Thread: Trouble At School

nerdtopia - September 8, 2014, 11:38 am

So Today at lunch, I decided to go to the library at my school to use the computers and browse Hackfourms, While I was browsing Hackfourms, it got me thinking that I could infect the school network with my botnet and I would only need to get one computer because all the computers in the entire COUNTY share the same connection(I know this because last year I tried ddosing the school and the IT people were saying the entire county's network was lagging), well anyways I usually keep my stub on my flash drive(never know when your going to get to spread) and so I put my flash drive in and I clicked the stub and I assumed it had worked then I went back to browsing Hackfourms, a few periods later I get called down to the office and they say some form of Malware was put on the computer under my account and I just pretended to be dumb and not know what a virus was and shit like that, so they had me right a statement of what I did while I was in the library and then I went back to class.

What do you guys think will happen, I played pretty dumb and acted like I didn't know shit about computers. The administrator said that the IT guys were gonna check the cameras but to my knowledge there are none in the library lol. I wonder if my computer session was recorded that's the only thing that could really prove me guilty.

Congrats OP you are now a 1337 h4ck3r stay safe

S!Nz - September 8, 2014, 11:54 am

Why would you DDoS your schools connection? Retard.

R?DSPY - September 8, 2014, 12:27 pm

At the point where you said you were going to add the school to your botnet, I already knew you were going to be in trouble.

Shame shame.

When are these retarded threads going to stop cropping up?

IHawk - September 8, 2014, 1:54 pm

why waist your time on ddosing the school there's just no point

???Michael - September 8, 2014, 1:57 pm

Lol, I DDoS my school before. I only did it one day when we were in the computer lab cause I was to lazy to do the work.

Well at least he went to the library, he'd know the difference between "waste" and "waist".

The least they will do to you is take some brownie points off your fine bro.

PAFE - September 8, 2014, 2:02 pm

I'm sorry but why on earth are you still in school?

A decent l33t h4x0r knows decent english..

Agahni - September 8, 2014, 2:05 pm

Well dude. If there's a recording of the screen then you're donzo's. But if there's none then they have no proof that you did anything. Good Luck bud :p

Rain14 - September 8, 2014, 2:06 pm

why would you use your own account to upload it? Rookie mistake man. Also just because you don't SEE a camera doesn't mean there isn't one there

Filthy Frank - September 8, 2014, 2:10 pm

I also DDoSed my previous school for zeh Lulz.

it was just for 5 minutes and it only lagged.

Am I a badass already?

#thoughguy

Why would you install malware trough your own account?

Couldn't you find a pc that's already logged into that someone forgot to log out of?

Anyways, you'll be in big trouble if they can prove you did it.

Kouichi - September 8, 2014, 2:11 pm

Well OP, you're probably going to get caught, good luck lmao. Most schools have cameras in their library, whether they're hidden or not.

You must be 11 if you're that retarded. ???
