Dark pmed me and we had this conversation:

I even sent him proof of my purchase:

He hasnt responded after I sent him this proof, but went on to give me bad rep.

Scam does look legit but why didn't you checked his rep before dealing with him?

High rep can determine users who are active and have been here a while, but it's not a thing to determine the trustworthiness of a user. Watch out for neg reps and scam reports open before dealing next time.

However, this seems to be legit and I hope you get your money back!
