Welcome to Zero's help desk. Zero is a group based around marketing, business, monetising and topics based around those subjects. We specialise in what we do.

Our help desk is a place for us to share our knowledge to you. If you have any questions, are unsure about anything or simply want to discuss what you're doing, and perhaps want a professional outlook and tips to improve, Zero's help desk is a perfect place to do that. Members in the group have experience in a variety of sectors, and are able to assist you and give you further insight to what you can do to improve.

Simply post your question in our help desk, and someone experienced in that topic will reply as soon as possible. Please do not PM us individually with your question, as sometimes another member may be more experienced in that area than the one you're trying to contact, or perhaps you can get multiple members comment on your question, giving you several views to work from. We also like to have our answers public for everyone to notice.

If anyone outside of the group wants to help in our desk, feel free to do so. You're more than welcome :)

I'm looking for a website that pays you to do surveys. I've researched a bit and I've found quite a few websites. I'm basically looking for the best site there is for survey completions. I've got a lot of time on my hands so I figured I would get into moneytization.

I'm also looking for help in the PPD area.
