One thing I am new too and haven't made any money yet is using facebook, never been a fan of cpa/ppd/ppi etc.. or affiliate marketing but I am hoping to get involved in it. Any advice or links to the best sites to use would be helpful.

CPAGrip is the best site, if you have any facebook pages with good niche you can earn a lot from them.

Best thing to start working with Online Advertising and affiliate marketing is to start working on something that you already have passion for.

For example if you enjoy fishing and you are a fishing fan. Than you can start your own website about fishing equipment and use Ebay or Amazon Affiliate program to offer fishing equipment for sale.. Or you can maybe write reviews about all kinds of different fishes on a blog and apply for Adsense and generate traffic to your blog to earn commissions.

You have plenty of options when it comes to Online Advertising and making money, you just need to find the right thing that you will enjoy working. If you decide to go in any direction and you need help feel free to post here and we`ll help you anyway we can.

Cheers

Which is the best ppd website currently?

And also what methods should a beginner employ to get hands on some cash?

Could you also give me an estimate of earnings as a beginner?

Anything is possible if you put your mind to it and hard work !

Have you heard about blogger ? You can start your own blog and write posts all day long and connect your blog with adsense and advertise it on social networks etc.. so you`ll get visitors and earn from clicks on the ads.

You can also join CPA networks. There are plenty of methods to promote CPA offers without investing anything. You can promote an CPA offer or product by posting your affiliate link on blogs or websites , social networks, forums etc.. (if you need help in joining a CPA Network feel free to PM me i`ll help you out).

After you make some money you can invest in building your own website or webshop and start expanding your online venture from there.

Hope this helps. Cheers

They dosent have to be fake (but almost 95% of them are fake) . They are maybe simple methods that are available in the public with possibly some twists and that say the same thing that i said to you before. Work hard, do not give up and have patience and you will eventually start to earn good from your online activities.

1st question : There are plenty of PPD Networks like : AdWorkmedia , AdscendMedia , Filelce etc..

(Filelce uses Adworkmedia offers).

2. Read the previous reply. Hard work will bring you good results. And reading, google is your friend, you can find anything on google as long as you search for it correctly.

3. I have seen people starting in IM and making a lot of money daily. But if you are new and unfamiliar with IM than you should not expect much at the beginning. Maybe a couple of bucks a day depending on what you are working on. But your primary goal should be to expand in time and increase your earnings.

Do you also earn money online? And if yes how? I'm noob and sorry for lot of stupid questions :(

Yes i earn money online doing various things. Just to show you an example i`ll tell you a story..

When i first started i used a CPA offer directly from an advertiser. It was a PPL offer (PayPerLead- a website was paying 1$ for every new sing up that i can bring them). It was an Adult Virtual World - Basically a game for adults. So i just started promoting that website by going on chat rooms convincing people to join in, i was posting on forums about how great the game was and how interesting is to play and i inserted my affiliate link in my posts. At first i didnt even looked at my stats for a month or so, i just concentrated on promoting the website and putting my affiliate link everywhere i can. After 1 month i check my account balance and there it was over 300+ people joined the game making me 300$ in profits from nothing.

Than i was contacted by the affiliate manager of the game and was offered to be transferred to a 60% RevShare program instead of PPL. Revshare - Revenue Share is a program that pays you for every users that buys an upgrade in the game or a VIP pass. The good thing with revshare is that you get commissions everytime a users pays again for their upgrade every month.

So next month without doing anything i got 500+ people signing up for the game from my affiliate links. People joined up from the links i left the previous month when i was promoting the website.. Almost 100 of them purchased VIP passes that at that time and 1 vip purchase brought me around 15$ or so. So i made around 1500$ Profits and every month after that the people that renewed their VIP upgrades brought me money also.

So its just like i said if you work hard your efforts will one day pay off. This is just an example that i used to show you that everything is possible if you put your mind into it. The Virtual Game was pretty hot back than when i was promoting it, it was a new experience and converted very well, so you have to find the thing that you think it will convert the best and makes you money.

Do not hesitate to ask us anything, in the end we're here offering help, so you have every right to ask as many questions as you want, even PM some of us(not all though) for private assistance.

You can earn money online doing many different things, it all depends on what suits you as a person the best. Someone likes selling products they are mostly familiar with, for instance if you're a fitness guy, I'm pretty sure you'd know what's the best fitness guides out there or supplements, most of them offer affiliate programs, or you can just hop on to Clickbank and find a product you know the most about. Commission can get up to 100$ if not more, through various sales funnels so that's an awesome way to earn, I myself do that. Actually I used to sell an eBook about Affiliate Marketing on HF, sales thread is closed now and if you want I can hand you a copy for free, should get you started. And it involves small investment for traffic ofcourse, you can do it the other way around but I hate doing things like making videos etc, it's time consuming and while I'm trying to make it good I can put up 2 more products on sale so I prefer outsourcing. Also most Clickbank products come with ready keywords, articles you can use and such, so it's basically as easy as 1, 2, 3.

Then you can go for CPA, fairly easy to do, AdWork Media is your starting point for sure, Dennis will help you out and also they offer a lot of guides too, so you should seriously consider it. It basically goes like this : You pick a trending niche, could be anything from some fake generator to real stuff like xbox live codes, there's 2 ways to do it, if you're gonna do fake stuff, always be ready to get banned, while it doesn't happen often it can, or if you do it legally, so in exchange of completing a survey you give them something in return, they'll do it all over again. You need to set up a nice TLD domain as well (You can PM me for some coupon codes on namecheap, can get you a .com domain fairly cheap) and you can either use free or paid hosting, won't make a difference if you're just starting out. You also need a video, preferably voiceover as well to make them "trust" you and obviously provide a proof of it working (redeeming PSN, xbox codes etc). You can rip off video yes, but only to a point, not the whole one and remember to set copyright as well. Then you need some High Retention views, you can purchase packs of 10k for only 9,99$ (can link you to some if you want though). You also need a fan page on facebook to build a list of interested people to whom you can offer various stuff based on the niche you're in.

That's two commonly used methods which are proven to work, if you need anymore help, don't hesitate to PM me, in the end I can at least point you to right informations from which you'll learn.

Thanks!

PM me I'll list you to some. What High Retention means basically is not botted view that lasts 45> seconds. Thats why YouTube ranks your video, their system sees it as High Quality one.

Not sure if this is the right thread to ask. It's not monetizing related, but I want to promote my site.

I have a new forum that's anime related and I'm new to advertising and SEO.

What's the best way to get traffic and members to join? I asked some friends and only three joined.

I have a budget of $100 to spend on advertising & services, but I don't really know where to start.

Have you tried advertising on HF? Most new forums gets sticky in Lounge or you can ask Omni if you could sticky a thread in Anime section, that would be your best bet.

Also spending too much money on advertising a forum that has little to no members is a blind street, if anyone even sees it, without members barely anyone will join. I'd stick with HF and other forums, in the end you need "forum" people, you cant just purchase clicks and expect members. Oh and, you can create a sort of giveaway for people that post a lot in Anime section and let them wear your signature, offer like 2x5$ and get 20 to wear it, should give you a suffice amount of members to fire things up.

I have a budget of $100 to spend on advertising & services, but I don't really know where to start. If its a new forum than doing SEO with a 100$ budget wont be enough. Your best way for promotion is to advertise the forum by posting links to it on other forums like sonex said, blogs, anime websites etc. You can try Media Buying with 100$..Create a decent banner and buy 1 week or 1 month spot on other anime related websites so you can get traffic rolling in to your forum.

Keep in mind that you need to have original and good content and threads on your forum in order to get your visitors to sing up. So i recommend you devote some time in filling your forum with good content and posts first.

Adding admins and moderators helps a lot since you can make them post threads and reply`s everyday to keep the forum fresh with content.

If you need any further assistance dont hesitate to ask. Cheers

Hi there.

So, I've made a bit of money online in the past year (About $450) but I did it by working jobs as support agents, doing small tasks for people and selling a few things. I want to start making more money online in order to support my university fund as there are only a few more years until I start university. This may seem like an extremely broad question, but where do you suggest I start in order to make some money?

I am ready to work hard but I have no idea where to begin with all of the monetizing world.

I am ready to work hard but I have no idea where to begin with all of the monetizing world. You seem to know how to work with people, I assumed it when you said you used to work as support agent, unless its much time consuming I suggest you to keep doing whatever you done last year in that field(if it brings enough money though).

Regarding a starting point, I mainly suggest people to go for CPA, it takes small amount of time(most stuff can be outsourced) and its quite simple to fire it up. Sign up to AdWork Media for a start, they are one of the best CPA companies around these days, they have plenty of resources for starters as well! Your next step is picking a niche, you can either go for single-offer advertising(email, zip submits) or content locker, its where you lock a certain "thing" for people to complete surveys in order to download it (can be anything from codes to generators).

After you decided which one you feel is trending right now, you need a nice looking TLD domain, preferably .com but any is fine. You can use free hosting for a start as well. Next thing is to decide on payed (PPV, PPC) advertising or free(YouTube and other social platforms). Most people go for YouTube + investment, you're gonna need a proof with voice over for your niche, if its xbox codes, then it should be you redeeming a code, I believe you know how to duplicate it. Once you're done, you need to spend couple of bucks on High Retention views as well to fire your video up, not to mention to add correct and relevant keywords.

Also you can make a Facebook fan page as well. This is briefly, lemme know via PM if you have more questions.

You can make up to thousands a day, however I'm not a fan of doing so. You have high risk of getting chargebacks, you need to use fake PayPals and whatnot, you could legitimately make 200$ in couple of days instead of pretending to be a girl and selling packs/video. Just my 2 cents.

You do know the difference between those two? PPD basically works through CPA, it goes like this.

Advertiser>CPA Network>PPD Network>You.

If using CPA network you're obviously earnings more since it's Advertiser>CAP Network>You. And nowadays all CPA networks have customized content lockers so there's no need for PPD networks at all. Use AdWork Media and you'll be set to go!

Do you have a starting budget ? Do you have an established websites etc ? have you ever worked in the Adult marketing niche ?

If you have a budget you can go ahead and try out Adult PPV traffic and media buying to get traffic to your website and then optimize as much as you can so you can get good profits. You have a full guide here.

If you don't have a budget then I recommend starting with promoting CPA offers on chat sites and adult forums. Only thing you will need is URL shorteners so you can shrink your affiliate links. After that you can build your own adult website and get traffic there then sell ad spots or add banners of CPA offers there so you can monetize your website. Building an Adult Website is easy these days you have WordPress plugins that draw videos from famous adult video sites and post them on your website. You even have ready templates for it, just search around, Google is your friend.

Hope this helps, Cheers

Not sure even with ads you'll be able to make barely anything, 30 people is just way too low to have any good conversions on any site. You might want to expand that first and then put some banners.

It's a waste to use it on adf.ly, on the other hand 220 isn't much either. However you could complete surveys or purchase those survey locker (indeed this is what hurts CPA networks the most) but it's not like you have many so you'll be fine. You could sell views etc if you had more, it's fairly low amount though.

You can try out LeadImpact, i dont know how much experience you have with PPV networks and how much success will bring PPV for the tech support niche but you have to get good specific targeting and zero in on your audience in order to convert some customers since ppv traffic are not so tech savvy people for that kind of niche in my opinion.

Why dont you try sing up as an advertiser on some of the CPA networks and add PPL or PPS offer for your Tech niche and pay a certain amount for every customer a publisher will send to you. I think the % of sucess would be much better that way and you wont have to burn up your budget on testing different ppv campaigns.

Hope this helps. Cheers ?

Well as you said there are plenty of websites that offer money for completing surveys. I personally have not used none of them so i can not recommend a special one. But you can try them all out and see which one gives you the most money. Mostly the top results on google are decent legit websites.

Its called PPV - PayPerView.. You have plenty of websites where you can join in as Publisher and just add codes to your websites that will show ads automatically. Search for ppv networks but i have to warn you not to expect a lot of money from those sites. If you have traffic i would recommend monetizing it with some CPA offers instead.

Hope this helps, cheers.

Blogspot is used mostly for churn and burn sites, but if you plan to develop it as a regular blog that is updated constantly than you can use a seo service, if you like you can check out my signature since we are offering a seo service.

