We are currently recruiting for the first time, this will be the only recruitment for the year. We want people who are able to be more open about themselves and willing to help others however they can. We heavily recommend video or voice applications, it's the easiest way to get to know applicants better and has a much higher rate of acceptance. If you would like to make your application private feel free to send it directly to a leader via PM. We are mainly looking for people who have never been in a group before or are currently not in a group, but if you're currently in a group you can still get in, it'll just be harder. Feel free to make your application as long or short as you feel like, feel free to skip questions if you would like, but remember they are there for a reason.

Please use the following questions in your application, feel free to modify the design / formatting of the application, you can make it a voice app, video app, create a design with the questions answered on it, a website, or anything to show off your originality, completely up to you. Those that do video/voice applications still tend to have the best chances of getting accepted.

I decided to PM a Voice and Video app. I'll do text too.

Xepher The Cat - November 3, 2014, 9:42 pm

Serious effort in your application guys. Phoenix is a great group.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I'm a programmer (as you could tell by my name). I'm fluent in a few different languages, and make a good amount off of HF. Not that it would matter, but I'm also very good at almost any Call of Duty game. More innuendo wise, I've dealt with loved ones who've submitted to drugs, alcohol, and have even committed suicide. I'm always available to talk to users when they're in need of anything I'm able to assist them with.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I usually browse the new posts, but I usually find myself in their one of the programming sections, the marketplace, and the Lounge.

Marketplace - I'm very involved in the HF marketplace.

Lounge - The most general topics that I love to read

Programming - Well, you know.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: It seems like a high quality group that I'd like to be in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Well, I don't really like describing myself, but I'm more of 'the quiet guy' that has an infinite mind. I'm always thinking, but I never really express my thoughts or opinions. Something memorable, I don't know if that's supposed to mean bad or good, so I'll just go with good. Something memorable for me would have been when I was around 7 and my parents got in a car accident and almost died, but survived. My stepdad had to wear a neck cast for 2 months, and my mom broke her ankle. I'm very thankful they're still alive.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities, let's see.

Keeping up in school, helping others, and playing around online.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was mostly interested in the programming sections at first, but then I realized how cool the rest of HackForums was and decided to stay and browse around more.

It's now part of my daily routine.

If you like this, I'll whip up a video and send it to you guys. Just let me know :)

Honestly, I haven't always been this way. I was raised Catholic my whole life, going to formal mass every single Sunday. Religion has always interested me, I absolutely love reading all of the different stories and learning morals from them. Why, you might ask why I do not believe in God? I'm basically just in a position at the moment, where I want to see what's really out there, and learn more about things. I was brought up Catholic my whole life, meaning that's what I was influenced by, but what if that wasn't right? What if being Mormon was the right religion to be for example? I am still finding my way with this right now, but I will not deny there is something probably there. If there is something that you don't understand, or have any questions, feel free to ask me anything.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess.

Social Engineering

I have been doing these sorts of things for a long time. Talking to people is something that I have been really quite good at, whether it be gaining information on someone or simply just being friendly. I haven't been doing this a whole lot anymore, but it's definitely something that I am good at.

E-Whoring

E-Whoring has been something that I actually naturally discovered how to do. I remember the first time I pretended to be a girl to get back at some guy that was harassing my friend. Well, needless to say after getting actual money from him, I thought I would have a shot in doing this with random guys, probably hornier guys, so thus I started E-Whoring. It took me a while to make any money again, but eventually, I found numerous methods and ways in doing so.

Here are some threads I have contributed to the E-Whoring Section.

- Massive E-Whoring Guide || Updated Daily || + Picture Packs || Help Desk
- E-Whoring Stream // Massive Photo Gallery // Funnies

English

English and my writing are things that I am getting into for school. Exploring new styles of writing is like discovering a whole new world, yes like in Aladdin. I have been writing things, especially for music for about two years. English has probably been one of the only classes I have always kept my grade above a 95. For some reason, I just love the class and everything about it.

Music

Not sure this really matters, but it's something I am good at, so why not. Music has been my life ever since probably 8th grade when I got my first iPod. I remember when my friends used to always used to be listening to music, but I hadn't really known what music could be like other than the music that my father always had playing on the radio, which was NOT bad music, I just wasn't really exposed to what was out there. Pretty soon, I started getting into drumming for school, and was in Marching Band Freshman year on drumline, well until I got kicked out xD I started doing music on my own after that, playing instruments such as the drums of course, piano, guitar, and vocals. Over time, the music I listened to change a lot, and went through I guess you could say phases? I would listen to Oldies Rock, and then got up to the dubstep phase, and now I'm listening to Death Metal, which I actually love and can relate to with the lyrics and what not. I have been writing music for a while now, mostly emotional songs about how I'm feeling and how life is going and those sort of things. I have started trying to take this more seriously and get in contact with other people serious about a musical career, but things aren't looking so great at the moment..

GFX

I have been doing GFX since I was 14 years old. I started out with just a pen and paper like most, basically drawing out whatever weird abstract things came into my head. Soon, things started becoming clearer what I was drawing, and I found myself drawing "Graffiti" style words, making really cool designs. I started doing other styles of fonts other than graffiti to expand my knowledge basically, and found myself getting into Calligraphy. The more and more I drew, the more confident I felt in myself, so I attempted drawing people. I was absolutely terrible, and it was probably one of the worst experiences in my lives when my friend completely thought my work was a joke, which I do agree, it was terrible. Then I realized that maybe drawing realistic people just isn't my thing, so I started watching various Anime with my older brother, who introduced me to the starters such as Naruto. I started drawing Anime Characters, and they turned out to be really good honestly. I was extremely picky about making them look exactly like they did in the Anime, without tracing them of course, and started drawing those characters. After a while, I soon was introduced to Photoshop by my brother, and he gave me a bunch of basic tutorials and basically everything I knew for a while. I got better after watching various YouTube tutorials on how to do things, and the knowledge just basically sank in. I wouldn't say that I am an expert, but I can assure that I definitely know my way around.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Right now, I have been spending most of my time here on Hack Forums in the E-Whoring Section. Other than that, I spend most of my time in The Marketplace. I only ever do deals here on Hack Forums, and I have been ever since I joined. The most time though, would have to go to either the sub-sections: Online Accounts, or Appraisals and Pricing sections. That's basically one of the things I do to make a little extra money here and there and so on. Other than that, I like to post anywhere and everywhere that I can apply my knowledge to, hopefully being able to help someone out.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?

There are many reasons why I want to be in Phoenix. This is actually one of my favorite groups on Hack Forums, and the userbar is amazing.

I really want to join this group because it is dedicated to helping other people. I spend most of my time here on Hack Forums assisting other members, and helping them out.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are..

(I have negated some minor details that I didn't feel was necessary to share, you'll be able to tell why I hope.)

I'm going to start off by saying this now, so you are not confused. I was not ever good with girls. Ever. I was never good enough, and they would always end up leaving and finding someone else, or just becoming frustrated with how much of a wishy-washy person that I was. This was around the time I was first discovering my deep love for music, when I was in this relationship with this girl that we will call "Susan". (No, her name is not really Susan). Susan was what you would call "emotional" or "emo" for short, and would always have these anxiety attacks or be depressed. This would continue on down our relationship for a long time, eventually until she reached the breaking point, and decided she wanted to take her life. Fortunately, I was there and let's not get into too many details, but I tried stopping her, but nothing seemed to work. I started singing to her, with a guitar that she had in her room, it was her favorite song, called "The Morticians Daughter" by Black Veil Brides. To my surprise, which me singing was actually to calm myself down so I didn't have an anxiety attack, it worked. She calmed down, and everything actually seemed to be getting better. I also sang to her "If it Means a lot to You" by A Day to Remember, which that day forward we agreed that dating wasn't our thing, and that we should be best friends. I always think about that day, the day I realized I can actually impact someone with music, and that's one of the main reasons I really want to do music in my future, it's who I am.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Well, I am going to have to be honest even though this might sound cliché and dumb. My family and those that I love are my top priorities. Even though we argue and fight all the time, we are always here for one another, and that's how it should be. After that, comes school which I really need to be doing my best in, not because I want to do work, but because I need to get the education and the degree for my future. Music is definitely one of my other priorities. Music is my life, and I wouldn't give it up for anything. After everything else, I put myself. I'm not really a selfish person at all, don't get me wrong though, I do love my stuff, but I put others before myself.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hack Forums after first joining?

Well, I first joined Hack Forums to learn how to "hack", I mean haven't we all? Pretty soon though I made my first deal. I bought my first "OG" account, and actually became good friends with the person. Most of my Hack Forums days were just me doing deals for the first parts, and then I decided that posting in Threads, and being a part of the community more than just money was the right way to go, which it definitely was. I have made some good friends here, and I am glad I stayed after first coming here. I intend on staying here on Hack Forums for a while, so yes, I guess that does mean all of you are stuck with me <3

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I am very good with computers and am Sophomore/Junior in college and am majoring in Web Development. I am trying to decide between Dual Majoring in Web Development and Computer Science, or Biotechnology and Neuroscience (I have enough scholarship offers and grants to last me 10 years, so I'm not rushing). I am very intelligent and very quick to pick things up. I have a very magnetic personality and I am very good at getting people to like and trust me. It's not really a skill, but I'm never in a bad mood; I am always smiling and try to get others to laugh or be upbeat when they are feeling down.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I was most active in the Marketplace and Hacking when I first joined and later moved on to other sections like Gaming and the Lounge. I am guessing most of my posts are probably spread through the Lounge and Gaming.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I've only seen a few people sporting the Phoenix Userbar and almost all of them were high quality, good members. It looks like a solid group led by some pretty cool guys that aren't based on Hacking or the Marketplace.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Like I said above, I'm very smart and I get along with people very well. I put others before myself and try to make them feel better before I worry about myself. I graduated High School a year and a half early, but could have graduated partway through my Freshman year if I felt like it. I decided to stay in high school to meet new people and not be some 15 year old on a University campus. I'm not a huge nerd and have a very busy social life.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Well right now I'm focusing on school for the most part. My friends are very important to me so I always make time for them as well. After college, depending on what I decide to Dual Major in, I'm going to try to get a job in my field.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I came for the hacking and computer related things and found the Marketplace which I pretty much stuck to when I first joined. After awhile I started posting more and more often in the Gaming section and the Lounge. I really liked the majority of the community and how well the site is ran compared to others.

Anything else you would like to say:

Not really. I saw the thread and decided to jump in and make an application. I would really love to join! Thanks!

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I'm an intelligent and hard working person who wishes to strive the best in every way. I try to make everybody around me laugh, even when times are tough. Besides having the knowledge of coding and some blackhat services, I try to achieve the very best and extend my knowledge and share it with everyone.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm very active in the Lounge, having a great time with everyone and just chilling out. I'm active in the Marketplace Disussions, helping people or discussing about certain issues. I try to become an all rounder and post in many sections, to experience everything. I have gradually started posting in the Inneudo and Health Wise section.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

It's a great group, the descendant of 143. I always dreamed to be in 143, a generous and friendly group with all kinds of people. I look forward to this group, it has developed a lot.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Sometimes I look myself in the mirror, What Am I? I'm a human being, but I am worth more dead than alive. What has the right for me to be in this world? I remembered this line 6 years ago, when I tried cutting myself. Life was tough, I had bad grades in school. I didn't have anyone to talk to, I was scared. I wasn't a bad student, but I never had a good time at home too. I was constantly forced to do chores at home and cook, as it would develop you in the future. This stopped 4 years ago, but it had a huge impact me on my life.

Who Am I? I don't feel like to be treated as Who, but What instead. What did I accomplish? Good Grades. Knowledge. Coding. Fitness Training. Basketball. No one should be treated as nobody, but everyone should be treated by what they have done and they should be respected.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Everything is important to me, but I value respect a lot. "Treat Others How You Would Be Treated". Without the respect of my teachers and parents, I could not imagine what state I would've been in right now.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

There weren't much people when I joined, many marketers selling ebooks with the same methods all over again. I tried to keep everyone active by having frequent giveaways and dilemma discussions. It's a great community to be in, it's not about the money or the knowledge, but the friends you make here and the times together.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thank You for spending your own personal time reading this, I hope I have captivated you.

Dean Winchester? - November 3, 2014, 10:17 pm

Yes, there is an application giving guidelines, however there is a lot more to it. This is a recruitment thread, not a thread meant for singling out individuals and making them feel bad about an application they deemed good enough for recruitment. Please keep any bashing comments off of this thread, especially if you're not even in Phoenix and have no idea how the recruitment process works, not cool man! Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:Gaming

Since I was very young, I have been interested in video games.

I remember when I was three years old and I got a Nintendo Entertainment System from a pawn shop along with Mario and Duck Hunt.

I remember it taking me at least half a year to beat Mario and at least a full year before I could do it every time.

That was my first experience with video games, I have obviously grown up, and have enjoyed this new age of the video game industry.

Graphics, game-play and the flow of the games have really improved, and so has my skill with video games.

Now a days, I play games like League of Legends, Call of Duty, Starcraft, Minecraft and Diablo.

When it comes to LoL and Starcraft, I'm fairly decent at them both; well at least by my standards. I have a real love for strategy based games due to the fact that just one decision that you make can completely change the entire direction you are heading in.

Call of Duty, I'm fairly great at. I don't see it in the way most people see it, such as "run here, shoot that guy, shoot shoot shoot shoot shoot!!!!" I put a lot more thought into everything I do, because I feel that strategy is the most important aspect of being good at any game.

I over-think every single play I make down to the last detail just because I don't want anything going wrong with the game, or with any of the people counting on me. This applies to real life as well, but I'll get to that later.

Computer repair

I've grown up around computers, using them for school and gaming my entire life.

I never had high-end computers, so all maintenance was done by me.

Most of my computer knowledge has come from my dad who used to be an IT technician for various companies.

When I was young and my dad wasn't around, I probably screwed up my computer every other week, and because of this, I always had to find the way to fix my computer myself without any real help because this was back before the smart phone era where you could just pull out your phone and do a google search.

Usually, I'd be able to fix the problem that I caused, but other times I'd have to reformat and start from scratch.

Now I'm pretty talented with computers and computer repair; whenever I screwed up, I'd learn something new.

There is still a lot for me to learn about computers, such as programing and website development, but I'm sure if I set my mind to it, I could easily learn those skills.

Which section are you most active in and why?

My most active section is the lounge, but I'm also in love with the League of Legends section.

I love the lounge because it has a lot of fun people, and it's very easy to make friends in it. Added, there are also a lot of trolls, but that is what makes the lounge what it is; a lounge. As for the League of Legends section, it is my most played game, so I like to go in there and read threads by members that give tips or answer members who are looking for tips.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

The reason I want to join Phoenix in particular is because it seems like one of the most high quality and friendly groups here on Hack Forums.

When I look at groups, I see them as a place to learn new things, meet new people, make friends and make an impact on the community.

Basically, groups to me are like a family.

I think that Phoenix is a family I want to be a part of, and hopefully a place where I can put my skills to the test as well as adding more to my skill set by interacting with the great members and reading the tutorials this community has to offer.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

In late 2011 I was involved in a head on collision with my best friend and his sister, I was unconscious for a few moments, and when I came to I could smell gas, radiator fluid and a fire.

My best friend was saying we had to get out of the car and his sister was in the back seat screaming at the top of her lungs.

I had to pull my best friend out of the car and carry him to a side walk before returning to the car and carrying his sister out as well.

Luckily, my best friend had only broke his leg and had a slight concussion, I messed up my knee, had lacerations and bruises and his sister only had bruises.

But at the time, I was honestly worried that one of them was seriously hurt.

After that, I realized how important life is and how quickly something can be taken away from you.

And that realization changed me as a person, I started to really appreciate who and what I have in life.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

To be perfectly honest, I don't really know as of right now.

I used to prioritize friends above all else, but I'm not entirely sure if that's the right thing to do anymore.

I love to educate myself in a little of everything, but I don't really make that my priority.

So to me, I believe that I need more time to discover who I am as a person before I really set some major goal for myself, and I think that being part of this group will let me experience more here on HF that will better me as a person as well as help my HF career and might even help me find where my priorities lie.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well, when I first joined hack forums, it was to learn about ddosing and if there were ways to prevent it.

But then I discovered the Social Engineering forum, and it really made an impact on my life. It helped me get out of the house and talk to people and stop being so shy because I started understanding the way OTHER people thought and looked at the world.

Honestly, if it wasn't for the Social Engineering forum, I really wouldn't have been able to interact with anybody the way I do today.

But then, when it was closed, I stopped coming on HF for a while; but then one day I was bored and stumbled upon HF again looking for information on overclocking computers and then found that there was an Anime forum! I spent about 2-3 weeks just lurking and posting occasionally, but eventually outgrew it, so I moved on to the Xbox forum and The Lounge.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thanks for considering my application and if there is anything that you feel like I didn't answer thoroughly, please don't hesitate to pm me about it.

Thank you, and have a nice day.

Know how to run my own site: <http://www.musique.com>

Coding, extended schmidt73's Java RAT code: <https://github.com/jwatcher/JWatch>

Gaming - I consider myself pretty good in League and fifa.

Having fun - the usual banter. whether it's doing random stuff on skype or just screwing around elsewhere. I also occasionally, gonna be honest, troll sometimes b/c sometimes life is too serious.
xD

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in the Sports World and The Lounge however I don't feel that really defines me. I like to look at my most active section in Omnicoin and cryptocurrency because those are the places where I actually have passion about. I also occasionally lurk around the coding section and edit/extend people's code as well.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I've seen ya'll around and I feel the members in it are really respectful, which reflects the group as a whole. It would be awesome to be part of it!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

When I was a kid my mother died of breast cancer so I grew up with my dad. My dad was pretty abusive ever since my mother passed away. He would drink and gamble. Eventually one day he just ran away leaving me alone at home. Luckily I was really good friends with my next door neighbors so they let me move into their house temporarily until my grandpa came and picked me up.

So for the rest of my childhood life, I pretty much grew up with my grandpa. I'm currently now in college, having worked my ass off picking up multiple jobs and getting some loans to gather enough money to go to college. The struggle is real. However, I'm not complaining because now I know what's at the bottom and know it's only up from here.

If it weren't for my friends and my grandpa, who recently tragically passed away just this past month, who supported me, I don't think I would get to where I am now. I'm also happy that I've been able to find HF, my second home. It's always nice to come home and get away from college and the struggles of a college student into the world of HF and see what's happening with my homies. :)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My first priority in life is my family which includes my girlfriend and support them both emotionally and financially. Next are my friends, because without them, I probably wouldn't be where I am now.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

It's the atmosphere and the endless interesting material there is. Sure there are the usual trolls, but the majority of the people I've met are cool, slick people. HF for me is my second home. I like it a lot. Ever since coming here, I've met so many people and learned so much new stuff. It's real fun! :)

Anything else you would like to say:

Good luck to every other applicant!

Which section are you most active in and why?

I like every section that suits my interests.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

Phoenix seems like a great group with great people in it. I wish to make some friends on this forum and perhaps share stuff with.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I'm a positive person who likes to meet new people. I'm very great full for my girlfriends. She have really helped me a lot in very personal happenings in my life. I wanna add that I don't smoke, drink or do drugs at all. Iv'e seem to much stuff happen to people who abuse that kind of stuff.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? I wanna my life with my girlfriend. I wanna explore the planet, travel to certain places and see certain stuff. I wish that for any one really.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?I was refereed to this forum by a good friend of mine. I was instantly hooked when I explored all the sections. I like to express my opinions.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I've never really understood why this question is part of the application process which is probably why Studio is the only group I'm in. What I'm trying to say is for this group, is it really "skills" or more just qualities about us that would make us a good fit?

I guess I'll start off by listing some "skills" - things I'm good at.

First, I guess, doxing. At my job, I sit in front of a computer all day. I have 8 hours, so I usually just find info on (mainly celebrities) people. All harmless; I just like seeing how easy it is to get info on someone. If you exist, I can probably find you. :-)

Next, I have a college degree in computer networking. I'll admit, the networking side of it wasn't up my alley, but the security course was. Computer security has always been something I kind of learned on my own, but the college course taught me more. I don't know everything, but I know enough. Hence the reason I don't post a lot in the section; they're too far above me.

Thirdly, again, may not be a skill, but relevant. Not to sound arrogant, but I'm seriously a people person. I'm one of those people who everyone likes. The difference between me and arrogance is that I am not Kanye West. I'm just telling it how it is. I find that people always want me around them and want me on their "team" if you will. I'm easy to get along with, enjoyable, and friendly.

The last thing I will mention, again, relevant, is relationships. As you can see by my age, I've been around for a while. I'll straight up admit, I don't do relationships, BUT I can pretty much fix yours for you. Over the years I've learned what to do to make a good relationship last. I know what to do, and what to say. I know exactly what's wrong with a relationship, and how to fix it. Now, no, it can't always be done, but the gist of it is I can show you the right direction... Which is One Direction. Kidding. Really though, recently, I've helped two friends (IRL) work things out. I told them what to say when the girl didn't reply. It worked well.

So I guess those are my basic skills. I mean, there's more, but I don't feel they're relevant.

Which section are you most active in and why?: Easy; Innuendo. As mentioned above, I know what I'm doing. Again (without getting into detail), I hate relationships, but I can make them work. I've been in positions before where I've had to make a decision, and quickly, to keep someone around. I've learned what to say, how to respond, and what to do. I've been around long enough to know how the world works. So if you post in the Innuendo section, I'll do my best to help you. I've probably been in your position at some point, and I don't want you to end up like me (hating relationships), so I'll gladly help you out.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: Because Flight of the Phoenix is my favorite Harry Potter book.... crickets For real though, I want to join Phoenix so I can learn more from other members who have experience where I do. Of course I don't need a userbar to continue helping, but it would be nice to do it in the name of Phoenix.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: One major thing that happened that led me in a different direction (please read this whole answer) is that I became vegetarian in 2006. You make think over all how has this made me who I am... Read on :-). I became vegetarian because I care(d) about animals. I don't believe they should be helplessly slaughtered for our enjoyment. I do not stand for animal abuse, and my twitter is full of animal activism.

This led me to having a greater appreciation for the world, and the people in general. Unless you're an ignorant fool like Kanye West, I probably care. I'm compassionate because people don't deserve what the world gives them sometimes, so if I can help you, or if you need advice, I'll be there (plays Jackson 5).

Again, being around for a while has made me see that things are falling apart for the world, so why not do what I can to build it back up. Sure, in the scheme of things, it's only doing a little, but if we all do a little, it'll make a difference.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?: See above answer. Not to go into it again, but my priorities in life are focusing on saving animals. Sure, if I come on HF, or go on Facebook and see someone that needs advice, I'll help. But I'm focusing more on spreading the word about animal abuse more than anything. So right now, that's where my priorities are.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?: I joined in 2009. With extended breaks, I'm still here. Reason being is because it's a community. I can communicate with others on a wide variety of subjects. I can make my opinion known, but also learn from others as well. Everyone keeps me on here.

Anything else you would like to say: Honestly, not really. Except that I cannot make a video to save my life. Video making was never something I really learned, so that's out. I was considering doing a voice app, but I'm sick, and it's nearly 4am here, so I'm sitting here writing this on my iPhone.

Although constructive criticism is always good, you can hardly criticize on someone's own life experiences. Not to mention how the user writes his application should be nothing of his concern

Hard to criticize something that you have never experienced, no? ?

Well, as you can see by my post activity, obviously the Instinct subforum and the lounge.
But I also have quite some posts in Innuendo, and I am being active a lot more in that section.
I mostly stick around the lounge/personal life sections/ and the marketplace sections at the moment.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:
HQ Group and a HQ User Make a good match.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?
On the internet.
I believe many careers will be made with the internet.
But that's what everybody else is saying.

Skills, huh good question. I would have to say that I like to debate but I would not say that I'm no master debater. I work in automation and integration with PLC and HMI. I don't really see a section for that here but I could help on another level. I do the IT for my company, I'm not a professional but the task as been given to me and I learned the hard way and will continue to learn. I know some C and VB coding but want to get better, would like to get into python though. I'm a drafting tech as well, there is not a section on that ether but again I could help on another level. I am not limited to this as my skills continue to grow.

I would also Like to add that I'm patient, I find this to be a good skill.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Lately I have been in the General Topics section, I like express my view and argue fact with some topics that I have been in. In the future I'd like to help out more given the personal experiences I have and apply it when people ask for help. I have also been in the linux section as well as the mac section. I like both sections and will become more active once my skills have improved. I want to learn everything I can about linux as it fascinates me. Also I will become more active in the coding section once my skills have improved as well.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?

Bottom line, I want to help people. I have become more active an will continue to stay active.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I am married to a wonderful women and we are expecting our first kid. She from Mexico born and raised, and we applied for the fiance visa to allow her to come to the USA for us to get married legally. This story is long and complicated but it was a lot of paperwork and a week long stay at Juarez Mexico. For anyone who does not know Juarez is one of the most dangerous cities. I was a firefighter and moved to help my dad, after that I started at the company and have been here 5 years. I celebrate diversity, I love the Mexican culture. I find that being raised with to different cultures makes you able to see the differences, both positive and negative, and use this for every day life. There is a lot more to me and hopefully you will get the chance to get to know me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

First and for most my family, second my friends who I would like consider family. Education is also important to me and will pass this on to my kids.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Like I said earlier, I want to help. At first I was not as active only because I was getting a feel for the forums, and still getting a feel. I like the community and want to see it grow.

Anything else you would like to say?

I would like to be apart of this group if I am worthy. If I'm not worthy then I would like to know why so that I can improve.

Edit: Edited to make it look more appealing. Can not compete with the video/audio applications.

Why do you want to join Phoenix? I would like to join Phoenix because I see it as a great opportunity to meet new members, learn new things, and help provide towards one of the greatest groups Hackforums has seen. I overall think I could benefit the group, whether it be donations, or helping with some tasks of other members.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are. Recently I was arrested under major possession charges (read about here) and it's affected my life tremendously. I've been out of school for over a month, this has made me realize a lot about life, well-being, and a handful of other things. This event also has just opened my eyes in general, and I can gladly say that the arrest has help me in ways I can't explain.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Family, friends, money. Family has been there since day one, so their my priority. Friends come second next to money, they're there when you need them and they help you out, this being real life, or online friends. Last of all, money, "Enough of this shit'll make you invincible, able to conquer the world and eviscerate your enemies" - Jordan Belfort.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?Well at first, this may sound unjust, but the overall layout attracted me enough to stay. From there I met some cool people and found the site very resourceful and overall a fun place to be. I've given out a few things here and there, bought a few things here and there, and sold a few things here and there. Contribution is key.

Anything else you would like to say:Other than I'd kill to be in this awesome group, not really. I promise activity, and respect. Thanks for your time.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I have the ability to emphasise with others extremely well. I can understand the way in which people behave, and I absolutely love to help others. I am very compassionate and prioritise others at all times. I am very skilled with writing, reporting and public speaking. Last week, I helped a close friend out of depression caused by multiple fights and arguments with her parents. She is very comfortable explaining her situations to me because I am a trustworthy person that can associate well with others fairly easily. I love to make new friends and I find it very interesting to learn about other people.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I try to be as active as possible in the Health Wise section. This is because I study Psychology part-time, and love to use my knowledge to help those whom may be experiencing depression or otherwise feeling incomplete. I also love to write complete exercise and diet plans to help others reach their goals. As mentioned earlier, I prioritise others before myself.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I was once a member of The Empire, and I see that many high-quality members that were once in this group are now members of Phoenix. I truly appreciate the goals of which Phoenix wish to achieve. I have seen your help desks regarding stress and depression, and this is an area which I specialise in. I would absolutely love to be able to give back to those whom may be experiencing a difficult time in their life. Your group ideologies are those which I respect, and personally wish to achieve.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I am a 16 year old part-time psychology student from Australia. I am very compassionate, caring and empathetic. I love to help others and appreciate their presence in my life. I try to make the best of every situation and attempt to be a good influence on those around me. I will always treat others with respect and avoid speaking badly behind backs. As a current victim of harassment, I am always there to help those that may be experiencing a difficult time in their lives. Throughout my life, I have gained and lost friends, meeting many different personalities and understanding many different problems which people may be facing. I have witnessed situations including the contemplation of suicide, depression and domestic abuse within my friends, family and even complete strangers. This experience allows me to relate to people so much more, and experiencing the issues that may be causing them problems in their lives.

Six months ago, a very close friend of mine was experiencing extreme levels of depression and had contemplated suicide twice, as a result of domestic abuse in her family as per alcohol and drug abuse by her parents. Over the course of one month, I had completely changed her outlook of the world, eventually giving her a new meaning to life. I would walk all the way from my house to hers just to be there for her when she needed me. These are the kinds of situations that I would love to help solve every day of my life. I hope to meet more people that I am able to help. ?

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I prioritise the importance of other people in my life, because I know that we all need each other. My priority is to create happiness and be the best influence that I can around others. My knowledge of psychology allows me to be there for other people much more as I understand at a scientific level what they are experiencing and how to help solve all of their problems.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on HackForums after first joining?

I have always loved the community that is HackForums, as it is a very active and spontaneous group of users. There are many intelligent, funny, compassionate and knowledgeable members on this site, which allows me to broaden my general knowledge through the community. I love to help other people learn and understand new concepts.

Anything else you would like to say:

I'd just like to thank the members of Phoenix for opening up applications for such a high quality and compassionate group.

I truly hope that you consider my application, thank you very much. ?

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

When I start to play a game, I achieve high rank.

No matter if it's online game, pay to win, pay to play, I will achieve high rank.

In League of Legends, I was in diamond league (Second highest)

In Counter Strike: Global Offensive, I am the second highest rank.

But playing games, are not my only skills.

I am a decent talker and listener. If someone has something to say, I will listen, and I will care.

Forgot to add, that my hobby is bowling.

Been bowling for around 6 years, not so much for the past 1½ year because school.

My record is 278 and average score / round in ranking is around 181.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am a gamer, so I do have the most posts in gaming sections (except the most is in Lounge), but I do not say that I am the most active in them.

When I browse Hack Forums, I almost always just 'view new posts'. If I see a thread that seems to interest me due to it's title, I will click on it and post if I feel like I have something to say.

I rarely go to a specific section, but if I do, it's often either some of the gaming section or computing section, also lurking in lounge and personal life a lot :3

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I have never experienced the joy of being in a group.

I feel like this could be a new experience for me to meet new people here on Hack Forums. Unless you are in a group, I feel it's kinda hard to make friends.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

The most memorable event happened in my life 1½ years ago.

I met a girl, and I thought we would be together for the rest of our lives.

It didn't happen and we broke up. It took me over a year to get over her, everyday in my mind, but when time passed, I just learned not to think about her. But I will say that I still think of her sometimes.

I learned that life is cruel, and never expect anything to last forever, and when something bad happens, you can't let it haunt you. You have to live like it didn't happen.

If there is anything that this life has taught me after 17 years, after being nobody, and then being somebody, is to never fucking stop, never put your head down and most of all, don't let anyone fucking tell what you, and what you can't do.

I think the main reason why I am I, why I play a lot of games, is because. I live quite far from downtown (around 30 minutes with car) and I do not have many friends here, and when I was younger, I didn't have any easy way to get there and I guess I had nothing else to do than play. Obviously I had few friends here, but not many.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I want to say that school is my number one priority right now, but I can't, but I will say that it's important to me that I will finish school, which should be in 1½ years.

I guess playing games is my priority right now..

Friends....friends, they are the most important thing to me right now.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I don't really know to be honest. I had never used forums before, maybe I thought I give this a chance. Turned out to be the right choice.

I joined back in 2012, when my friend suggested it to me.

Finland was on Hack Forums block list for almost a year, and I became active in August 2013.

Anything else you would like to say:

Good luck to everyone else who applied.

Sorry if that one part was a bit long..

Also, I might do voice application and send it to one of you, we'll see.

Edit. Just got accepted into studio :o

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I'm very experienced with Python, c#, PHP and HTML. Also i'm very good at marketing and SEO. I do not know how to prove that i actullay can do this.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm probably most active in the instinct sub-forum, just because you have a sort of freedom in these sub-forums.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

The group seems very, very high quality. It reminds me of 143, and i've always wanted to be in 143.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I got the skills of marketing and management from the school itself. I was the head of a band in school that had to manage it and I was successful to get an award for the band. I was also responsible for advertising and promoting the band. I had to make sure that the band got paid; this was a source of extra income and taught me management and leadership skills. I was always considered the smart guy in elementary.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The most important thing for me is probably my family.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I met some nice people here, starting selling/buying stuff, made me wanna stay here.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thanks for taking your time and reading my application, hope i get a message from you sooner or later.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I am a decent editor,i used to edit cod clips for a small youtube channel,but now i am part owner of one of the only trolling clans on youtube(in which i do editing,recording,trolling,graphics,basically anything youtube related).I have also learned a little code in the past(python,html,css)but i would need to starting learning again. I have decent knowledge of rats,botnets and setting things up server side.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I find myself mostly in the gaming section,graphics,and sometimes in the hacking section.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

The reason i would like to join Phoenix is because i believe everything is a learning experience and that if you gain more knowledge you gain power,and with knowledge and power you can achieve your life goals.(of course you need dedication).

