So let's say i want to give away something, I can't (NFA) i then make a thread in the NFA section, where i'll sell them for $0.000000001 per account?

I know i'm not ub3r, so i can't post there, but you got my point :)

Thank you.

You can't sell non-free accounts, but you can give them away in the giveaway section

Or am I not quite understanding you..?

Well, thats quite nothing. Your idea is to give them free so NO.

Let's make this clear;

NOBODY can give away NFA.

Only Ub3rs can sell NFA in the correct section.

Well, My idea is to give the customer the best price possible, and make profit. If i stated it like that, Wouldn't it be my shop & my prices?

Well I think there should be a limit to how cheap it is. If I advertise a spotify account for 0.0001 cents, it could be seen as circumventing the rule. So just sell it for a minimum of 1 cent or 1 OMC or something like that.

You can give away non-free accounts if you can post in the NFA section. You aren't Ub3r, so you can't sell, nor giveaway non-free accounts. If you were Ub3r, anything related to non-free accounts would have to be posted in the NFA section in the marketplace.

You may only distribute accounts you own in the NFA section. You may not give them away or sell them anywhere else on HF. How much you choose to sell them for is your own problem.