But if you plan to develop a blog for affiliates or a churn and burn blog than you just need to build as much links as possible in a short period of time combined with good on page seo in order to see short term rankings just enough to make bank.

If you need more information feel free to pm me. Cheers

CPA is basically a no-brainer and anyone can start it, however you should start with YouTube, most of us did, it's quick and investment-free. With no experience you cant go around and purchase ads when you clearly dont know what you're doing, YT advertising can teach you basics.

Also you cant jump around from a method to method, I have an Affiliate Marketing eBook I used to sell located here - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4452882>

It's free now though and if it grabs your attention let me know via PM and I'll send you a link and offer you some support in case you need it.

What did you just say lol? How can crypto currency make you money fast lol? If you're talking about BTC/LTC or anything alike, market isnt stable and shouldnt be considered as a safe way to invest in, especially not if you think you can turn 100$ into 400$ "fast", that's absolutely impossible.

Did you come up with that idea or someone else suggested it?

Well all depends how fast do you need to make money :) If you need it pretty fast than there is only 1 way to do it ! Go to a casino, open roulette and put 100$ on red.. Repeat this step until you get 400$.

On a more serious note 100$ are not a big amount for investing for fast return. On the bast hand you can get a domain in specific niche build a website and try to promote it as much as you can to make money with that kind of budget.

About crypto currency you also need to hold/wait until market value is increased to make profit so it is also not a fast method.

Friend suggested crypto currency, as I said I have never been interested in monetizing anything, no h8 pl0x ?. Suppose me thinking I can do that fast is a bit gulible on my part. Shame, seems I have missed all the hype around crypto currencies.

You can make even more though, what you need is account on CPA network(AdWork Media), you need YouTube video with the proof of your niche as well as voiceover on it, a domain and some HR views on your YT video to kick it off.

Somewhat wrong, in my opinion. Crypto-currency probably isn't your forte so I avoid speaking like that, calling it suicide and what not. There are a ton of ways to make money with crypto-currencies - IPOs, Day Trading, Mining, etc. I have personally made hundreds within a single day by purchasing a small amount of coins ($1xx) from an IPO and dumping when it was pumped, it's just a matter of knowing when to sell and when to buy. Of course, if you know absolutely nothing about crypto-currencies, please read up before investing!

Actually if you spent money on eBooks, why dont you put some effort in it? I'm yet to see a non-working method, only lazy people who think if they purchase something they'll instantly make money based on informations inside. High retention views are pretty essential to earning with CPA; your goal is to get unique views, and targeted views.

The more niche specific your views are to your offers, the higher your conversion rate should be.

Mass quantity of views can mean mass profits, but you'll have better luck with higher retention views that are targeted toward your niche.

HR views are High Retention ones, meaning it's the actual audience or people who will spend 45+ seconds watching it, thus your video will rank and gather more leads. More leads = more money. It's as if you bot your video with LQ views, if you do so you'll actually be de-ranked, with HR views your video ranks up on certain keywords you picked.

See it as as a lake... The traffic is the fishes, to get any fishes up you will need fish in the lake right? but even if you have thousands of fishes in there you'll still need a good bait (Niche) to get them up.. Traffic is really the hard part to CPA, however if you don't know how to deal with it it's useless.

So the answer to your question is B) I guess..

Best of luck with CPA.

It doesnt have to be fake or shit to promote CPA (i think you are referring to PPD).. There are plenty of money to be made from CPA from regular offers and some knowledge of your targeted audience.. You can make money of CPA anytime of the day if you know how to advertise it right.

There are quite a lot reasons for video to get removed, instead of me saying which ones are they you can PM me before uploading a new one to tell you how to prevent it from happening again. Also saturated niches still work wonders, as long as it's saturated it means there's a big market for it, a HQ voiceover video should suffice as well as some HR views to rank your video.

Actually it works with basically any locker out there that supports custom widgets. For instance I personally use AdWork Media.

Replied to your PM mate.

And for others beginners, I strongly suggest AdWork Media, they have plenty of resources as well.

where do buy/get adsense safe traffic

DDos - October 6, 2014, 7:35 pm

There are some providers on BHW that claim to sell "adsense safe" traffic. But always read reviews and never trust suppliers.

Your best bet for adsense traffic is social traffic providers. Social traffic is much more safer than any other since it comes from social networks and is in regulation with adsense policy.

Hope this helps. Cheers

This.

Buying traffic for AdSense is risky most of the time. I'm not saying there aren't legit people but usually if I tell you to buy from someone I bought from and it turns to shit meaning your account gets banned, you'll blame me so as DDos suggested you, get social traffic.

I would like to ask how to get approved to a CPA adsense. My niche is a really personal thing however I'm pretty sure it will be viewed a lot.

And I downloaded a niche how do I put this into the blogspot? Thanks

Next question is there is any atleast a 5$ earning per hour or per action that is really working? Since paid to click is a little bit slow and coinminer is not so ok to use do you have any other method?
Thanks.

There is no such thing as CPA AdSense? Not sure what you're asking, you can either get paid based on clicks or action like completing leads etc.

You don't "download" a niche though, niche is a market, what did you download, a script or?

You can try GPT sites though, like naturebucks, points2cash and a ton more to make yourself 5$ a day.

Everything works, all depends whether you want to do it or not, and if you put enough effort in it. You can't jump around or expect to make money just because you read something .. You need to actually start doing it.

Well you actually need to make something though, it has to look like something lol. You dont need skills to use already available for free HTML scripts and just editing couple of things, but to make a nice looking website you do, or purchase already premade template.

When you create a blogger, it's all about content and keywords, so unless you had keywords in your articles that's why you had no views.

The more niche is saturated the better it works, why? Simple demand-supply stuff, like saying McDonalds is saturated or anything of that sort. To stand out you just need better promotion methods, nowadays even payed traffic. Social networks works the best in this case if you want to stick to CPA.

would you say its better to use blogger or a free domain w/ free hosting?

If it's promoted well yes, otherwise no. If I had to pick between shitty .tk domain and such or blogger, I'd go for blog.

To short links to your content locker or? Just using shorten links for cents is pretty stupid idea, also if you're shortening CPA, even more stupid, rather make a second page on blog and redirect it there.

No, I'm talking about the page as whole, posts, about me section etc. It all has to have keywords within it, like "Hello we offer free riot points, lately in league of legends you can purchase skins for your champion" blabla bla, see what I did there? It has "free riot points", "league of legends" "champions" "skins". It takes time and you're better off paying on fiverr for an article.

It is normal to not get any traffic at all on your first day, or even your first month, especialy if you are using an already saturated niche.

If the niche is saturated that means there are tons of people out there aiming to get traffic for the exact same keywords as you, so you need to outsmart and outrank them all in order to receive traffic.

That is the biggest problem when using high competitive niches, i suggest you start promoting your website in order to get traffic. Make youtube videos , leave comments and recommendations to your website on other peoples blogs that are niche related, try to learn about basic SEO and implement some on your website etc..

And about the PM, its better if you post your questions here so everyone can help out. Everybody have different experience and can contribute on different way to your problem so you will have more solutions.

Hope this helps.

It's possible yes, but even then it's pointless, it's mostly traffic coming from bots, not even from real IP's so it's pretty much useless.

Your best bet is to purchase real traffic from various sources around the internet, even on Hackforums you can buy traffic. But make sure not to abuse that traffic, and by abuse you can't only bring paid traffic to ad networks, they can easily find out about it. When you do AdSense or anything alike you gotta realize they know every step you make, yes people can get away with it but even then you need real traffic + paid safe traffic to lower your CR.

Pretty much common sense buddy, dont you feel the same? Would you rather like to know about the product you want to "purchase" or if they just slam it in front of you? Surely Wordpress article would work way better than single survey link, you should as well link them straight from the video to a certain page on your website.

Hey, manual SEO takes time, if you want someone else to do it for you one of our group members are offering SEO service as well a lot cheaper than usual. On the other hand, there is no really anything genius about social networks, you have to optimize your fan page to match the keywords you use on your website, and simply start promoting it. Your best bet would be payed traffic as well, preferably Facebook Ads since you can basically target everything you want, it does cost money but you have to start somehow if you want to see any earnings quick enough.

Hello well currently starting a new website about having a nice cool link shortner.

Features:

- *Geotargeting If you have different pages for different countries then it is possible to redirect users to that page using the same URL

- *Powerful Dashboard: Our dashboard lets you control everything. Manage your URLs, create bundles, manage your splash pages and your settings, all from the same dashboard.

- *Add a password to the url.

- *Realtime tracking system.

- *Bookmarklet.

- *Google/Facebook/Twitter - signing up - connecting.

- * The ability to show and hide your profile.

- *Custom Alias: If you need a custom alias, you can enter it below.

- *Description: This can be used to identify URLs on your account.

Pro members get additional stuff.

- *Our own chrome extension.[Firefox coming soon]

- *API code for many uses like if you have a wordpress we can offer a free plugin that turn all the links on the website into our short custom url that would work best with the splash pages.

- *Removal of ads.

- *Bundle your links for easy access and share them with the public on your public profile.

- *5 Splash pages A custom splash page is a transitional page where you can add a banner and an avatar along with a message to represent your brand or company. You can have up to a maximum of 5 splash pages and you can choose one for each URL. [It works like adf.ly pages]

First what do you think ? (Suggestions are welcomed)

Second what kind of ads system do you think i should go with ?

Notice: I did not go public yet!

Thanks a lot in advance for your kind reply!

Would you be offended if I told you it's not worth the time? I mean dont get me wrong though but how many URL shorteners are there? You could become an elder before you rank even remotely to keywords URL shorteners use. You could spend money on advertising or on forums but still, doubt you'd make much from it though. Also I dont really see any new feature? Also thing is there isnt anything new in URL shorteners... You could add AdSense to it, that's your best bet that's what all use I assume (dont have much expertise in URL shorteners either to be honest).

No need to thank me I'm just expressing it from my point of view, also you can always prove me wrong by making it successfull it's just I personally dont like getting into things that involves going against Google and bit.ly [WARNING: potentially infected] for instance not to mention tons of others, seems impossible to rank with all efforts and knowledge I have for instance, doesnt seem like right thing to spend time on. Sorry once again if you felt offended I might have been rude a little!

There are a few legit e-Books on this forum, but I wouldn't depend on them by risking your money which can get lost. What you could do is looking into CPA and start invest your money there. Or you could always start a social media service and start reselling this service. It's hard to tell you what to exactly do with it because we don't know your skillset yet.

On the other hand, start CPA again, its still quite simple.

SEnukeXCr is a good tool also for creating a lot of backlinks in a short period of time, GSA is better in the way that it has more options and more platforms to post links on. SO if you are going to do the churn and burn method in saturated niches than i recommend you use GSA and just add already made lists to create backlinks to.

If you want GSA lists just PM me i have 1 million website list already approved that i will share with you for faster link building.

If you want to make a serious investment that would have a longterm ROI than i wouldnt go down the CPA route. CPA can be ups and downs, you can spend a lot of money promoting a niche which can become unpopular or unprofitable in matter of days and all your invested money will go to waste.

If you have up to 5 figures to invest why not start your own business ?

You have plenty of options to choose from, depending on what you are knowledgeable about. From hosting to vps commerce sites or find someone that is experienced in some section than do a JOINT VENTURE with him. For example you say you are knowledgeable in programming, than why not start your own project for a tool that you can sell ? You can invest your money in the advertising and the eCommerce website, and make people that do CPA sell it for you lol .. That would be your best and safest bet to start building your own profitable online business that would pay off in the longterm.

Hope this helps cheers.

Promotional videos are always meant to manipulate your mind :)

But i can not say anything about it since i dont know of it and have never tried it, but one thing i can tell you for sure, is that when some one offers you something that is to good to be true than it probably is. So proceed with caution,i dont say that their method is not working, just saying do some research before starting with anything.

Those are my 2 cents..

(Sep 12, 2014 10:14 AM)_DDos_ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes i earn money online doing various things. Just to show you an example i'll tell you a story..

