Thread: Youtube award being blocked by Adblock

Anyone else having this issue or is it just me? I don't have any special filters added so it may be getting blocked by default.

I've never had a problem with adblock blocking awards.

Found out it's coming from "Fanboy's Social Blocking List" in adblock.

Works fine for me. Check your AdBlock settings, clear cache and so on.

AdBlock has blocked the YouTube award for me for quite some time. It's blocked because it's the same symbol as most social media advertisements on websites which is often filtered by AdBlock. Either live with it or remove it from the blacklist.

There are multiple versions of AdBlock out there and some have different filtering. I personally use AdBlock Plus which has the option to disable social media buttons on websites. The YouTube award is seen as a YouTube button hence why it is filtered on this version.
