Watch it in sub, the original voice actors are way better than the dubs. It will make your viewing experience all the better.

Watch subbed, it is way better.
Sword Art Online FTW!!!
(BTW I love your signature)

SAO is way better subbed than dubbed.
I'd say at least 95% of shows are this way.

neightworks - October 29, 2014, 5:13 pm

Honestly I preferred the dub over the sub.

DragonBook - October 29, 2014, 5:16 pm

Eeeeew dub, once you go sub you never go back!

Why not? Do you get like a virus or something preventing the dubbed files from opening?

@OP: I'd personally always go for the subbed ones, just because most dubs I've seen are inferior to the original. I haven't experienced the English SAO dub though, just give both a try for 5 minutes or so and decide which one you like more for yourself. It's personal preference.

There's certain dub that I can tolerate. Steins;Gate, Future Diary, Angel Beats and FMA:B would be some examples.

Subs OP, the voice actors are so much better than Dubs. Trust me, you'll enjoy it a lot more.

Nevieth - October 29, 2014, 5:54 pm

The voice actors are more fit for the roles in Japanese, however instead of trying to fit with society or impress a group.. just watch it how you want to, if you're going to multitask do dub so you don't miss plot points, but do sub if you're concentrating on the show and want the original experience intended by the writers.

Don't try to fit into the internet/ societies norms... you're just going to look like an idiot who says senpai and kawaii all day at school if you do.

Infinit313 - October 29, 2014, 7:06 pm

Subs are way better. Dub just sounds kinda weird and i guess you could also learn another language while youre at it!

Subs. Go subs. See it as it was originally intended to be seen (not exactly originally, unless you know Japanese). I haven't seen it dubbed nor I intend to, because I've already transitioned from dubs. [x