When i first started i used a CPA offer directly from an advertiser. It was a PPL offer (PayPerLead- a website was paying 1$ for every new sing up that i can bring them). It was an Adult Virtual World - Basically a game for adults. So i just started promoting that website by going on chat rooms convincing people to join in, i was posting on forums about how great the game was and how interesting is to play and i inserted my affiliate link in my posts. At first i didnt even looked at my stats for a month or so, i just concentrated on promoting the website and putting my affiliate link everywhere i can. After 1 month i check my account balance and there it was over 300+ people joined the game making me 300$ in profits from nothing.

Than i was contacted by the affiliate manager of the game and was offered to be transferred to a 60% RevShare program instead of PPL. Revshare - Revenue Share is a program that pays you for every users that buys an upgrade in the game or a VIP pass. The good thing with revshare is that you get commissions everytime a users pays again for their upgrade every month.

So next month without doing anything i got 500+ people signing up for the game from my affiliate links. People joined up from the links i left the previous month when i was promoting the website.. Almost 100 of them purchased VIP passes that at that time and 1 vip purchase brought me around 15$ or so. So i made around 1500$ Profits and every month after that the people that renewed their VIP upgrades brought me money also.

This story ^^ help me please.

The best pay per lead program with revshare?

I tried this way but I reach 1000 friends, facebook asks me to identify photo of a random friend. Untill then my account is locked. ?

In one of my account I sent join request to 10 add me groups and they locked my account.

Anyway I can bypass.

1) It depends on what kind of account is it. If it's some sort of personal account, I'd go for sponsored shout-outs for companies (perhaps review products, etc.).

2) Can't advice.

As Prime said, almost every CPA network has mobile optimized content lockers as well as single-offers and one of them is AdWork Media my favorite one.

Hello ?

Hope you all are having a nice day

My Question is that is there any way to earn some money through a blog website? I have a website and I haven't updated it since like 2011 and don't want to do it as well but I am still getting 4000+ pageviews and increasing slowly. What should I do with it? To be honest, it is full of crap and don't have a good shape. Google AdSense already declined my website several times as well as Info Links!

and also, for how much would it go for if I want to sell it?

I have uploaded few images showing the current statistics of my blog.

You are currently using a CPA network. If you want to lock a certain content on your site than you should use a content locker. But I suggest you to start with an url/file locker because I assume you're a starter.

2)

Put your download link in "Locked Url"

3)You can buy shoutouts

You can find plenty of scripts here on HF that let your traffic force to like a certain FaceBook fan page

I've never really been into FaceBook advertising, but buying shoutouts from big pages is your best way to get started. Before you do this I suggest you to make a fanpage and buy likes on it to make your page look legit.

Link locker locks a link, file locker locks a file. Content locker locks certain content on a website, pretty much self-explanatory.

You can use whatever suits your needs, depending what you're locking. If its just a file on FB then use file locker ...

TIER 1 is the best, you can focus on French niches as well however since you said you cant invest your best bet is to have HQ articles with your main keywords focused on certain niche.

(Nov 2, 2014 09:24 AM)Tony Spilotro Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Reluctant about posting this as I've never really thought highly of self-proclaimed HF "marketing extraordinaries".

Say I can get huge, untapped email lists that relate to any specific niche (eg: blackhat users, sports-related users, gaming related users and even more specific), what are some general ideas that I could take into mind and possibly in to action in regards to monetizing the assets that I have?

Affiliate marketing has never appealed to me, and I'm not really the best at stuff like this. You first need to verify if that list actually is from usable and real emails, depending on the source you got it from. e.g your own squeeze page for certain niche. If you think on buying emails or anything like that, stop right there, you need to build your own list and it takes time though.

You cant use email list for anything other than "selling" products, either yours or someone elses for commision. CPA and bullshit doesnt work with email lists cause at the end of the day your conversion rate wont be higher than let's say 15-20% and wasting it on CPA leads is pointless, hence you need either your own product or someone elses which yet again has to be something related to your original offer on your squeeze page.

Hmm have you considered minecraft server hosting ?

If you know how to manage a server then all you will need a website so that you can promote your business and start selling. It's a good recurring income + you can start off by creating a sales thread right here on HF and expand from there. For start you have more than enough money to get a server and a website going.

I already read your theards and they are great. Already knew about those methods and they seems be very saturated. I've tried the youtube method and alot of time the videos are deleted before they are starting to even earn any money.

Are you still earning any money with the PPC method or in general any other PPC methods?

A few years ago I can remeber I used to create TLD domains for a new upcoming product with the keyword inside the domain name. Then setup a review kinda site for the product and spam it with backlinks. The keyword I used was very targeted because it was the product name. And since it was an incline keyword in Google back in the days spamming loads of backlinks worked like a charm combined with a TLD domain with the keyword inside and a few quality articles on the webpage with the keywords linking to the differetn articles and pages on the webpage. Does this kinda method really still work?

If you want to start with FaceBook it's always interesting to build up a nice FaceBook fanpage. Make your page look legit by purchasing Facebook fanpage likes and make your fanpage active by posting daily on your page. Also post on other pages which has the same kind of niche as yours so you'll get traffic from people who're interesting in your niche. You can also find many scripts on the forum where for example: people have to like your Facebook fanpage before they can start your survey. This way you'll also build up likes for your Facebook fanpage and your traffic will see that your page looks legit.

This is not a lot of information you give to us but.. It could be that you try to force the customer to purchase your product. When selling something to someone, try to make them believe that they need your product and always stay gentle. Or if you're talking to them about the product, tell them to need to make the choice themselves and you just try to help them. There are many different customers, some will always complain and some not. Just try to stay gentle.

Well i can recommend you not to push that much if its that kind of products that give people headaches.. Give the person (guy / girl) some space and intrigue them a little about the product.. Dont mention sales or anything on the begging, just go around the product for some time and after that stop and just make random conversation and try to bond in with the customer and than leave the chat.

The next time you talk to them than promote your product, and just say Hey remember for the thing we talked about, i got just the right stuff (your product bla bla) are you interested...

Leaving customers space to take in all the information can sometimes be useful and creating a bond in a long term talks helps a lot. That way they wont think you are there only for the sales, sharing some personal stuff also helps to build more trust with customers. Threat them as your friends not your customers, and you`ll get better results for sure.

Hope this can help a bit.. Cheers

I have read all the thread and I have some questions about some method and topics about make money. Maybe that's a long reply but whit this I want to solve my doubts and try to help another people that have the same doubts or problems. I have some doubts because like more people in this forum (I think) I have tried some methods and sometime I wrong or never make money with him.

So, first I have read that in more replies you recommend try CPA to start. I think that CPA it's a really good way to start making money but I have had some problems in my attempts. I know how to do a good video [with fiverr it's easy], and how to get a good landing page [Google is magic], but all my problems goes with the High retention views, In the last time thaty I prove to try Cpa I had some problems with get this, any service works or maybe get the views and suddenly disappear and this happened to me with good youtube views service not Hitleap or shit like this. So my question if you know if there are or you know any really good service that don't fall with google updates.

On the other hand, you mention in a reply "GPT" I don't want to work in anything like this to complete task but I don't know what means GPT, sorry for that.

Moreover, I want to ask you and this for own experience, if you really recommend the bing/fb or another ad service recognized like this (except adwords - so expensive), because I want to know if the prices of this service that is more expensive than anothers is worthwhile.

Also, I want to recommend to the people start in the world of the "Arbitrage" (if you don't know what's that you can find it in Wikipedia quickly), it's so different to CPA but It's really reliable and if you get to go to the good way can be so easy, but for this you need be creative as in all. About this topic, and see that one of you sell and ebay ebook, I want to ask if you know any method to get cheap transport, because I'm from Spain and Here the shipment to Usa or something is the most expensive in Europe and this create some limits. I know that I can do dropshipping but... I want to see what I'm selling, from experience.

finally, I want to know if any of us offer any type of mentoring or something because I think that the best way to learn is learn from another person that really know about it.

I hope you can help me with all this doubts. Thanks!

I had no time to reply to this since this is more of a chat instead of real questions you have there hence I have no clue how to reply on all this.

In a thread here I talked about HR views suppliers that I personally use - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4503868>

Bing ads are good, 7search is kinda off, you'll hardly get accepted to zero park and not sure if you have starting capital of 100$ to start with Lead Impact. Those are all top sites.

And your last question, if I can get someone from Spain to reply to you I would, unfortunately I cant tell you which carrier to use when shipping overseas. It's expensive in any country not just yours.

Ebooks works, it's you who clearly "doesn't want to work". You have to realize eBook is basically the same as the book you were taught by in the school, while reading you're doing and developing your own thoughts.

Depeneds, do you want to actually sell them products for commission for instance or you want to content lock certain key generators and such?

Content Lockers are pretty much self-explanatory so not sure what you're asking though. As per niches, either go with saturated niches and invest some money or watch out on trends and see what's hot right now. Have you done anything so far?

Did you really spent 33$ to invest in PTC? I'm sorry to say but you're damn stupid. Did you really miss my thread in this section located here - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4522765>

UbZerv - November 18, 2014, 8:40 am

I want to target people who are getting into the Affiliate Marketing or Internet Marketing business. I want to pull traffic to my blog (it's a work in progress) and get them to sign up to my mailing list (Also a work in progress, but it's mostly complete at this point. Will work on setting up auto mailings when I get enough people on the list to justify paying out the butt for MailChimp's auto-responder and scheduler) so I can send affiliate products the same way a lot of the successful eMarketers do.

The only thing I'm failing to grasp is finding a relatively cheap (not necessarily free) form of traffic that's target towards those people and has a natural click/sign-up rate.

I don't think going straight to Bing or Google ads is going to get me any attention...and don't even mention 7Shit (7Search), I already know about their BS ass traffic from previous experience...

Tips?

(On a side note I am running new launches on JVZoo on BingAds at the moment, so I may be back around here to ask a few other questions on those if they turn to shit or are doing fine but can't catch enough wind)

Anyone with little to nonone common sense would suggest 7search lol. Try to get accepted to zero park, pretty much the best paying site I've used in ages. Traffic is extremely good though and I'm not shitting you here, I use it for affiliate marketing as well.

Zero park is good as Sonex mentioned with quality traffic.. But the most volume on ZeroPark comes from Adult traffic so its very good for affiliate adult offers but i dont recommend it for Affiliate targeting..

Other thing i strongly suggest is for you to get familiar with ReTargeting Advertising... If you only target BHW for a re-targeting campaign i think you will get a pretty decent results that will be SPOT ON for your Niche and you can really zero in on your audience. There are plenty of sites that you can use for retargeting that are about Internet Marketing in general and are visited by people that are interested in Affiliate Marketing and looking for a way to get started...

Google it, i think you will find it very interesting and for the niche you are trying to get in i think that will be your best bet.

Also you can try all those "WORK FROM HOME" audience, and you can get traffic like that cheap from facebook ads.

Hope this helps ?

I doubt you actually need to be over 18(I'm not US resident so I cant really tell but I've known a lot of them who were 16 and legally payed taxes with no issues whatsoever).

You can link lock mediafire download link if you want, that's why it's called "link locker". You can lock "google.com" if you want ...

There is no quick way to earn.. You can try day trading on the BTC market for the fastest way to make quick bucks seeing the price fluctuates every day of with difference of 10-20$.

Other than that i dont see any quick acceleration of your earnings.

Hi there! I had a little bit of success with PPD/CPA marketing earlier but now I've decided to move to Amazon Associates Program. As required I've already got a niche and sub-niche selected like Appliances->Cooktops

But now I'm pretty confused with the product selection.

1. Should I choose products with higher ratings and reviews or the ones with medium ratings, popularity? Or Mix them both?
2. Then how many products should I review on my website. Should I make it an authority website or only a Niche website?

Thanks BTW. :)

Hi . Just a quick question . When i promote cpa offers , should i chose incentive or non-incentive offers . I deposited on 1 site for PPC to get traffic in my offer , but I'm still wondering should I chose incentive or non-incentive . Which will be best ? And the offer will be related with dating sites etc. And I still wondering what is the difference between incentive or non-incentive offers . I think the difference is just EPC , which is too low for the offers , but with non-incentive the payout is more higher from the incentive ... I'm confused ..

