In England, we have some rings called Shagbands, it's where if someone breaks one of the colours, you have to do something.

E.G. Break a black band = you have to shag the person who breaks it.

They've gone out of fashion now but they will come back in a couple of months as it seems to go in and out of fashion :L

For you swedes that don't remember what I'm talking about, "älska fotboll".

Wtf. Now boys are starting to wear them.. what has happened to the schools and the world?

Rappercake - September 30, 2010, 6:58 pm

Just because something is popular doesn't mean it's automatically gay, and stupid.

The people who say this kind of stuff are the same people who hate Justin Bieber because that's the popular thing to do.

Before basing your views entirely off of someone elses, why not try being an individual for once?

Dyegunswin - September 30, 2010, 7:00 pm

Yeah, silly bands are pretty retarded. There really isn't anything, "silly," about it.

than you say to be an individual, when EVERYONE is wearing these things.

You can be more individual by not wearing these gay things than wearing it -.-
