Cybersaint asked me for a signature and I decided to get a bit creative.
The background I found on my computer and its a simple signature.
For a beginner what do you think?

It's good quality text; and that's about it.

all I see is an image and text scrolling across the screen in which if you even came across his signature in a forum you'd of already scrolled past it by the time you even see what it says.

my only advice is that you try and keep the whole text in view throughout the gif

For starters, I'd go with a different font. That font gets used so much.

Will keep that in mind. I like the style of Bebas really

Make the animation smoother. It is understandable for this to be bad since you are new at it, but keep trying to improve.

If you make the animation more smoother its great man, nice image if you're a beginner ?

Ugh, I get nauseous at the sight of Bebas.

The background is blurry and doesn't fit well. Actually, it contains no relevance to the name "Cyber Saint".

Thanks for making this for me, Eternal. Didn't know you posted it in Rate My Graphic.

Nice work imo.

Simple isn't a bad thing from my perspective.

It's nice, but the text should be a little faster, for the rest good job.

Really love the broken glass effect you have.

I love it! Looks really good. But like everyone else is pretty much saying the text is over used.