Hey there Dorian Gray. Maybe I can answer your question. Incentive and Non-incentive offers have nothing to do with EPC. They depend whether you can pay people money for completing the offer.

So if you plan to give cash to members for doing the required action then you should use INCENTIVE offers and otherwise the Non-Incentive offers.

Secondly, please see the allowed traffic sources for the offer. Because sometime the advertiser just wants e-mail traffic or SEO traffic or sometimes just PPC traffic. If the source you are using or plan to use with the offer is already listed, then go for it.

Specialists, you are all welcome to correct if I'm wrong anywhere.

Thanks :)

But now I'm pretty confused with the product selection.

1. Should I choose products with higher ratings and reviews or the ones with medium ratings, popularity? Or Mix them both?
2. Then how many products should I review on my website. Should I make it an authority website or only a Niche website?

Thanks BTW. :)

1. That solely depends on you, you can either look for products you think might get popular (so you have upper hand) or you can go for already popular products but make sure to know you wont have as much success as those who started earlier.

2. Depends what you feel doing, it can be up to 100 products if you want through different categories, or maybe a single niche website as well.

So if you plan to give cash to members for doing the required action then you should use INCENTIVE offers and otherwise the Non-Incentive offers.

Secondly, please see the allowed traffic sources for the offer. Because sometime the advertiser just wants e-mail traffic or SEO traffic or sometimes just PPC traffic. If the source you are using or plan to use with the offer is already listed, then go for it.

Apparently blog cuts the profits though. Having TLD domain would always bring in more leads, also if you're planning on doing it through FB/YT your posts/comments/videos will get deleted due to link shorteners.

It's pretty much impossible to find something someone hasn't already touched. What you're supposed to do is find something that has a boat load of buyers/idiots (wight loss) and cut your part into the niche somehow...perhaps a product review page for weight loss pills or weight loss services (Nutrasystem, Weight Watchers, etc)?

Other thing i strongly suggest is for you to get familiar with ReTargeting Advertising... If you only target BHW for a re-targeting campaign i think you will get a pretty decent results that will be SPOT ON for your Niche and you can really zero in on your audience. There are plenty of sites that you can use for retargeting that are about Internet Marketing in general and are visited by people that are interested in Affiliate Marketing and looking for a way to get started...

Google it, i think you will find it very interesting and for the niche you are trying to get in i think that will be your best bet.

Also you can try all those "WORK FROM HOME" audience, and you can get traffic like that cheap from facebook ads.

Hope this helps ?

Read the replay after that you will find more info there and there is no min top ups for re-targeting, you can even find free coupons to test it out..

Okey so next question :

I started to promote offers with Bing Ad's (Sonex's tutorial)

I spend ~20$ and get ~7$, which is bad .

I use CPAlead offers .

I don't own any websites related to the niches which I promote , and wondering it's will change anything if I buy domain related to the niche , and buy targeted traffic to this domain ?

You dont promote CPA products through BingAds. Leads cant cover the investment, hence I did "affiliate marketing", not "cpa marketing" guide buddy. And sure if you have domain related to your niche that couldnt be a bad thing.

My question over here which is like one of the highly asked questions possibly on the forums is where should a guy like me who is pretty much a newbie at these things start at? I do not want to make 1000's $ like most of the e-books and users promote. A couple of dollars a day to 5$ a day would be a good income too so that I can take care of my expenses.

So yeah, I would like to get some help in that field and would appreciate all the tips, help guidance I can get from you guys.

It's because you're either getting junk traffic or you partnered with some real shitty network though.

That's exactly one of the best non-investment ways, to bring funny content which people would like to see every day. Other than that you could invest some money to buy FB ads, you can reach a lot of people that way.

Ans. You can get it via torrents, or just search for windows 8 iso, or backtrack 5 iso, kali Linux iso, depending on which operating system u need.

I've been looking over these forums for a bit, trying to find methods to start making some money. I'm a teenager, and i'm very much unable to get any sort of IRL job due to medical issues. I do not have the luxury of asking my parents for money, as they're too busying paying off medical bills and my sister. I'm not going to get too much into this, i'm sure you guys might just think it's a sob story.

Anyways, for my age I believe I actually know quite a bit more than the average person of my age about tech. I do nothing but sit on my computer all day, tweaking and messing with different programs when I get bored, other than that I play games. I've been trying to find something to do to put my knowledge into something I can do to make some cash, possibly for a living if I find something I understand well.

I'm somebody who can easily be given a certain script or software to run non-stop on lets say a server, 24/7, and in mass. In the past year I was able to make 100-200$ goldfarming Runescape. A partner of mine asked me to help him out, we ended up running 50-ish bots 24/7, my partner ended up taking most of the cash as he was doing the most work, but together we ended up making $1000 weekly. I would go straight back to doing that, but it's become a lot harder due to the developers of the game cracking down on goldfarmers.

I've researched a small bit about bots for doing surveys and advertisements, not quite sure what they're labeled as, but I know they exist and make quite a bit of money doing so. I've been quite hesitant about buying the different paid money making eBooks on these forums, as I just don't know if they're really legit or just some more clickbait.

So, i'm asking for some help. I'm not sure where to go from here, i'm not very educated in the "Underground" of the interwebz. As I said above i'm someone who can run in mass bots of different kinds, to make money, and keep them running indefinitely. Any help would be appreciated. ?

You could get into CPA or even Affiliate Marketing, there are plenty guides in this section. Or if you want to stick with bots, you can run hitleap/addmefast bots and then sell views/likes for YT videos. You won't be making millions though but any side income is appreciated.

8 Dollars, is quite a small investment to be making. As sonex said, not a lot can be done. With that being said, find something you're good at it, and perfect it. For example: if you're good at graphics, work hard on it, and then maybe open a graphics service of some sort. Then you could use that 8 dollars, to purchase something to aid in improving your skill(s), or something which will aid your service in some way. If you would like to discuss this further, throw me a PM, i'd be happy to assist you.

For an example, in "hackforums.net/thread.php?=NUMBERS", "hackforums.net" would be the TLD.

Do you even have Fan page set up something to bounce traffic hence rank everything? To me it seems you did it poorly though, so you can't expect results.

You can purchase traffic, but then again you most likely made LQ video and you dont have website/fan page. Start from there or here's a guide on CPA -

If I want to build a landing page which collects emails in order to download something, how do I keep count of all the emails entered? And how can I promote my thing to all at once?

Also, if I want a .info domain, I need to buy hosting + the domain? If so, can you recommend me some cheap but good sites?

For a system that gathers E-Mails and allows you to send E-Mails to your list, you would probably want to start with Mailchimp. It is free to use for the first 2,000 E-mails in your list.

I use Namecheap for both my domain and hosting. I haven't encountered any issues yet. They also have superb support if you run into anything you do not know how to do.

albastru31 - December 23, 2014, 1:37 pm

Mailchimp seems good, thanks.

One more stupid question. I'm a newbie at CPA. I've just joined AWM and I can't seem to find the links for the targeted offers. Same on CPAgrip.

You need to actually open offer you want and on the bottom you get to see link. Its like extra large LOL on AWM so you dont miss.

I'd rather use AWM tracking platform so I can see all the information in a single table (clicks, CTR, conversions, even demographics!)

This thread is so useful, readed all the pages.

Oh, I found that. I also don't understand what's up with backlinks. If I enter a forum related to my niche and I post a photo which I link to my page, that's a backlink?

Also, are landing pages on blogger good enough? How about free hosting? And if I buy domain, the host sets the number of subdomains? And its better to have a subdomain or each thing? Or something like: domain.com/nr1, domain.com/nr2?

A backlink is a link to your site from another site, in its basics. It is in a category known as SEO (Search Engine Optimization) since the algorithms for search engines look for this kind of thing while crawling the web. They look to see if this site is popular, if people are sharing it. If it sees that people are sharing it, and it seems like to be a positive share, then the main sites' page rank goes up. There is a TON more that goes into this, and how you have to manage and create could change drastically with each update.

I personally wouldn't even try to get search engine traffic when I start out. It is an extremely daunting task if you do not know the process.

For blogger, I wouldn't put a landing page on a subdomain/blogger domain (unless your niche contains a lot of stupid people, or the elderly.) I would rather use a "subscribe to our newsletter" when using subdomained bloggers (domain blogs too, but you have a better chance of using landing pages on domained though.)

Free hosting is fine when you first start out. Most hosts allow unlimited subdomains, but I wouldn't go crazy with those. I attempted to run multiple things through subdomains and it got really unorganized. Most of the time, just new folder in root is just enough.

So, basically, a squeeze page. And is there any non-manual way of organizing the entered emails into different niches category?

If I have multiple tumblrs, each with 2-3k real followers, how can I monetize them?

I heard of adsense, but would it be profitable?

What to use on an adults tumblr?

Also, I've saw many people say to promote others products or so, but where do you find those people?

If I have on each tumblr specific traffic, should I put adsense on a blogspot and redirect people to it via onClick images from tumblr?

What are ytube networks good for? Are there any networks which allow you to use non-commercial content in commercial (adding ads) through some way of contract between them? They take a part of your adsense revenue? How are those networks beneficial?

I guess this has to do with monetizing, so I'll ask anyway: the rules say that dropshipping is not allowed on HF, but do they mean that you can't even ask what sites you use for dropshipping, what are the pros and cons and so on? No services or thing related (Dec 25, 2014 10:03 AM)albastu31 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So, basically, a squeeze page.

Different landing pages for different niches.

(Dec 25, 2014 10:03 AM)albastru31 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If I have multiple tumblrs, each with 2-3k real followers, how can I monetize them?

Sell shoutouts to tumblrs in your niche, find affiliate partners that are HQ and related to your niche.

I would rather recommend you get into a affiliate venture with someone/someteam. Adsense is really for people who want "passive" traffic and doesn't know how to monetize to the fullest extent.

(Dec 25, 2014 10:03 AM)albastru31 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What are ytube networks good for? Networks can have the ability to have contracts with certain advertisers that are outside of the Adsense zone. They pay for a spot of sponsorship in the beginning, middle, or end of videos. They are also connected to Google Adsense. So in this sense, it is better to join a network rather than going solo with Google. The only downside is that you have to abide by what ever policies that network has plus Google's. An example of this is if the network has a zero racism tolerance policy, and your videos contain a bit of racism, you are going to have to cut it out to remain in the network.

I noticed this too a week ago. It wasn't disallowed before, but I guess it is now. Usually when it says it inside of the Help Documents, it means no discussion about it at all.

I am a bit confused on what you are asking me now. Do you mean on a blog or towards at landing page at all?

If it is with a blog and you are using the subscribe method I mentioned before, you should send an E-Mail blast to the list with the niche you are trying to catch for. This is where a landing page would come into play. The people inside of your main (blog subscriber) that are interested in the landing page you sent them (should be incentive to submit their E-Mail) would then go into your "sorted" list for that niche.

(Dec 25, 2014 12:04 PM)albastru31 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And I can find those people who need shoutout on the 3 links u gave me? Because what I meant there was to promote his idk let's say for example his car, but he pays me for promoting, not commissions

Those links are for projects or companies that want publishers to advertise their product or service. Not so much for shoutouts.

I know there is a platform somewhere for shoutouts, but I lost it. What you would have to do is find hashtags that you use in your posts, find other people posting with that same hashtag that has extremely lower fanbase then yours, and send them a message offering a shoutout.

Inner Promoting? Like promoting each others channel? I think that really depends on the network. I never used Vevo before, I wouldn't know the reference.

You just blasted the hell out with your questions. Are those domains yours though?

There is no "email software" if you believe that then you're kinda dumb, your best way to gather emails is through squeeze page, offer them something for free in return for their email. Make sure you offer stuff you'll eventually promote to them(same niche).

(Dec 27, 2014 10:56 AM)ogplayer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you guys promote any email marketing tutorials/software? I've read a couple, but the software requires CC.

I do not really promote it in a sense that I would gain a profit for doing so, but I do it in a stance to help others out. The reason for this is because most "software" (I would really classify it as a service rather) do not have an option for affiliates (or good affiliate systems if one is even supplied.)

