Watched this movie last night, and I gotta say, even though I hate a lot of old movies, this one was fucking beast. It stars Clint Eastwood and tells a true story of 4 men trying to escape the high profile Alcatraz prison. HIGHLY RECOMMEND IT.

100% agree. I saw it on Netflix, and I thought it was some random old shitty movie. I watched it and it's pretty sick.

I kept thinking they were gonna get caught at some point, especially with those dummy heads, but nope. And lol @ the fuck who pussied out at the last minute.

I know. It so fucking exciting, especially as it's partly a mystery as to what happened to the men.

There's a TV Series I watched a couple years back called Alcatraz that you may or may not be interested in.

I'm pretty sure it's a fictional series though, so maybe not. I still thought it would be worth linking none the less.

I loved that old ass movie. Maybe one and only old movie I have watched.

I remember buying this on DVD before it was on netflix. Brilliant movie. I love prison escape/violence movies.

My parents took a trip to Alcatraz island when they went to NY. There's tours now.

This place has fascinated me for a while so I've done so much research.

Spoiler (Click to View)The guys who escaped could've just been walking amongst regular civilians.

ZuGgY - October 4, 2014, 9:02 pm

Yeah I'd definitely love to go see it one time.

Tigri - October 5, 2014, 3:13 am
