skype or Google voice for this aswell ?

FAQs

Are there any extra costs?

No, You can use this completely free (exluding cost of the credits)!

Really? Just say it how it is.. This is what put me off the product. Just reminded me of how every big business promises you the world then sticks I knife in your back. If it wasn't for the credits I would definitely get it. Even for a heavy price. Anyway, Good luck with the sales

What the fuck are you even talking about?

You buy credits on the site and use those to make calls. There aren't any extra costs

How is that even hard to comprehend

What does SpoofHub have to offer?

Obfuscate your number.

They will have absolutely no clue who is calling! Choose from any number to call with, over or under 7 digits.

Multiple countries.

SpoofHub supports calling with over 100 countries!

Away from comp for a few days for spring break

Pm me if anyone has issues... I'll try to fix it... if not I'll fix it once I'm back

When are you going to implement SMS Spoofer?

Gustav. - April 3, 2015, 5:27 pm

Russel, message arrow right away dude.

We're looking into this currently as most of the sms spoofers don't work in all countries

We would rather make something that works in all countries than just take a free source and add it

Thanks for the update Arrow, hoping to hear more later.