As for "tutorials", I wouldn't promote it at all. I would be the person writing up the tutorial for my own content asset, for my own site, and for my own authority, not for anyone elses. This is why I really dislike PPC advertising for a publisher (for me at least.) It is just dragging my traffic that I can monetize in-house to one of my competitors!

(Dec 27, 2014 10:56 AM)ogplayer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is anyone available for mentoring?

I would "mentor" but I am not that good at that. I am not good at teaching people a brand new subject with none of their input.

What I am good at is answering questions, and that is how I base most of my writing off of. My answers to users questions.

(Dec 27, 2014 10:56 AM)ogplayer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you think about RealHostTalk.com (starting a blog - the logo is a bit big atm I know lol), BigGameHosting.com(brand new re-seller site), DepthHosting.com(re-seller)

Opinion wise, I wouldn't be able to give you the best of inputs. You would have to find people in that niche (or at least knowledgeable in it) to give you some strong input that will be extremely useful with your business ventures.

(Dec 27, 2014 10:56 AM)ogplayer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there any cheap email marketing/CPA/PPC etc. you would refer me to? Do you think i'm on the right track? any info is helpful

E-Mail Marketing? Do you mean the services? I would start with Mail Chimp and further down the line migrate to Aweber (because budget wise, it is better. More bang for your buck.)

CPA? Depends if you are trying to get advertising or you are signing up to be a publisher. Contact the affiliate managers for information about rates.

PPC? I would suggest Social Media advertising. They are pretty good quality in a lot of peoples experiences.

On the right track? I couldn't tell you. You need to give us a bit more information.

The only system for beginners that allows you to receive a "Instant Payment" is when you sell something (online or offline.)

E-Books, Courses, Manufacturing items, Buying wholesale and then selling, Dropshipping, etc.

Depending on your niche (unless it is IM/MMO), find forums that contain it or specialize in it. If it is IM/MMO, you can pretty much sell it anywhere.

Should I just focus on attempting to gain traffic to the site now? Or are there other steps I can take?
A landing page with a incentive or a squeeze page that goes to the locker would be beneficial for you and for the end user when deciding if they want to go through the hassle to unlock your locker.

Building an authority with the time the user is on your site is the most important. If the user thinks you know what you are talking about and trusts you, then you will end up with a lot more users on your list and a lot more conversions. It is all about persuading people.

Hey guys, I don't know how alive this thread is but I shall try my luck.

So basically I am a professional designer and I can make really good front end website. I have a lot of ideas and I am willing to work on it. I don't know what to venture into, if I should try content locker (but again I will need a website to get accepted and I don't exactly know where to start finding a niche and what to make around it) or if I should try PPD but I tried once and failed drastically.

I feel I have the skills but being new I really don't know where to start from and I highly need to start somewhere as I am low on income. If I get a mentor or something I would be willing to drain myself and work all night and I have done that before on SEing and earned well. I just want to channel my energy into something that would give me a steady flow of income.

So basically I am looking for a mentor, doesn't matter as I would love to give 50% of my earnings as well to someone who would be willing to help me out.

Regards

If you can design and create things of great quality, do not even touch content lockers. The only time you would really want to use a content locker is for something low quality or has very low value.

People pay people like you to design websites all the time. Make your own website and show off a portfolio. You can then go to freelancer sites and gather some jobs.

Hey,

I'm in serious (lol) need of help. I've created facebook account, website and lots of things but I can't find website who provide offers for France / Belgium. Does anybody know where I could find this ? I would be very grateful to the one who will help me <3 Continue this way, you all are awesome.

I've tried multiple time asking people but I guess it would be the best asking here.

I got alot of adult traffic. But I don't know how to monetize it apart from affiliate marketing.

Any advice/ideas?

Thanks in advance! And thanks for your contribution.

I use <http://www.offervault.com/> to find networks that I can apply to. You can filter the search of offers (from demographics, convert requirements, etc.)

Maybe a ad network would be something you would be looking for?

If you are up to it, you can even sell information products that would help people in your niche. Selling your own product will be the most profitable thing to do.

Well yeah I'm already using an ad network. And affiliate products don't seem to work well.

Maybe any other idea?

Oh fine but on each network they require to be a company, what do you do in this case ? Cause I don't have any legal status.

And other question, network where you have to apply are the best isn't it ?

Not entirely sure with this one. I am not sure how you site is laid out nor am I proficient with adult niches. Maybe someone else can chime in on this.

You mean an organization? The networks I apply to do require some sort of organization name, but that would just be the name of my main website. They shouldn't push you for legal business information.

The only networks that I have seen to be open and not through an application is Sharecash and PPI networks. Most networks are through application, though some have higher requirements than others (examples are Neverblue and Peerfly.)

Hello lads, I recently started CPA and I've done it before and have earned around $4.5k from it, I know all the basics with youtube and such and have made new niche + video + website now, I also

Not sure who told it just "works". You need have to really legit and good looking account with tons of followers, even then you wont be able to profit much, I'm not saying it's impossible but it's easier to stick with Facebook. People jump from one social media to another every day.

Louis C.K. - January 8, 2015, 2:41 pm

I have pretty good youtube traffic, been working for PPI network for some time now. Just recently all my raw and unique link views are over 100+ clicks a day, got like a 1:6 ratios of installs, so that's like 15+ installs a day. The problem is that I am only earning below $2 for 15+ installs, it really sucks because most countries you only get ~$.01 per installs.

My point is are there monetizing methods that can max my gain with my decent traffic views. I've tried cpa and ppd and those are not working also, bc ppl nowadays are too lazy for surveys.

Make your account look legit, here's a simple guide. Are you sharing 10 funny pics? Make only 1 of them linking somewhere completely irrelevant, for instance your website, then in the next set of pictures you add CPA link, that way those who dont care, well they wont care, those who do will click it. You're gonna lose some of them eventually, it's normal but the main point is to keep it low.

Obviously it's easier to convert survey rather than installs in certain niches, especially gaming ones so you should definitely try out CPA. I can recommend you AdWork Media unless you already have account there.

As far as accepting friend requests, I have yet to encounter a limit as to how many you can accept with any sort of reprimand. If you were sending them on the other hand though, that'd be a different story altogether.

First you need an idea for the app. What would the app be, what it will be used for etc. There are plenty of apps for everything on the market, its pretty saturated atm so you will need an original idea. After that just hire app developers explain your idea and let them make it and market it.

You can make income from in app purchases, in app ads etc..

I am a complete noob at making money.

I have only done so once before, using eBay, however that led to my PayPal and eBay being permanently suspended.

I would like to know a really good way of making money, for a 16 Year Old such as my self, and I know I'm not going to get hundreds of dollars overnight, but I want a good sustainable income off this, with big cash sooner or later.

THINGS TO NOTE:

I live in the UK.

I am 16, UNDER 18.

I don't have a PayPal or eBay account.

I don't want to do CPA/PPD.

You can try and complete CPA surveys (I highly suggest you not to but that seems like a reasonable idea).

You need either CC or bank account to verify your PayPal, and PayPal works worldwide so no worries.

You can use unverified PayPal however most sites won't pay you if you aren't verified. Make sure to verify your account first.

What's the estimated earnings per week? and can I get paid in BTC??

Any other methods for monetizing them??

also I don't (more likely can't) create a bank account or CC, that means I'm out of luck with PP??

Estimate is the amount of work you want to put into it. And AFAIK there's no networks paying out in BTC, I could be wrong though but currently with such fluctuation of currency, nah.

Yes you're out of luck.

You can buy domains at any webhosting company.. Namecheap, godaddy etc.. There are plenty of places to buy from and as cheap as 1$.

If you are a regular player, than my suggestion is to install some sort of recording software and make YouTube videos of your gameplay of CS:GO, than get your channel partnered with some Network (there are plenty of networks that dont require much information to get into) and start making money of your views. If you have a domain also, you can make the website about your videos and gameplay and also make some interesting chat/hangout for players or write interesting articles about CS:GO so you will get more views on the videos and website. You can also apply for AdSense with your website and put Ad`s on it so you can make some extra income.

If you added your bank account than your PP should be verified. You have a Progress bar displayed there that tells you what needs to be done in order for your account to be fully verified.

There are only handful of CPA networks with BTC payouts. Only one that comes to my mind is <http://www.CPADOOM.com>.

I think it's waste of time. You will earn some $ but you will be stuck in manual labour and never move forward to something better.

And You'll eventually get banned (with Cpadoom you mightprevent ban by having multiple accounts as you can have tons of BTC wallets).

The best way is through social media. Create facebook page , pinterest account etc, join different groups and spread your blog link everywhere that is niche related.

I've recently registered a site with adsense. It's a garbage blogger page and I only made it to get adsense on it.

When I started the site it was back 1/2 a year ago and I couldn't get it adsense approved so I gave up. I logged into it yesterday and noticed it was eligable for adsense so I added some ads to it. I think my original plan was to join click exchange groups to earn a bit of cash (no more than 10 dollars a day to keep it safe).

My question now is adsense click exchanging even worth it? What is the probability of getting caught? Should I try to make this a legit page and get it popular using other ways that wouldn't violate adsense TOS? Or should I just forget about this whole adsense thing and try other stuff like CPA or affiliate marketing?

Well if you got adsense after all that time, why risk it with click exchanges ?

The problem with those groups is that you will get clicks yes, but would they be natural ? No. Google is not stupid, you will have no natural traffic going to your blog and you will be making 5-10$ a day and your CTR rate will be through the roof. I suggest since you have adsense now, build another website, buy a domain and create a blog/site about something that you have passion for and write about it. In time you will start receiving organic traffic and with some free marketing you can start earning without FRAUD. Why choose the short term way when you can make this into a regular passive income and work about something you love.

Yes exactly, join groups on facebook that are niche related and make posts about your website directly. Social media is INSTANT traffic. The more you post about your website the more traffic you will get.

If the main keyword has only 500 search queries than that a low volume for a niche. You should search for a bigger volume or a niche that has multiple keywords that can bring you traffic. So when you search for keywords/niches consider that other long tail keywords will bring you traffic also beside the main search query.

For example a keyword : "Download dragon city cheats" can have bigger volume of searches than "dragon city cheat" and is in the same niche and can also bring you traffic etc. So it doesnt mean that that you will get the exact amount of traffic that the keyword tool will show you.

I have tried some money making "methods" (I "discovered" them on my own but they are not something new, I just put work on them) but I would like to get a stable income. Two weeks ago I sold a Minecraft server for $1200 as the income was not stable and I needed some quick cash in order to start a more serious business. The thing is that I would like to start an online shop but I have two options: the first one is to open a shop that does not require a lot of money to get stock as I can't spend more than $700 on that, so I would sell stylus for tablets, mobile cases, sunglasses... I know it is saturated but it is less saturated here in Spain and I am willing to spend a lot of money on SEO, AdWords... The second option would be selling as an Amazon affiliate so I could sell more expensive things and not worry about customer service, delivers... If any of those options makes me enough money, I would get stock and start an online technology shop. I know that most online shops fail and I am ready for that, but I would like to know which option has the highest options of success.

Hello NotSoEpic,

Well like you said, most online shops fail at the start because of lack of funds, marketing, no experience etc. If i was to choose from the two options you mentioned above than i would go for amazon affiliate store first and than build your way up from there.

Whats better when starting with amazon affiliates :

1. You can create a webshop in just under a minute with the tools amazon provides.
2. There are numerous plugins to build a more advanced webshop for amazon that can implement on site purchases.
3. You can target any product you want and in any country (so this is good if you want to test the market for Spain for products like : accessories)

4. You dont have to handle customers, shipping , payment processing etc.

So i would definitely start with amazon affiliate's since it would cost me around 20$ for a domain and some hosting to make the shop.

You can start investing and testing marketing methods like PPC , PPV traffic and see your results so when the times comes you will already have the experience needed to get your shop up and running.

Consider amazon as a testing ground with 0% risk before you open your own shop + if you build a good website and drive good converting/buyers traffic there, you can easily switch from Amazon Shop to your own branded webshop on the same website and still keep the customers.

Hope this helps a bit. ?

Hmm i wouldnt know how you can use Lucktastic for irl money and combine that with CPA, i am not familiar much with that app. Is it something that people want and use regularly ? scratch and win sort of ? In order to work with CPA you need to offer some kind of reward after finishing up the offer and since i am not familiar with the app i can not give a proper advice sorry.

