If you're missing an idea on where to start with CPA, I have a couple premade scripts I've gathered over years. I do not promise you anything, all I can say if it's put into good use, a buck or two will be made(not literally lol). Also before attempting to use it, be aware, the more saturated the market is, the more people want it.

Here's a couple you can download instantly or if you want a special one you can leave a reply in a thread and if I have it, I'll send it over. Click on the spoiler to preview the image(warning could be a big one).

These scripts requires little to none modification. What you have to do is open index.html and switch the code to yours. If you want hassle free content locker I suggest to use it on PPD networks, if you want to customize the locker to look like the actual site go to AdWork Media.

I would love to assist you all but please do not PM me on how to set this up, it's simple, after you're done editing you need to upload it to your hosting, and obviously have a domain to host it on, it can be a free one as well unless you want to pay.

Honestly with minimal HTML knowledge you could most likely edit one of these scripts to fit clash of clans.

If i'm not busy tomorrow ill mess around and see if I can do it for you, anything specific you want or i'm guessing just free gems?

Not most likely, you could for sure transform any script into anything you want, doesnt take a genius to figure out how to replace couple of pictures and resize it.

Thanks though for helping that guy out, if I had time I would've done it myself!

sonex - October 15, 2014, 3:34 pm

Still being given away, enjoy it and lemme know if you need more though but as user above said it's quite simple to edit them with little knowledge on your behalf.

I use AdWork Media for 3 years now and there simply isnt anyone better out there, atleast not for these niches we use here.

You dont need any knowledge though to edit content locker in index.html which you can open through Notepad.

Exactly. And they can be easily edited as well.

Instead of PMing me how to edit it, please just open index.html in Notepad and edit img codes with your own images.

Question. Do these scripts actually give the people who complete offers their "reward"? Some CPA sites REALLY hate getting messages saying they completed an offer and they didn't receive anything in return...

That's what you have to set up on your content locker on AWM or any other network you use.

I don't offer help though, but you don't need help either. It's quite simple, replace the jLoader in index.html with your content locker from AdWork Media. AWM has videos how to do it as well, it literally takes 30 seconds and then you simply upload it.

Well it's easy to explain.

Not everyone who will visit your landing page will download it.

But mostyle everyone will simple share and like your facebook page.

That gives your landing page promotion. other people might see that that person liked and shared your niches and will visit your page.

So in the end it will draw more people to your page, earning you more profit in the long run.

You cant, not that I know of a way. This has to be your only "script" installed, simply replace the content locker in .html files(open it with Notepad) and upload to your FTP account.

I wrote it before but thank you again for your reply and great scripts. Finally after ages and learning about filezilla and ftp I have uploaded the scripts and have a beautiful website. Could somebody please help me what to do now. When I click the links I see

Chance to Win £500 Worth of Tesco Vouchers!
Download DeskTunes. Free Music Streaming.
VideoStripe Free Trial

Your chance to win a Mini Cooper One with MyOffers!
Download the Free Flight Simulator

Why are these coming up? And once I sign up for adwork media what do I have to do? Sorry people but I am a noob and just getting my feet wet in IM. Any help would be greatly appreciated.

Edit: Also when I sign up for adwork media for the content locking (I assume this is the right one) it says

Two more things; once you've made some money I highly suggest you invest in a real domain (TLD) such as TLD like .com, .net, .org. And also you should buy good hosting, your site is terribly slow.

Most CPA networks simply don't give a shit. As long as you make them money they're happy and they'll only ban/warn you after receiving a DMCA request.

That would be considered a fraud, giving any random code would suffice(it's not legal but wont get you in trouble).

- Do you have any idea on how to blank out the panels until the steps are followed. E.g - Only can see step 1 if you haven't completed it.

- Also do you have a Clash Of Clans version?

Regards

Maxi

You'd need java for that, or whatever it's called, I'm kinda dumb when it comes to building websites though.

I dont but I'll get someone to make couple custom ones since I'm busy as hell lately.

You can just replace imgs in index.html with your own.

Simply upload all files to FTP.

No, you cant sell them, they are public anyway though. You use them to make money through CPA.
why does a e-book you vouched for sell them?

I never vouched for anything as far as I remember, many people approached me for opinions only.
I'm yet to see anyone selling it though (none who asked for opinions had them in their files).

Now please stay away from my threads, if you have issues with HF products use Marketplace

You need a website obviously, I suggest TLD domains, you can get first year for as low as 0.99$ and you need hosting too, either free or payed. Then simply download script you want, edit index.html with your survey link (instead of the one that's already in) and upload it to your FTP.

fake generators, not giving them actual product their desire, then from another point of view free game codes things of that nature

Simply name your content locker "fake generator - giveaway"; you have to give something in the end but it doesnt have to be "exactly" that.

As I've already stated in an other thread, I'd suggest reworking the templates at least a little bit, it will higher your conversion rate since the ones you downloaded are already overused.
