I'm guessing this is just satisfying the ongoing dislike for Naruto in the elitist anime watching community. Or am I missing something?

I can't seem to find Naruto any interesting at all, especially considering I've got this image in my head that it's just extremely milked out already due to the amount of episodes.

Although it's true I won't find out until I try it. I don't think I will though.

Naruto is love Naruto is life

Not srs.

I rated shippuden an 8 for the sakes of making me watch 300 episodes, other than that it's shit

TIL: You have to be an elitist to hate Naruto. I'm guessing your one of those people who likes anime with a lot of filler episodes and dragged/milked storylines.

The Circa Survive thing started it but this comment proves it; by far my favorite member of this community.

Nice, that's definitely a plus.

I wouldn't say I like those in particular, but I'm definitely not jaded about enjoying things that are enjoyable.

That video gave me a laugh.

Even if this is fan-made, I miss Gintama =\
