Thread: [Naruto: Creation of Akatsuki\[Video\]](#)

Duyere - September 4, 2014, 11:43 pm

Hello, my fellow Narufags.

I figured I'd make a new thread to annoy the Otakus in this section and share this new but leaked video special upon the soon to be released Naruto game:

Naruto Shippuden: Ultimate Ninja Storm Revolution.

Since only a select amount of people who watch Naruto play the games, I figured I'd share this for the fans who do not play the games.

The creator of Naruto worked with CC2 to not only produce this game, but also make this exclusive video special that will show the origins of the Akatsuki.

Here's the video:

Hope you guys enjoy! :)

Edit: I know the game battle scenes can be annoying

Did this game come out after UNS3? (Ultimate Ninja Storm 3)

I actually enjoyed watching this, I might get this game.

I enjoyed watching this.

Feel like watching naruto again from scratch.

Makes me want to as well but I'd rather not re-watch 376 episodes like I did with Bleach.

Yup!

The game is supposed to be officially released within a week, or so; However, lots of people have their hands on the PC version of the game which has already been leaked.

Glad to see you guys enjoyed the video though ^^

I don't know about this, it seems better than the previous naruto games but still you played one you've basically played them all.. I admit I played the last one a bit and then got bored with the same template they use with all of the games.

They really should stop beating around the bush though and create an mmorpg, they've got enough factions to create a world pvp environment, basis for any mission they think up to level you up, and raid bosses leading up to 10 tails eventually and maybe even beyond that if they put there heads together for something crazier, and they're at the peak fan base. but they still fuck around with recycling fighter games that feel so similar. I don't know that's just my opinion, and my hopes of them making something different someday.

They have done an outstanding job making the Ninja Storm series not like your standard fighting game. I do agree that more could be done content wise, but that's not CyberConnect2's way of designing Naruto games.

Video is private? Is it working for anyone else?

The person who uploaded the video seemed to have set it to private. I would update my post but I am unable to edit it now.

Here's a dubbed version of the same video, excluding the actual game battle scenes:
