Open for orders let me know via PM. Still have small tasks that should be done in 30 minutes.

Open for orders for today, one is in queue (but requests a refund when 95% of work is done). Will update when resolved. Please remember to read ToS.

Kioshima - April 17, 2015, 4:40 pm

User has decided to follow up with a chargeback when 95% of the order was completed. Take the scam report for the truth.

Doseon - April 17, 2015, 5:30 pm

Really nice guy and didn't want to make a post like this but, I feel like about time to make a post on his thread before doing something drastic. My order has not been complete since 3/22. My initial payment was sent on 3/22 and we worked on it for a while and he claimed he really needed the money and I thought he was the perfect guy for the job. Boy was I wrong... He was really nice and said he clearly stated, "I can always refund you if you do bail. It's up to you. (:". At times I was busy and it is true it was delayed for a while. But once we got the first page nearly complete, I wanted to add an additional (very small) page (which he actually offered to do for free on Mar 22 as well) and he offered to do it if I could send him the rest of the payment which I sent on 4/9 and which he claimed it was "highly likely" it would be finished that day. It was not finished that day and I was completely fine with that, but the problem begins starting the next day. Since 4/10, I have been getting very minuscule responses especially about the web design I am in need of. I need to get this business started and the faster he finishes, the faster I can get it coded, etc. I am getting no updates and he responded 2 days ago, saying he could send the first page and my coder could get started on the first page at least while he finishes up the second page and would send the files to me that day.. No files were sent that day and he has ignored my message today about "any news" on the design.

I am not wanting him to rush his work and has been around 3 weeks, but I am still getting no updates and now getting worried on what is going on. I have messaged him this on Skype and now I am waiting for his response.

"hey man, I know you are busy with school work and such.. but the delay on the product is getting ridiculous

[4/13/2015 10:56:49 PM | Edited 11:01:45 PM] xxx: really need this up and running soon;; ~_~ or i'm going to have to ask for a refund and look for someone else who has time to do the job. :/

[4/13/2015 11:03:04 PM] xxx: I love your work, I'm satisfied, don't get me wrong... but it's taking too long for you to finish or even give me a heads up on what is happening...

[4/13/2015 11:03:19 PM] xxx: Just message me when you can and hopefully we can get this resolved without any further issues."

All the above with a minor adjustments (additional information) was the post I made on the 14th of April.

April 14:

He asked me to put it down, saying that he was on Spring break which he expected me to know for some reason... And I do not understand why him being on Spring break delays my paid service, but okay I let it slide.

He also states, "Remove the post and I'll complete the job today or tomorrow." So I do remove the post and tell him sorry I acted quickly on my behalf.

April 15:

I ask if he can get it completed today, and I also claim, "Hey I'm going to be starting for new designers tomorrow-ish. If they come up with nice designs and fulfill my requirements. I think I will have to ask for a refund and just get services from them." Since he said he would get it to me yesterday or today.

He replies saying he finished everything for me already except the extra page he generously offered for free. Then continues to say give him a few more days cause he's on break and wants some slack.

To sum things up on that day, I told him he's doing business poorly and it doesn't make sense he's making a fully paid customer wait on the project because he wants to slack on break and such. I would probably understand if it was still the down payment phase, but I already paid him full because he said "highly likely" on that day.

He also states, "Why so? I'm sure no one got the same progress I just accomplished. I don't understand why you would bail when it's already 99% done. Don't worry. (cool)"

The term "bail" is used and like in the very first day I talk to him. If I want to bail, I would get a refund. I also told him I'm really stressing out about this and he says he'll get it done so I'll stop stressing out about it.

So I just give him a list of things that still need to be done and end it at that.

April 16:

No communication at all whatsoever (usually happened after I gave him final payment unless I messaged him first)

11PM PST,

I get sick and tired of his lack of communication and choose to "bail" since he does a terrible job of keeping deadlines and obviously puts himself ahead of his customers. I ask for a refund and not even the full amount since he has worked on it but maybe majority of it if I can.

April 17:

He says he cannot do a full refund with the work he has done. (sends me file) says it's 95%. States he cannot even do a 50% refund with the 95% done which I don't understand because he wasn't even supposed to get the other half until the project was finished in the first place.

AND THEN again he mentions, I'm sorry, it was stated in the ToS, either you let me finish tomorrow or I can only refund a little."

I've literally waited almost a full month for this to be done. Got really nervous at the end due to his lack of communication and even PM'd him on HF asking why he wasn't replying to my Skype and that I was getting nervous and worried. I haven't even filed a chargeback. I am baffled, and unsure what to do. Really displeased with his services and midway through the project, he flat out asks if I can pay the $40 soon because he needs it to buy something (wanted to avoid it since it wasn't nearly as close to as I wanted it to be).

In the end, he just sends me the Work.PSD (I guess that he worked on) and tells me that it's complete. I don't understand how the service is complete without me even seeing and me approving of it. He just decides it complete and just wants to end things there.

To clear things up, I did not even file a chargeback yet and I'm posting in this thread because he posted on this about me first.

Kioshima - April 17, 2015, 8:09 pm

TL:DR: I will respond more professionally later, but simply this is like any other business. I ask for 50% down complete the job and ask for the rest. Just in this case I offer him another page for free, and here he's charging back when 100% of the order is completed and sent to the user, PSD completed. He's here complaining about the lack of communication, I guess I can't argue cause I'm on break, but when I talk it over with him for a new due date for the "out of favor" page, I complete it on time and he says he got his friend to do it for free and he wants a refund.

Sorry guys turned out not to be a TLDR.

Doseon - April 17, 2015, 9:23 pm

You weren't done when I asked for refund.

I did not charge back... No idea why you are trying to act like a victim Imfao what did you lose.. nothing at all

You offered to do the extra page because I sent the payment on that day, not really out of favor.

You didn't complete it, you completed it after I officially asked for a refund (that's what it took for him to actually finish it Imfao)

Complete it on time? Do you know how many times you said today or tomorrow? Final payment that was supposed to be sent when you finished was sent on 4/9 because you said "Highly Likely" to finish that day. So I was guessing on that or maybe the next day. But what happens? No communication, even if I message to him about it, you say something like.. oh i'll work on it man, today or tomorrow. If you continuously say today or tomorrow, who doesn't meet the due date. You even said you'd send first page "you've completed" but never did the past week, that is why this all started. If you actually kept your word, none of this would of happened.

You say it like I have charged back which I did not do and I am not even in a process of doing. I even sent you message on Skype to end things on good terms.

"Just wanted you to know, I'm not going to start a charge back or anything anymore. I woke up to your messages, I was pretty disgruntled but oh well, I'm over it. I have no intention of charging you back. Sorry if I caused you any unnecessary problems!"

TLDR: Stop acting like a victim when all I did was ask for a refund and you simply denied. I didn't charge back. You didn't LOSE anything.
