After looking through the search option on the forum i have not been able to find very much on using your ipad for hacking purposes.

Once jail broken is there any cool things you can do or is there a reason why there are so few threads

Sadly, there is no monitor mode for ios devices, also iptables and the ios kernal don't play well together. Still, there are many tools that work, such as BEeF, SET, Metasploit(outdated). Have fun!

Python can be installed onto a jailbroken IOS device. Some of the functionality does not work, but it can still be used fairly well all things considered.
