I have seen a lot that don't work, but there are some that do. I have read others that are really good and really bad. Make sure to really look into each seller before deciding to buy. I recommend using the safe trading guide to help decide. Not everyone is going to be honest who posts here.

there are great ideas but can be a hassle when starting up.. Goodluck though.. you can see the feedbacks from other members if you'd like to check.. note though that some only works if you're from usa..

You can check my signature. Many people said it's a great method. I'm not suggesting you to buy my eBook, I just said you should check it out :)

It's basically like gambling. Your chances of getting a good e-book is small and they're often not worth the price and generally publicly available or simple to find out if you search a bit. Most of them are oversaturated or generally don't work.

Don't believe for one second in those "you can get up to $1000 per day", it says up to and it's often $0.

Overall it's not really worth it, I wouldn't recommend buying an e-book.
