Thread: Idea Of A Group Name

Allison Argent - October 31, 2014, 3:21 pm

Hey HF Community,

I thought I'd post my Idea for a group In which none of the other groups offer, below will explain (after the basic information).

Name For Group : Guidance

Icon : I was thinking maybe a dark door with a bright light, along with a person walking into it? Possible even just a brain with the logo's related to each section.

What would the use of this group be?

Well If you were to all look into the section 'Personal Life'.

Many of the members within their have a good understanding/knowledge when It comes to people / issues relating to other things e.g. drugs.

Being able to help others from each of the sections, giving both a positive and negative attitude and not being sectioned to thinking one thing ; having multiple answers.

I thought I'd create an Idea In which If anyone had the funding to maybe make this group? You could have the price for like the first 10 people whom are eligible for this group to pay on estimate : $15 ; change to possible $50-$60 (considering it's like $8k - $10k for the group). You would obviously need requirements In which to join It, none of the having 20 posts and thinking you know everything kind of crap.

How could you earn your money back?

Anyone whom has brought into the group could always offer something in return, like they could give a certain % back to the owner for accepting them into the group (not a massive amount but even 5-10% would help them out to keep the initiative in which to keep running this).

Why am I writing this idea for a group?

Around 2 years ago I had a moment of wanting to help people with issues relating to relationship (Boys mistreating ; girl looking for the right guy etc.), I'd charge around £7 for 2 hours (this accumulated in the end to me having £147 within 2-3 months ; I was 16 around then, I ended up putting the money I made from this to pay for my car insurance).

My advice worked In which I was shocked with and they ended up coming back within months to come thanking me ; obviously you had the odd few who never said anything purely because they either didn't like you for personal reasons or jealous boyfriends and such.

But yeah... this was my Idea for a group and I honestly feel if something like this was implemented then maybe you'd have a wider audience In which would feel more secure in talking about stuff in which they can't openly discuss on forums due to having lack of confidence, fear of others judging etc.

Thanks for your time,

Allison Argent.

Whenever I need a name for something (in your case being a group) I would get a dictionary and open up to a random page and choose a random word.

If I didn't like the word then I would look the word up in the thesaurus to find synonyms of the word :P.

RattPack.

Infact if I ever buy a group which I doubt I will, I will name it RattPack

Only accept HQ Bobby Sockers, must be a die hard Logic fan to get in.

Titans does this already, and will be expanding in ways to actually benefit HF in very helpful ways soon.