If you just started with Clickbank i would not recommend going straight to Bing for promotion and use your own money. Bing campaigns can cost a lot of money until you figure out what works and what not. Only for testing out certain campaigns/landing pages you would need a larger budget.

For clickbank the most important thing is selecting the product. You need to do an extensive research on the product before deciding that you want to sell it.

Products that you are familiar with and that you have some experience with are your best choice, and of course to be sure they sell/convert well.

After choosing the product than go experiment with some free marketing options like Social media / Facebook, Twitter , Pinterest etc, you can also try out Youtube since it works well with CB products.. Than scale up to PPC but start using free Vouchers to reduce your expenses while experimenting on campaigns. Some products do sell but some dont. Its all about your targeted audience and the product. There are plenty of other factors that you need to consider and test also like different landing pages and maybe create an opt in lists and than send the product as a follow up with some extra free bonus etc..

I can go on and on when it comes to CB selling, the most important thing is to find the right product with the right audience and then promote it with the best marketing plan with lowest expenses to make a decent ROI.

Hi,

I work for an IT company which enables me to buy domain names for really cheap. I've been thinking about trying out the following:

Buy domain names which I think are worth money (or will be worth money in the future)
Put up default ads on them, you know those ugly websites you land on once in a while.
Put up a message that the domain is for sale (together with the ads)

I'd say if I buy a couple of domains and I sell one once in a while for say $50 to ?? each, it'd be fairly good money. The eventual ad clicks would compromise the money I lose from buying the domains I don't sell or hold on to for long.

I'd be glad to hear if anyone has experience with this and if you guys would be able to give me some tips. Thanks!

The only way you would get traffic to these domains would be from misspellings and potential idiots. This traffic would not be driving you any in-house sales for that domain. Maybe a few clicks on the ads, but nothing sustainable and for sure not profitable.

The only ways I would be able to see you get money is if you sold the domains on Flippa or a site similar.

Kind of disregarding your "want" number, but this is more realistic:

3 hours for every day of the week, every week of the year.

$3 \times 7 = 21$ hours a week

$21 \times 52 = 1092$ hours a year.

$2800 / 1092 = \sim $2.57/h$ per worker.

If each has a unique IP and not ran inside of a cyber powerhouse you could have them do Amazon Mturks. It may not draw profits right away because their accounts are not ranked. Once their accounts are ranked, they could do higher paying jobs.

If it is inside of a cyber powerhouse, I think you could still do Amazon Mturks and use one single account and have the entire workforce build the single account. Risks are involved, I am not sure Amazon would allow this.

(Feb 3, 2015 05:31 AM)Grabs Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hi,

I work for an IT company which enables me to buy domain names for really cheap. I've been thinking about trying out the following:

Buy domain names which I think are worth money (or will be worth money in the future)

Put up default ads on them, you know those ugly websites you land on once in a while.

Put up a message that the domain is for sale (together with the ads)

I'd say if I buy a couple of domains and I sell one once in a while for say $50 to ?? each, it'd be fairly good money. The eventual ad clicks would compromise the money I lose from buying the domains I don't sell or hold on to for long.

I'd be glad to hear if anyone has experience with this and if you guys would be able to give me some tips. Thanks!

Well if you can buy domains cheap than why dont you try to offer domains to some traffic networks (that use misspelled domains for traffic). So you can broker the domains for some profit ?

If you get at least 1$ profit on a domain that would be enough since these networks are buying a lot of domains.

(Feb 3, 2015 04:44 PM)ORION777 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ok let's say i have 50 "workers" who can do everything for just 2.5k€ yearly each. (2.8K$+) [2.8x50Workers=140k$]

Obviously they are not bot/slaves or similar. They all are human people who ask for 2.5k€ yearly working 3 hours daily 7/7d.

They all are from Italy.

Im looking to monetize them. Do you have any advice?

Trying to make at least 10€ for each worker. (11.5$)

11.5$x50 workers= 575$Daily=17250$Monthly=207k$Yearly

(1st Year) Total Investment: 140000$

(1st Year) Total Earnings: 207000$ [Positive: +139.5k$]

My workers are all 19-28 years old. They all have personal pc and a private internet connections from which they are going to work [HomeJob].

Thanks in advance!

Note: I'm not asking for any super special button to make money. I'm just saying: "Hey! How can i monetize from these guys who are asking for a very low salary? (2.3$ each hour more or less)

I dont know how much you are familiar with Call/Online Support Centers. You can easily use that workforce and start up a Call/Support center for Italian companies.

All your workers are young people that i guess are tech savvy and can use a computer and Skype or answer questions as customer support.

You can offer your service to the companies for a flat monthly rate and you would only need 8 workers that will work for 3 hours a day (all in different hours) to cover the whole day for 1 customer and provide 24/7 support.

You have 50 workers so you can take up to 6 customers/companies and easily make much more profit. (you can scale up if you want if you find more customers)

All it requires is some organization and little setup. Companies provide you the materials that the Support staff needs to know and you just broker them.

Hope this give so you idea of what you can do ?

That depends on how you have monetized the forum. If you have adsense that will depend on which country's the visits are from. if they are all from USA or other similar countries than you can earn a decent amount monthly. A precise amount could not be determined because it depends on a lot of factors like the Niche of the forum and what kind of adverts will be shown, high or low paying, and how many clicks you can get of those 5000-10000 visitors.

If you monetize your forum by doing VIP promotions upgrades etc than there is no way you can tell how much you will earn, it all depends on various other factors.

Dont use Sonex stuff they suck ?

lol j/k .. To bring traffic to the landing page and get clicks, go make upload some videos on YT , and send views to them , try to rank them.

Spam your blog link everywhere , on Facebook pages, on blogs, on other forums etc..

There is not much here to work with, I can only give you generic answers. What niche is this FB account synced with?

CPA offers/links, Affiliate products/links, Shoutouts, Building a E-Mail list, Selling your own product, Selling the account.

Give us more detail about the account and I can draw a bit more in each section.

This may sound irrelevant though but dont jump around if you have something going on right now. You should expand in other fields but it's all process of learning, trial and error. Try to improve on what you do right now, and eventually throughout the process you'll learn new things without even realizing it.

What about now?

CPALeas allows incentive offers, I am not entirely sure about Adscend media as I never used them. Another network I would recommend is Adwork media as their support was pretty good for what I recall.

If you get on Peerfly though, you should be harnessing their non-incentive offers rather than their incentive-allowed offers. The non-incentive offers pay reasonably higher and in my opinion and a lot easier to promote.

To completely prevent it, send them a physical item enlisting the account they receive. Tell them they could request the account via messages to get the account quicker, but still send a tracked item.

If the customer does not pay, do not send the item or send them the account creds until they do.

From my perspective, your website looks too cartoonish and have weird border issues. However, that's not the point. Your apps do look nice but it seems it is not polished enough for people to buy it. Have you looked into using AdMob as a revenue stream instead, and promoting it as a free game rather as a paid game? I looked through your apps and your free games gets more download. You could have potentially made much more with advertisement rather than a paid game.

Having money to invest doesnt mean you'll make the investment back, or even profit. You can do wire transfer on CB as well, and if you have an ID you can cashout in any post office/bank.

Apparently your domain has to match the niche you're in, e.g. xbox codes should be like freexboxcodes.com or something similar. You don't buy a domain unless you decided which offer you'll take. Bombing yourself with informations is usually a bad idea, pick one then ask questions related to it.

I do remember when I was doing CPA a year ago with Peerfly that some offers did have restrictions on what platform the traffic is on, and it makes sense.

If the offer is not optimized for mobile traffic, the traffic is going to have a extremely high bounce rate. There is so many CPA offers out there that still has Flash elements on their site it drives even me crazy when I evaluate.

I would suggest you find a mobile affiliate network, a ad network that specializes in mobile traffic, or somesort of network that has a sector designed for mobile traffic.

In this case, not really. You already have you traffic in somesort of list (your SM accounts.)

The amount of traffic leaks and barriers you would come into when trying a landing page on mobile is way to risky.

I would just let it go right to the app store.

We're in 2015, competition is high, free traffic will get you nowhere unfortunately unless you already have an old list/page/website. I myself started buying traffic early 2012, I believe that tells you everything.

I truly do appreciate the help, thank you very much!

Its a CPA Company that is very hard to get it.

I would not recommend going to SI directly because they will ask proof of previous earnings and network membership. Go to any other CPA company (Maxbounty , Neverblue etc) and create an account. Find some adult affiliate offer and try to push those ads on your website and see what kind of results you will get.

Honestly 150-200 visits a day are not much for affiliate offers to convert but give it a go and you will see.

Maxbounty and other similar affiliates networks dont care much for the traffic amount + you can just say that you are doing ppc marketing.

But to get in SI you will need proof of past payments of any affiliate network and with a minimum of at least 500$ in earnings a week and you have to pass an interview.

Just by saying that you discourage yourself and i dont recommend you start CPA or IM with that kind of thinking. Honestly if you see the stats of some CPA earners 500$ a week is nothing. Its just a starting point to the real profit in IM. Read, work hard and read some more. If you put your mind into it and devote enough time anything is achievable.

In the mean time apply for Maxbounty, and find ways to expand your website traffic and start earning small than go form there.

If you never used FB ads before , than you can start off by buying a 50$ coupon code for FB ads and apply it on your account. Go to you facebook account choose AD Management and apply the coupon, so you will get 50$ balance immediately on your account and you can start creating and running your ads.

Yes sure there are ways, just pay friends 5$ to buy your gig, and tell them to write a good review. So 1 review will cost you around 1$ (Which is the fiverr commission of the order)

Recently started to get into Affiliate Marketing and other Monetizing methods (such as Sonex's guide) yet I struggle in every single thing to find good niches that I can make money from! Like, I find a niche that I want to use and I get really into it so I get started and then I realise that this niche is used by sooo many other people and the market for that is just incredibly saturated. I've wanted to get into this for a while, and I'm willing to put so much effort into it, I just don't understand where to start putting that work and effort. It's as though I fail with something once and it completely bums me out and makes me not want to continue... tips? help?

As of now I copy a trailer of the game but as I read in your thread about CPA in YT I will create a voice over review of my niche.

I already rank my YT in number 7 results and if a certain keyword used it will rank 1

I have a question regarding monetizing mobile traffic from twitter. I get 1.2m+ impressions a day on my tweets and currently making $0 money. If someone can PM me or add me on skype to discuss tactics, I would greatly appreciate that.

Edit: Also how to promote my fiverr gigs so I get more sales, because just 10 sales a day would be $40 a day which would be great for me to start venturing in to other sources of income from IM.

Mobile/PC traffic makes no difference whatsoever, in which niche your followers are? How are they even obtained though?

No not really, I'm still in high school but It would make me happy if I can make at least $10 in the first month, I don't mind if I have to work hard and wait a long time until It's a steady and higher income source.

It cant be a website as I don't have any money to invest.

I've read and tried a few of your guides sonex, and i ended up getting accepted by a company that pays per lead on games, which i felt might be an easier conversion than clickbank. But im having difficulties getting traffic. I get creatives of the variety of games and the pay is from 2-5 dollars per lead. Cpc is unfortunately not allowed, so i have to pay for cpm.. Ive used buysellads but its very limited which sites would be compatible with game advertisement. I've spent a few days looking for sites like buysellads or similiar where you pay a fixed amount a month, but without any luck. Do you guys have any sites you can recommend, or any tips in general? Ive appreciated all your help so far.

You can always go for basically any CPC site though, zeropark is a network that runs high quality traffic but it's rather hard to get in though.

Can you tell me one method that is not outdated to make money without involving people?

I don't want to make millions, my goal is just something like $5 per day.

Don't mention surveys, surveys are boring and I don't have enough time for that.

Don't mention spam/referral/forums (this involves people).

I don't believe in magic money making. I will work on a method and focus on it.

You guys are the specialists, just tell me in which method should I focus my efforts.

I will start as soon as you answer me.

I got some CPA Questions.I currently own a Multi-Niche Wordpress Website including blackhat niches.I have locked most of the links with link lockers.Problem is i don't get enough traffic.i Barely get any leads because i don't have any traffic,something like 9-10 clicks per day max.

