Thread: [ByteCapone's RPS Game \[Newbie\]](#)

ByteCapone™ - September 14, 2014, 5:18 pm

So, I'm a newbie as far as vb.net. I decided to just start a project today to test and improve my knowledge on the language. I'm happy with it, but would appreciate any tips you guys are willing to give me.

Congrats. It's nice to see something other than the usual Calculator, etc here. Keep up the good work Capone.

Thanks ?

I started really getting into VB.NET recently, and I'm hooked haha. My PC was littered with source codes for random applications, but I figured I could help some of the other guys with the same amount of experience as myself, and also possible learn something by releasing it here.

You need to add the 10 year old mode where god is included as one of the choices :P other than that it's good for sharpening your skills!

Lol, wow that brings back memories.

You should add a number that shows the amount of games done, as well as the amount of draws alongside wins and losses.

For someone new, nice job! ;w;

Hmm, I'll do that now.

More practice ?

Thanks for the feedback