Personally i don't like discussing my life because of the hardships,but then again we all must go through trials and tribulations to succeed so i guess a could share bits and pieces.I am originally from Georgia(i guess you could say I'm a peach *insert rimshot here),I was raised on a low income family(my mother is disabled and i have always lived with my grandmother)i have never lived in a home more than 2 years because of eviction,so i have bounced around from house to house over the years(up until 2014).Since my family has been almost been homeless i have gone without power and water for 6 months,lived off nothing but canned goods and i have still learned to live life to the fullest because someone is always going to be worse off than you.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My current priorities in life are getting a decent job and then starting a Roth IRA,then once i get out of high school i plan to enlist in the army.

What is most important to you?

School right now is most important to me because i need to graduate high school to go army.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Once i stumbled upon this community and found out how amazing it was to be apart of something as massive as hack forums i was instantly glued,mostly because people here come from all walks of life and the fact that you can help people.

Anything else you would like to say:

I love doctor who,supernatural,sherlock and basically anything anime.(was it necessary to add this?Yes). Also I would love to be a part of this group,but if i am not accepted then maybe i will be in the future.?

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I'm a 'techy' guy. I like to program and discuss about different topics. I'm also play games from time to time.

Which section are you most active in and why? I was active In the grieving section but I'm loosing up and starting to go more Into SSRP, Lounge, Rules... and Innuendo section.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: No real reason TBH. I just want to join a group to do more things with HF.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: Not that much to say about me. I'm 16, live in Belgium and go to an IT school. I have been diagnosed with autism. I notice with myself that I'm a person who likes sarcastic humor yet can be extremely serious on certain topics.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My family, education and just being happy.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The community, admins and pretty much anything you find here on HF make me want to stay. I tend to learn quite a lot of stuff here from gaming related to education to programming.

Anything else you would like to say: Hi, I'm straight.

Name: ScreemS / Ramon.

Age: 15.

Gender: Male.

Time Zone: UTC/GMT +1 hour.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: very honest, I don't have a certain skill, my passion lays in a lot of things, and I am not sure what I really want to do yet, I am only 15.

As of now, I am trying to make the community a better place, I am trying to help as much members as I can and I am trying to keep the less checked places clean off LQ posts.

I am reading through every application and I think "wow so many words"

I personally think that way less words can already tell the story.

Which section are you most active in and why? Marketplace.

this is the place I love to be in, I love to see what people come up with and I love reading through the thread, every time I get surprised of what people come up with.

Non Free Accounts.

I love to be in this section, as I deal with a lot of account selling myself, I run multiple products related to this, and I hope to expand my knowledge even more soon.

VIP.

I am trying my best to keep this as clean as possible, a lot of rules are broken here and I am doing my best to tell as much people that there are actually rules there, and this is mainly for the Request section.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I have known Tom and Kinky for a really long time now, and I miss being in a group that can support you in so many things, I think that phoenix is a group of honor and respect, and I hope that they can teach me even more and that I can help people in the name of phoenix.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I am a normal boy from the Netherlands, what makes me special? I try to look at things the different way, and I try to get every part of a story.

Fighting for justice is something I am really good at, at the moment someone is judged wrongly I will do my total best to help that person and I will see what I can do for them.

Something memorable in my life, I don't normally share this, but for this occasion I would like you guys to know about it.

I was a normal day at school and some friends and I where planning to go to the movies in Amsterdam, we often go with friends to the movies and Amsterdam has the nicest cinema. One of my friends was very down and he felt shit for some reason, we asked him what was wrong and we tried to help him but he told us he had some problems at home and that it will fly by and that he was just a bit sad at that moment, nothing more.

We though, well ok, we watched him all day because he was not the happiest kid around already so yeah.

The moment we where at Utrecht centraal we had to get on another train, he said he was going to the toilet and where were of course fine with that, we waited for about 30 minutes and we could not find him, and he was not at the toilets, until we heard a lot of police screaming and shouting that we had to get out of lane B4 (train lane) we ran away because they forced us to, and later we heard he jumped in front of the train, we where shocked, I did not sleep for days, I kept keeping images in my head..

That was the story, a lot of other things happened after, but that was mainly the police asking us what happened and stuff.

I am a person that loves to help people, and I will be there for people 24/7 when they need me, in good times or bad I will be there for them, and I will always be ready for people on HF to PM me when they have a question.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My family, and best friends.

I think this is pretty common sense, my family helps me when I need them and they have always supported me in every occasion and even when I was down at moments they came to me and helped me.

My best friends are also very important to me, my family is important but I cannot share everything with them, I can tell my best friends anything I want and I don't need to hide anything, I know that they are loyal and that they won't leak anything, they have been there all my live and I will most likely have the same friends I have now the next 50 years.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I think that HackForums has ment a lot for me, they have helped me a lot, at the moments I was down I just started reading the funny posts in the lounge and I laughed my ass off again, when people PM me for help, I love to help them, and see how positive everyone is, and at that moment even a shitty PM cannot bring me down any more, the community is great, like a family.

ZuGgY - November 4, 2014, 6:49 am

Name: ZuGgY

Age: Keeping it private, I apologize.

Gender: M

Religion: Atheist

State/Country: Keeping it private, I apologize.

Time Zone: Keeping it private, I apologize.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

- Decent with computers.
- Learning to code soon hopefully over time.
- Able to type over 90 WPM.
- Great listener and friend. I'm here to help, not only benefit myself.
- Decent spelling and grammar.
- Well educated.