What should i do to bring more traffic?

Youtube is not really an option it's a reportFest and videos don't hold on for long for the amount of work i do.With facebook i don't know how to promote through them.

Should i start doing something else?In terms of this website and blackhat niches generally.

YouTube is a report fest because of idiots who steal other people videos, I see that every day, as long as your video is legitimate and actually "yours" you shouldnt have any problems whatsoever, also make sure not to include any survey links in description though.

Have you thought of paying for traffic?

I started a new business where I sell a natural herbal supplement that works to reduce symptoms of stress and anxiety right away within 30-45 minutes. I finished the website and now I am in the marketing phase.

Could you please tell me how you would go about marketing this?

My idea is to try out webuysellads website that you recommended.

I have put a lot of time into this, and work a regular 9 to 5 job, but everyday hoping I reach that day where I can be free time wise. I also have high moral values like yourself. Well to be honest that's a low budget for any "serious" advertising, the flyers idea someone mentioned in your recent thread would make much more sense.

When I said $100-400 I ment like money I can risk losing without being affected finacially or stop me from progressing in my other goals.

But if I am making ROI, I have capital to ramp up the advertising.

Hello,

So I have set-up a new niche for CPA. I've done my research and my keyword has around ~13,000 searches a day.

I have created a YouTube video that has the .com link in it's description. This redirects the user onto a first landing page with a nice video and design. Then the user can click on "Download" which redirects the user to another nice looking landing page in which they have to complete a survey to actually unlock the real deal, completely whitehat.

What can I do to enhance this? Use FB, Twitter server on Fiverr to get shares etc of my website link? Use multiple video sites such as Vimeo or Demo?

Thanks

Or simply buying traffic from Facebook? Paying for shares and shit from fiverr is worthless and most are scams with their fake followers. Depending on the amount you want to invest and niche itself, paid advertising would be a good thing to do.

If niche itself is saturated, the best way to actually promote it is via social media. Take Facebook as example, with around 20$ you can bring some quality targetted traffic to your website.

Hello. I currently have a blog. I was getting referral clicks to it somehow with various porn sites. I have a wordpress site. Anyways, Google adsense has banned me and will not accept my appeal. I am trying everything I can do to mitigate these fake referral spams to leave me alone. Anyways, is there any alternatives, in regards to CPC's that would be worth my time or am I just screwed? Also what is other ways to monetize my blog? I saw that some blogs have popup ads (fullscreen) can you help me with that?

I'm rather new to CPA i'm currently using CPAGrip I was wonder how exactly does this work say I wanted to use your Riotpoints script on your other thread would I just find a host and setup the site then add a content locker for a survey before the download or? I know this must be confusing but I just can't word it properly.

Edit--

Also I noticed the script redirects you to a PPD site that requires a survey to download the file would I setup an account at a PPD site and have it redirect to it?

Yes that's basically it. Although you have to add your content locker link to it, to do so simply edit the script in index.html, open it with Notepad.

Sonnex me again,

About fb ads, how to get low cost in ads like 0.01c cor 0.02c I am using oCPM (facebook auto optizmed) but my lowest cost still 0.18c above.

I know 0.108 is very low, but i wonder to know that how to make it 0.01c or 0.02 per click?

And oen moree question do anyone have FB uid scraper ? I need it to build my custom audience.

watawata - June 30, 2015, 3:39 pm

Hi Sonnex,

First off, thanks for all your tutorials and for this initiative!

I'm taking the first steps in IM, and I don't have a big budget. I also currently had some problems with PayPal, so for now I intend to use Bitcoin for this. I've been thinking of using PPD+YouTube, getting into hacks/crack niches, do you think I have the chance to make some nice cookie dough doing this?

In case your answer is an Yes, could you also share some knowledge on how to rank the vids? HR views, Views Exchange Sites, etc.. what would you recommend? I've been reading some tuts on this, but some seem outdated.

Can you think of any tips on how to do all of this using BTC (any specific service/site that accepts them), as well as any other methods that may work this way?

Thanks for helping a newbie out!

Have you read my CPA tut? It's basically outdated but that's how things were always, you still need HR views to rank it although if I was you I'd go with "saturated" niches, dont make up your own until you master how it all goes. Also you need to bounce traffic from YT video to fb page and then to your website, so it all ranks at the same time though. Everyone accepts BTC these days though.

I personally make most from affiliate marketing, people call it the hardest way yet its most lucrative. You have tutorials on top of the first page, pick some and just start.

Spreading CPA offers !/Clickbank Products! Is only way to reach audience is using adwords or using advertising networks!

Hey What would be good network to merge with ewhoring? Like example app installing for pedos and maybe links. Im from Latvia, by the way. I tried bluemarket network which involves installing apps that you give for pedos to install so you earn money like that. But is there any other option? Since bluemarket doesn't want to accept me. :/

Hi I have a question.

Bing Ads doesn't have my country available through the sign-up, should I just use the 'United States' and would that cause any problems if I did?

Otherwise, would this method simply not work for me because my country is not supported? (Oman is the country)

Tiico - July 22, 2015, 7:14 am

Hello, I just recently received the Affiliate4Life Ebook from Sonex and when I came to the section where i was going to find a coupon code for Adcenter that now seems to have become Bing Ads I can't for the life of me find a working coupon code. I have found the one that Bing Ads themselves are giving out but I doubt they will grant me one. So I guess i was just wondering if one of you have had better luck in finding one.

Thanks in advance and thanks for this thread! :)

Isn't it obvious?

Pay Per Download = Content locker, link lockers or whatever. End user has to complete a survey to receive a download link, upon completing survey depending on the offer you get credited, payouts can range from 1$ up to 50$ per single offer.

Pay Per Install = You get credited after end user downloads and installs whatever offer you're promoting.

I would start with CPA/PPD first as it requires much less of an investment (depending on what product you would sell) of course you could always try affiliate marketing as well. Check out the OP on the thread though for getting started with CPA. It's a great place to start for beginners wanting to make good money with very little investment! CPA is also a great place to practice your marketing skills to sell your own products as well eventually ?

Hi! I'm currently running one CPA venture bringing me 2/3 leads a day, not much I know but it's on the rise.

Today I'm starting a new niche but with more potential, what I'd like to know is how I can effectively, boost my youtube video ranks to the top, and SEO better. Currently I have gotten some HR views, some comments likes and shares, but still sometimes my low competition niche doesn't make it to the front page.

I'd like to know all the best tips and tricks to rank my videos and my website. For example, what do youtube rank you for? And where can I build backlinks to my site without spamming? Thanks in advance!?

You're already doing "basic" stuff, do not buy backlinks off of shady places like fiverr and such. For now stick to YT and social medias as well as purchase HR views. You can easily rank that way as well without spending too much money.

Did you built a website around whatever niche you're using?

Thanks to sonex, sith lord and the rest of the specialists crew.

I have some questions now based on my reading of "affiliate marketing"

- 1)Clickbank pays with checks. I live in Greece. Could this cause any complication?
- 2)Is there a way to see which clickbank products were added recently?
- 3)In the adcenter before I am allowed to add a coupon it asks me to register a way of payment. It has 2 options, prepay and postpay. What do you think is better?
- 4)To get an adcenter coupon is it necessary to have a website? Also, is there a limit to how many coupons I can get? Is creating multiple adcenter accounts a good or a bad idea?
- 5) What does it mean when cbanalytics says "error product not found"? Are these products inactive?

6) I picked a product is by sorting products by gravity and then chose one with with no more than 1000 google adwords because I thought that this is a way to make sure that the product is not too competitive and that the vendor is serious enough. Can I send you sonex the product I picked so you can tell me your opinion about this?

Thanks! You re the best guys!

I'm starting to learn more about affiliate marketing and I want to make a website to promote products. For a beginner, would it be better to try to make a niche site to sell amazon products or one to sell clickbank products? Thanks.

How to start gettin into paid traffic?

How to make proper research to lose as less as possible?

What niche will convert better with paid traffic? Gaming or irl things like giveawyas/fitness?

How can I use USA proxy for websites such as cashcrate for offers and surveys? Is there any tutorial? I used " hide my ip " and used some New York ip but still I couldn't see any offers. Am I missing on something? Btw I'm from South Europe so payments via check could be a little bit of problem? Thanks in advance.

Phreakdaline - August 24, 2015, 2:26 pm

I'm digging into CPA, and I've started by trying out a few of the very known methods, without a whole lot of finesse, and I had a question I haven't seen addressed here. Trying to do as much on my own as possible instead of bugging people with every topic, however regarding the different ad networks...

Have any of you run into any policy violation problems with ad networks such as CPAGrip or AdWorkMedia? ie; I read over everything very thoroughly and they list certain ways in which the ad can not be used, one of them being misleading content. The vast majority of the basic methods I've seen around here would fall under that.

TLDR; Has any run into any trouble promoting fake/misleading content like code generators, fake jobs, fake downloads etc. with their network? Or do they really not care/look into it?

It shouldn't. I see Greece on their direct deposit list here:

<https://support.clickbank.com/entries/23761762-Direct-Deposit-International>- So I see no reason why they can't send over a check.

(Aug 22, 2015 08:30 PM)Darth Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 2)Is there a way to see which clickbank products were added recently?

Yes.

There is a filter that allows you to see which products was added in a selected timeframe.

It looks like this:

(Aug 22, 2015 08:30 PM)Darth Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 3)In the adcenter before I am allowed to add a coupon it asks me to register a way of payment. It has 2 options, prepay and postpay. What do you think is better?

Prepay is better if you have a strict budget you do not want to go over. You basically pay to put the budget on your account. Postpay is better if you have a flexible budget. You pay what you have used with the service.

(Aug 22, 2015 08:30 PM)Darth Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 4)To get an adcenter coupon is it necessary to have a website? Also, is there a limit to how many coupons I can get? Is creating multiple adcenter accounts a good or a bad idea?

I am pretty sure you do not need to have a website to redeem a adcenter voucher.

I am not entirely sure how many vouchers you can redeem but I thought I read somewhere that there are complications with doing so.

I am pretty sure creating multiple adcenter accounts would be against their ToS and cause complications in the future.

(Aug 22, 2015 08:30 PM)Darth Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 5) What does it mean when cbanalytics says "error product not found"? Are these products inactive?

I have not seen that error before but it sounds like the product would be down or your hop link is messed up. Contact Clickbank for more detailed information.

(Aug 22, 2015 08:30 PM)Darth Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 6) I picked a product is by sorting products by gravity and then chose one with with no more than 1000 google adwords because I thought that this is a way to make sure that the product is not too competitive and that the vendor is serious enough. 1,000 searches with Keyword planner, right? That seems kinda low in my opinion because that is per month. Try to find something a little bit more heavy and do some manual research on the product. If you just search the product name, you can see how other publishers are advertising the product and if the search results are cluttered.

(Aug 22, 2015 10:27 PM)drOwsy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm starting to learn more about affiliate marketing and I want to make a website to promote products. For a beginner, would it be better to try to make a niche site to sell amazon products or one to sell clickbank products? Thanks.

Depends on what niche you are targeting. You would most likely get a little bit more revenue with Amazon. I am pretty sure when a user clicks on your Amazon link, a cookie is planted in their browser. If they purchase something later down the line, regardless of the item, you would get a commission. (I am not entirely sure about this.)

What niche will convert better with paid traffic? Gaming or irl things like giveaways/fitness?

What kind of traffic do you want? Various of providers and various of budgets.

Split testing your campaigns and come up with that information for your scenario.

Go onto Google Keyword planner and look up your specific niche. Look at the price per click for that keyword and that would be best for paid traffic. Reason for this is because more people are bidding for that keyword.

If the service is USA only and that is the reason you are using a USA proxy, then there would be a issue with them sending you payment.

I have walked away from those types of niches. Yes, there could be complications since you are providing fake content to the end user AND ontop of that you are using a trademark for your own financial gain without permission. I have heard stories where networks banned publishers for this type of thing.

