Thread: League of Legends summoner lookup thing

Hey, got this program that lets you do a player lookup on league of legends. I don't know what I could do for a decent layout though

(This is just to give you an idea of what this is)

Ideas would be much appreciated ?

Looks decent, I would recommend maybe color coating the box depending on maybe player region and type. Also maybe add a sorting function to sort for region, name, level etc.

Well the picture was just to show what im doing, but if this is good I could try adding the tier border around the player info?

And what do you mean by sorting

Like on a data grid view you click on say "name" and it will sort the items by name

Heh i still dont get what you mean. You search for a name and it displays the info in labels, so what is using a datagrid in your idea?

I personally would add a theme to the project or give a little color to form

Yeah I was thinking of adding something metro like flatui or something

Edited the layout and added some things, does it look ok now?
