The rabbits gather in the main hall, their number noticeably smaller now.
It doesn't take long before the bunnies all decide that they have taken out too many talkers and decide to go for one of the quieter rabbits.
'Surely they are just standing at the back and watching us kill each other off' the bunnies think.

Vegas is chosen as the sacrifice shortly after.
He is quiet and generally sticks to himself.
Nobody really knows nor gets long with Vegas in class and many bunnies wonder why they didn't suspect him sooner...

Once Vegas is restrained and dangling snugly next to the others, the bunnies gather out the front to make the long trek down the maintain range.
Hopefully the wolf will stay put hanging from the ceiling...

After a few hours of walking the rabbits, tired and bruised from the hiking decide to make camp and sleep...

The next morning the body of iMew is found hanging from a nearby tree.
His limbs appear to be gnawed off at the joints.
Its not known if he died quickly or slowly bled out.
The only thing they bunnies knew for sure was that the wolf was still among them...

I accused you since round 1, I shall be glorified as the ultimate detective once you are caught, and as such since we are in Anime Adventures I'll finally be able to declare that I have god tier taste.

No but on a more serious note, I don't know, I guess I just randomly pointed you out for no reason since round 1 and since everyone keeps dying I still believe it is you