I don't care about the amount I make 1$ a day is a lot for me(I live in third world country 1$ is alot),what is the quickest way? I have school and my mom stop giving me money to pay for my brother college.Please suggest me a way, I don't want to be a burden by asking mom for money,sorry for bad english and thx in advance :)

Frikandel - August 27, 2015, 7:05 am hmm i already tried many methods to earn some money a day..

3-5$ a day for some autopilot would be great.. but i can't find it..

i have hitleap to get some traffic to adfoc.. but idk if they will pay, probably not.

can you guys help me, teach me to make some money online?

i will pay for it ofcourse :)

can invenst like 100$ btc

let me know if you guys can help me edit: i have some linux VPS to run the hitleap bots to get minutes.. maybe i can run something else what is profitable?

Regardless you shouldn't limit yourself like that. You need to give us more details than just this. There are various ways you can get started MMO. Without a ground to work with you might as well just reread this entire thread until you find something.

First of all, there is no such thing as autopilot. Later down the line, you are going to have to interact with your content or campaign. You can't just let it sit there and think it is going to pump out dollars magically with no effort, it doesn't work like that.

(Aug 27, 2015 07:05 AM)JustHollandia Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i have hitleap to get some traffic to adfoc.. but idk if they will pay, probably not.

Of course they are not going to pay you. You are sending them bot traffic which is against their ToS. They have advertisers who are expecting REAL people to click onto their site. Why else would they pay for the traffic?

You might as well convert that BTC to something a bit more usable. You can use that money getting a nice theme from Themeforest, hosting, a domain, and then a bit of advertising.

I remember receiving this E-Mail to one of my throwaway accounts. There is a thread discussing it on another forum:

Hitleap E-Mail Wrote:Hello

As part of HitLeap's goal to always increase the quality of its service, we are enforcing stricter rules for members participating in the Traffic Exchange system.

Starting from August 25, it will no longer be possible to participate in the Traffic Exchange (by running the HitLeap Viewer) using an IP that belongs to a hosting provider, datacenter, cloud service, etc... If you are running a Traffic Exchange session with such an IP, you will currently see a warning next to the IP. Starting August 25, such sessions will be blocked.

This rule is part of an ongoing effort to increase the visibility of websites promoted through HitLeap and to increase the overall quality of the traffic.

If you have any questions about this rule, please contact us through our Support area.

I grew 400 followers in 24 hours and 500 in the next day as I didnt have to much time. But thanks I will stick to it. Should I buy IG mentions etc? I will not buy any followers or likes as I want the acc to be 100% legit.

If you start seeing extreme dips in new followers I would purchase shoutouts.

As of right now, just stick with what you got going, play with it a bit. There are various ways to keep your new followers number in the positive. Watermark your photos, hold contests, etc.

You are doing an excellent service. I am from India, retired from 9to5 three years back, and since then looking for some online earning. Have got more than 200 ebooks, WSOs and others tried my own websites with hostgator, tried free hosting, tried blogger blogs and what not!!! really in a sorry state and so fed up almost to the extent of breaking my head against a wall. Still not a single cent earned.

I am a CPALEAD member, Amazon associate, Clickbank affiliate, JVzoo affilate, sharecash affiliate, etc., etc. But you know, one thing is certain. You should have GOD with you if you want to really succeed in your business.

Ok, here's my next little project, probably going to start next year. Its a hack tool which I would be making.

How do I monetize it?

CPA or PPI or both, it only work in windows desktop OS PC, and only target specific niche/market.

Which CPA ot PPI network would be prefer? The tool is consider greyhat or blackhat, which network allows it?

Should I use youtube, blogger or pastebin to promote it?

Thank you.

PS: If using CPA, would be using phone pins, so what's the phone pin price I would need to setup for?

As for PPI networks most of these accept new users right away, and can probably get away with greyhat tools but you can always just make a new account if you get banned. like i said though i really dont suggest doing blackhat PPI or CPA.

As for ways to promote your PPI link the best would be your own website. get a cheap domain and hosting for like $5 and your good. If you don't feel like spending money then use all 3 youtube would be probably be the best if its some kind of grey hat program though.

You get to do SEO manually unless you know how SEO works, I assume you dont, and no you cant "just learn" it unfortunately, I myself couldnt for like 5 years so far, hence I outsource it, there are services offering SEO and they do it pretty well. Health niche is like made for ClickBank, there are shit ton of products, barely anyone will believe a survey when it comes to their "health"..

I have a small blog for game downloads which I am monetizing with sharecash.

Some time ago I was making around $25/month, however my conversion rates fell considerably the last few months and I am struggling to make $10/month, even though I have doubled the amount of daily visitors.

Whats the best way to convert ~200 visitors/day whose only interest is to download the game they are looking for?

Thanks!

When ever I setup something for CPA, or anything the main problem is the traffic. And I think that the key to making money online is making traffic. But how? It seems like paying for it is the way to go. And I don't care about paying, but most of the time I feel like I did not get my money's worth.

My question is, how do you get traffic? Do you buy traffic and hope it will complete your CPA offers? Or do you start from 0 and wait 1 year to have a legit FB page that could have a low convert rate?

Hello, everyone. It's my first time here in HF. I already read several tutorials made by sonex and I like it very much.

Allow me to tell you my story.

I started my first journey into internet marketing from sharecash, which you guys must have known. I tried creating a website with cracked applications niche using blogger/wordpress. I linked all those cracked apps with sharecash so they have to fill surveys to get the file. It didn't have visitors(the domain name is ugly anyway now that I think of it. (I do submit my url , fetch google, etc stuffs.)

So i went to buy a domain with .net extension, and host a wordpress website using hostgator, the design is actually very normal but acceptable and easy to navigate. Then, I redo all those submit url, indexing, etc. It started slow, and I only have 20 visitors per day, some of them tried to download and stopped at the survey even though I tried to make every file looked good with good articles. As time passes, the number keeps on dropping again. I was desperate, and I went to some blackhat forums and purchased a pretty expensive ebook about some money machine method called moneycashers posted by a person that has high reputation in that forum which does not help me much. I think i have been scammed.

But even so, i dont wanna give up yet. I applied to adworksmedia recently, am still not familiar yet with it. But i think the way it works is similar to sharecash yes?

Do you guys think cracked application niche is shitty? Should I change into the others? Or should I keep fighting with my cracked apps website, continue adding contents, fight with other big competitors?

Btw , Any of you experts here provide a private/ paid mentoring?

Normally when you first start out you will not make profit with paid traffic. You have to learn how to optimize your ad campaigns to have cheaper conversions. Targeting longtail keywords for cheaper clicks and split testing e-mail funnels would be the way to go.

There are so many more variables. Since you mention gravity I assume you are seeing the campaign on Clickbank. Does the vendor offer tools and content to help you out? How does the landing page look to you? Have you done enough research in the demographic of the site you are looking at to conclude this offer should convert well?

I don't agree with the fake program bait & switch with survey lockers. It's a bullshit move. You might as well sign up for a PPI network and not worry about traffic dropping when they see a survey. Even that though has it's limitation and I also disagree with since the PPI networks that would fit what you are doing just download massive amount of adware onto your traffics computers.

You're on AWM, find some CPA offers and promote them individually, don't put them behind a locker.

When you promote individually, the traffic will get exactly what they want when they click on, resulting in a higher conversion rate since they won't get surprised by a locker.

Well, all those cracked apps are not fake, I tried most of them before deciding to put them into sharecash link. But it seems all the people that seen the survey believes that the cracked application is fake.

I'm sorry, I'm still new to the adworkmedia stuff, from what i read in sonex's guide, he only mentioned about using content locker and I think it is the same with sharecash's link locker yes?

So, how do I promote these CPA offers individually? Can you make a simple example?

Let's take this offer for instance:

\(Click to View\)

Instead of promoting cracks/hacks or whatever behind a locker, you would directly promote that offer. When promoting that particular offer, and traffic clicks on, they will see it is exactly what they were promised in your advertisements and have a extreme less chance of clicking off.

Of course, offers come and go. You don't want to constantly focus on a single offer because it could be gone the next day. That is why content locking is so appealing because offers rotate if one goes inactive. The one issue is with all the hate with content lockers over the years and they are just not as effective and direct promoting offers.

Hi, I am new here, but im not new to internet marketing, I want to ask You one question. Is there any good url cloaking method on instagram? I heard something about tumblr/blogspot redirections, but I cant depend on that(still getting banned). Im using churn and burn method on IG, but my accs dont 'live' for so long? I heard sth about freudbuster but they are so expensive(bad ROI). Is there any options to redirect this muthefuckin ig crawlers from my cpa landing. Maybe some prelanders(redirecting ig bots to safe page), but ive heard they still go through this anyway. Thanks in advance.

Regards,

Q.

Hey guys. Do you know of any quick ways that I can drive traffic to an affiliate link? I have about 14 days left of hosting on my domain, so that's not going to be much help. I basically just used it to get accepted to an affiliate network. I have a $100 bing ads coupon that I am planning on using, but I am really not too sure what else I can do. I am trying to hit the payout threshold for an affiliate network within the next week ish so that I will actually have a little money to run on. Just any random brainfart ideas that you guys have that will help is greatly appreciated.

Hello. I have created 2 gigs already with well-written sales content, however, I am struggling at getting traffic.

Do you think you could help me out with a few suggestions?

P.S. Most if not all of my friends on Facebook are not interested in the kind of services I offer on Fiverr.

I'm trying to find any method to make $10/$20 a week.

All the methods I find are useless or they are for people that want to make loads of money.

Also, ewhoring used to give me good money but I got tired of it.

This isn't exactly help but it technically is... anyways, I was wondering if you guys would be able to get an adsense account verified if I paid you a fee or something along those lines?

dadonjub - December 23, 2016, 9:05 am

So.. I need a way to start earning money...

I'm completely new to this and was wondering if anyone could help me up setting up something for myself(100$ a week or month could be great for a start).

So nothing too hard for You guys.

Thanks in advance! Please pm me or answer here with quote :)

I actually have a question about adwords, but this isn't something I'd like to publicize. I think it'll be quick. Mind if I send ya a PM?

I guess I'll just post it here, and maybe you guys can help me out. It's a few questions about CPA.

1. How do I copy and paste in adwords? Like, I have a group of keywords I want to use, but I don't see any section that allows me to checkbox anything in there now. I can't seem to find the option.

2. When I get my domain, that's strictly for the advertisement right?

3. If I run a campaign, bout 100 clicks, no conversions, generally that means either my niche is TOO competitive, or I have crap keywords right?

I think that's it for now...I have some more detailed questions about the keywords, but I'd rather ask that in a PM (I've done all this before like 5 or 6 years ago, and I don't wanna mess this up again...I'd play around a bit, but don't have the monies to do that at the moment). Any help is greatly appreciated!

- what are a few of the best CPA networks to use?

- On CPABuild, what is the template section for?

hidyrus - June 1, 2017, 7:19 pm

Most people are talking about CPA or CPD. What about CPM or PPC? Isn't that much more profitable?

Horus God - June 6, 2017, 11:51 am what should i do for got approval on cpabuild ?

bl4ck26 - September 19, 2017, 7:59 am

I was going through this site ...and i saw this thread and it seems cool for getting answers

I want to open an account in ogads they ask how will i promote thier offers

i dnt have any pages in any social sites

i am thinking to promote their stuffs from some site that i cannot mention to them (gamin niche like stuff) they ask for skype nd contact no.(should i provide them with this or not)

Please reply senpai

Have you heard about blogger ? You can start your own blog and write posts all day long and connect your blog with adsense and advertise it on social networks etc.. so you`ll get visitors and earn from clicks on the ads.

You can also join CPA networks. There are plenty of methods to promote CPA offers without investing anything. You can promote an CPA offer or product by posting your affiliate link on blogs or websites , social networks, forums etc.. (if you need help in joining a CPA Network feel free to PM me i`ll help you out).

After you make some money you can invest in building your own website or webshop and start expanding your online venture from there.

Hope this helps. Cheers

hello i really need osme starting places if posible and how to invest some bucks im new into cpa and affiliate had some luck with clickbank and thats all can you help me out bro thanks in advance))))

I'd like to promote my free ebook to make money. Users download the ebook and then they can find ways on how to generate capital and grow their wealth.

whats the best way to get out there quickly? Youtube?
