Thread: [\[Support\] Advice Support Desk](#)

9/11 - October 28, 2014, 7:12 pm

Introduction

Hello everyone I'm making this thread to tell you guy that I'm making a support desk for anyone that needs advice. It could be with family problems, high school drama, uncertainties, anything that comes to mind. I'm doing this because I like to help people and I've always been told that I give good advice so now I'm going to use that. If you're someone that needs help just PM me your Skype and what you need advice on.

Here's a little bit about me and my life:

Spoiler (Click to View) I'm currently 15 years old (yes I know I'm young) and I'm currently a sophomore in high school. Over the years I've dealt with a lot of meaningless drama. I've always been that guy that people share secrets too and come to for advice. I've gone through my parents split which wasn't that long ago. I have not dealt with any abuse or anything like that but I have helped some people that have been. I really don't know what else to say. If you have any questions feel free to ask, I'm pretty much an open book and I don't lie.

You don't give me the vibe that you're helpful though so I'm skeptical

Yeah you're right to be suspicious but what would I do with information like this? Blackmail you? That's just stupid and fucked up.

My chick always want to do anal. Which, you know, I'm down for and all. Just not when it involves anything going into my muddy kingdom.

She wants a traveler to cross through my chocolate path. :(

I'm ashamed to report it has now reached that level where she is almost begging to do it.

I'm afraid for my health. :(

Well honestly you're just going to have to tell her that. Tell her you don't want to do anal because you're not comfortable with it.

You really don't need to get laid. That shouldn't be the first thing that comes to your mind. Try getting a hobby or work on getting a body. Do exercises and work out. I've heard that by looking good you'll feel good. Not only that you'll be healthy and it's been proven that it also increases your self confidence which chicks love.
