Before I start this review I'd like to say some words. Cancer isn't a joke, it's a serious problem. If you'd like to donate to cancer research please use this link: Cancer research This shall be my first ever movie review, please bear with me while I find the best lay out for my liking. Ratings:
imdb.com gave this movie a 8.2/10.

Rottentomatoes gave this movie a 6.8/10.

Actors:

Shailene Woodley as Hazel Grace Lancaster (Main character)

Ansel Elgort as Augustus Waters (Main character)

Nat Wolff as Isaac (Main character)

Laura Dern as her mother.

Sam Trammell as her dad.

Willem Dafoe as Van Houten (Main character)

Genres:

Romance

Drama

Plot:

Hazel and Gus are two teenagers who share an acerbic wit, a disdain for the conventional, and a love that sweeps them on a journey. Their relationship is all the more miraculous given that Hazel's other constant companion is an oxygen tank, Gus jokes about his prosthetic leg, and they met and fell in love at a cancer support group. imdb.com

My Review:

Where do I start, ugh. I've only ever watched two movies that made me tear up, Watership down and this one.

Gus plays an amazing role in this movie, he'll make you laugh, he'll make you sad. His love for Hazel is the cutest and so romantic.

Hazel, she also plays an amazing role in this movie. Maybe her best work yet. Hazel was born with cancer, her parents thought she was going to pass away when she was young because of it. but she fought the cancer, beating her odds, and lived. But the after affect left her with an oxygen tank she has to have at all times, to help her breathe, because her lungs arent strong enough on their own. (Read spoiler)
