Thread: Compiling Omnicoin \(Need more help\)

spidum - September 11, 2014, 12:16 pm

Hey guys I am trying to build a dice site for Omnicoin but am having trouble finding any information at all on compiling omnicoin.

If anyone wants to point me in the right direction I would very much appreciate it.

EDIT

I have followed the instructions on compiling OmniCoin exactly but am having errors when it comes to actually compiling it. There is a missing file/directory.

Here is a screenshot.

It will be tough for your gambling site to take off as there is no discussion aloud on it on HF i believe

That is not what I was asking. Does anyone have anything useful to contribute?

Check out the Wiki, it has step by step instructions:

What OS are you compiling on?

The instructions are for Debian. If you installed on something else it may be possible that not all packages installed (I know the SSL packages have issues on other systems due to copyright)

If you aren't on Debian, I'd recommend running it on it. If you need a webserver on the same machine just install LAMP (It's not hard at all).

I shall try on Deb. Was using Ubuntu assuming compatibility but I guess I was wrong.

Compiling Omnicoin works perfectly on Ubuntu 12.04LTS.
