

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Admin please remove

FederalReserveOSRS - October 27, 2014, 11:59 pm

I was a stueepid kid, please remove

Fireworks - October 28, 2014, 12:03 am

Um.. Try out Queens Blade. It's got three seasons. And you said she's also female? Boku no Pico is a must then.

420 Blaze It - October 28, 2014, 12:03 am

SAO I and II is quite a romantic anime and also an action one.

Smexy - October 28, 2014, 12:42 am

Watch the movie 5 Centimeters Per Second, its heart touching

Dafy dak - October 28, 2014, 12:48 am

Watch death note. Light will give her an orgasm. Trust me the anime's that good :)

killerxknight - October 28, 2014, 1:40 am

You could check out Clannad after that you can watch the sequel Clannad: After Story.

Shiroe - October 28, 2014, 2:12 am soul eater hands down man its great (Oct 28, 2014 12:48 AM)Dafy Dak Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Watch death note. Light will give her an orgasm. Trust me the anime's that good :)

great amie indeed but no so much for a girl

iMew - October 28, 2014, 4:56 am

If she likes Naruto SAO is probably your best bet, give it a try.

'Psyduck - October 28, 2014, 4:59 am

I would actually recommend "Kiss x sis"
Really nice anime serie.

Chad ThunderCock - October 28, 2014, 5:00 am

Spice and Wolf is pretty Romantic.

SAO maybe since it has romance.

Peanut Butter - October 28, 2014, 5:12 am

(Oct 28, 2014 01:40 AM)killerxknight Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You could check out Clannad after that you can watch the sequel Clannad: After Story.

I second Clannad & Clannad:AS, don't forget to watch the specials if you watch it.

Leminiscent - October 28, 2014, 6:52 am

(Oct 28, 2014 01:40 AM)killerxknight Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You could check out Clannad after that you can watch the sequel Clannad: After Story.

Yep, defiantly watch Clannad. What better way is there to bond, then to cry together? ? If you're suave, you might be able to pull something off. ?

Epixha - October 28, 2014, 6:57 am

Sword Art Online, and perhaps Shingeki No Kyojin?

Puppeteer - October 28, 2014, 7:01 am

I feel weird when I say that I watched Junjou Romantica and actually liked it.

dzknkgg - November 1, 2014, 3:54 pm

Boku no pico definitely..

Fuq. - November 1, 2014, 5:40 pm

If you want it to have a weird ass anime. Watch School Days.

Description: Dude fucks every girl in the school. But the ending was super fucking unexpected.

severos - November 1, 2014, 8:55 pm

well, depending on what's the mode you want to have with her, you can try SAO, Free!, boku no pico, Yosuga no Sora, or go with yaoi anime for her.

Raddify - November 1, 2014, 9:03 pm

(Oct 28, 2014 04:59 AM)Psyduck Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would actually recommend "Kiss x sis"
Really nice anime serie.
Its good but with your girlfriend. Seems like it would get to awkward.

Gladly - November 1, 2014, 9:26 pm

Just watch something lighthearted like a slice of life comedy or a romance. Just watch something like Yuyushiki or Kanon 2006. Hell; if she likes shounen, watch more shounen. If she won't have to watch the screen every second that means her attention will be on you instead though, heh (joking).

GroveStreetOG - November 2, 2014, 9:00 am

Boku no pico! And get this it has 2 follow ups!
You guys will be doing it by the end of the first episode though. It is in subbed however.
The story is pretty good and much better than FMAB's

Kouichi - November 2, 2014, 9:16 am

(Oct 28, 2014 12:03 AM)Fireworks Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Um.. Try out Queens Blade. It's got three seasons. And you said she's also female? Boku no Pico is a must then.
(Nov 2, 2014 10:00 AM)GroveStreetOG Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Boku no pico! And get this it has 2 follow ups! You guys will be doing it by the end of the first episode though. It is in subbed however.
The story is pretty good and much better than FMAB's
(Nov 1, 2014 03:54 PM)dzknkgg Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Boku no pico definitely..
Yea, shotacon is definitely something you should watch with your girlfriend. ???

dw039riqr30iq0f - November 2, 2014, 5:45 pm

If you and your girlfriend are into romantic anime then I'd recommend Zero no Tsukaima.

saintcarter - November 24, 2014, 10:28 pm

tenchi muyo, it has some romance in it

xnicolebabyx - December 2, 2014, 5:11 pm

should give fairy tail a try its like naruto in alot of ways it got a big similarity with naruto about comrades and i told my brother gf about it and she loves it, she liked naruto as well :)

Chips Ahoy McCoy - December 2, 2014, 5:56 pm

I see this thread resurfaced. Watch Garden of Words with her. It's a short romance movie.

xviiziionz - December 2, 2014, 6:03 pm

Free! or Kyoukai no Kanata(Beyond the Boundary)

Dragon. - December 2, 2014, 6:20 pm

(Oct 27, 2014 11:59 PM)Danish Donut Wrote: CITE She is in to naruto, not sure if dragon all but she is defer not the type who would love it.

Who called me?

Jokes aside, what type of genres do you think she'll like? Would you be comfortable watching a serious romance/romcom show with her?

If so, I can recommend quite a few really good ones.

CCBM - December 2, 2014, 7:19 pm

5 Centimeters Per Second is a good anime movie to watch.

For shows I'd recommend Sakurasou no Pet na Kanojo, any of the Clannad's, Toradora, and/or Zero No Tsukaima.

I've always got more to recommend of course...

Alexchaos - December 2, 2014, 7:52 pm

I watched a few with my ex girlfriend,

Clannad(did not finish before we broke up),
Deadman Wonderland (didn't like),
SAO (really liked),
Sakurasou no Pet na Kanojo (really liked),
Steins;Gate (really liked),
Elfen Lied (Liked overall but didn't like the ending),
Danshi Koukousei no Nichijou (liked),
Shingeki no Kyojin (really liked),
Death Note (really liked).

So if she likes action/fantasy stuff like my ex she'll probably like most of the stuff I wrote she liked, except for Sakurasou which is just good. ;)