I honestly don't believe I have much skills, sorry.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Lounge, because I find that's where all the action takes place on this forum. It's the most vivid and active forum of all, and where all the general talk goes on, sorta reminds me of those coffee houses or lounges in the Wild West of USA during the 1800s.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

To get to know more people and friends. To become apart of another clan, besides my other 2 current groups. I want to also learn more skills than my current boring ones like coding, sharing music, etc.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Hi, I go by ZuGgY on most forums. I consider myself a high music enthusiast, you can always catch me listening to music and headphones either on Spotify, YouTube, Pandora on my PC, or on my iPod. IRL I'm pretty shy and quiet, but on the internet, it's different as you can be whoever you want to me. I like to keep to myself and stay out of trouble in all situations, unless it involves friends or family, in which I'm loyal to. I feel obligated to help as best as I can when someone is in need of help, such as talking with people that have issues going on (such as feeling suicidal) and helping them out to cheer them up.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Family and being able to support them first. That will always be first. First comes hard work, then the fun play time.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Honestly, it's the members, activity, sections, and posts. HF is a great way to get to know people that you never have to meet IRL and keeps the time going by fast. Yes, there's a lot of bad shit here as well such as the hateful members, but I believe there's much more pros than cons, such as this being the largest MyBB forum on the internet.

Anything else you would like to say:

No, thank you for your time to read my application and have a great day.

Name: Allison Argent / Damon

Age:18

Gender: Male

Religion: N/A

State/Country: Kent, United Kingdom

Time Zone: GMT +00

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess

Communication:

I'm able to communicate with others easily and allow it so they're able to talk to me without any issues (I'll admit I used to be a very quiet guy during the young years ; broke out of that and became one of the most talkative).

Listening:

I've got a decent listening skill in which I'll be able to listen to every word you say, process this and then give you a reassuring answer towards your problem.

Teamwork:

I've been through jobs, working with a team Is something I'm good at, unless you're a dick In which case I have the odd opinion of not helping you with anything.

I'd be willing to use the spare-time in which I have to help others with problems, I'll use such methods as "PM on HF", "Teamspeak : Own created channel" & even "Ask.FM" (All of these you can hide your identity and you don't have to let others know what you're talking about as it would be confidential).

Wide Knowledge:

I've got a wide knowledge in which allows me to offer everything I know in which to help you, I'm mostly a brain filled with books on relationship problems, how to fix, how to improve your relationship etc. even had the odd cases of talking to both pairs about their issues and resolving the problem.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Section Most Active: Graphics & Innuendo

Why? : I'm active within the "Graphics" section, this is simply because I want to learn more within the Graphics type side, creating templates, signatures, avatars, icons etc.

I'm also somewhat active within the "Innuendo" section (Relationship sides), this is simply because I have a wide understanding and knowledge in which allows me to understand a lot of the problems within their.

I've dealt with, girlfriend issues, relationship problems even the odd cases where I'd have to give them my honest opinion of this person (he/she).

I suppose the main reason In which I'm active (some-what) in this area Is because I've faced everyday obstacles related to other peoples problems ; I've over-come a majority of those and I'd love to help others with this aswell.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I want to join phoenix simply because I want to share my knowledge and experience within the other members, along with being able to be able in which for others to trust me concerning private matters.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Paragraph 1:

I am a Bastard (A guy without a father/dad) ; This being said mainly because at the time my mum was young, dumb and in "Love", he saw an opportunity, found out she was pregs/pregnant, ran off. Never made contact after, don't want to know him ; been asked multiple times If I'd ever want to meet him and I'm adamant on this till this day.

To this day I have a strict point in which I stand by, no matter what I do with my life, If I make a mistake and get a girl pregnant, I'll stand by and support her regardless of what consequences may lie ahead (For the fear of myself turning into my no good of a father).

Paragraph 2:

I had a tight connection between my grandfather, he was the main reason In which today I turned into the man of today. He taught me so much within life, fishing, hard-work, patience and even had a good sense of humor in which he'd put to use on his wife (He passed away around 4 years ago now, still go fishing with my step-father on the date he passed for a week to enjoy something in which he'd brought me up on).

Paragraph 3:

I have a strict rule about any relationship between a man & female, If you hit a female or a child, no matter If you're drunk, have an illness etc. You should honestly be hung, dislike how if you into someone or touch someone on the shoulder they flinch.

I've had past relationships like this, even one of my best mates had this problem (she wouldn't tell me anything ; I pursued and she cracked, she told me everything, I helped her in whatever way I could and she's now been with a guy who has treated her good ever since and she has got her confidence and trust back with them, she thanked me not so long ago, we still talk to this day).

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Priorities: My Priorities within life lie with my family.

Most Important: My little sister, she's someone whom has always got a smile on her face, no matter what has happened within our past, she understands me & we have wild conversations.

She also has a good understanding of people and tells me if they like someone I bring round, why and when she doesn't like the, why not.

Example : I brought someone I was dating for like 5 months to mine (We shall call her Libby ; not her real name), she came round with me and my sister went all shy (she never goes shy), later that day we me and Libby were watching some horror movies, my little sister decided to come jump on top her and just lay with her and me, she fell asleep.

Yet my sister if she doesn't like them, she won't talk to them, won't be nice to them, she'll be a right little bitch/shit and just make that girls day a living nightmare..

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on HackForums after first joining?

The Idea of meeting new people, exchanging methods/knowledge and offering services for others, this Is what has mainly kept me here.

Anything else you would like to say:

I wish good luck to anyone else who is applying for Phoenix & I hope that I'll be able to help anyone with a serious need.

Thanks for your time,

Allison Argent / Damon

State/Country:

Norway.

Time Zone:

GMT+1 during winter and GMT+2 during summer (I think, I don't understand daylight savings)

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

Not 100% sure what you're looking for here, guess I'll just come up with some random properties / skills of mine.

This one is probably going to be really short, I am awful at finding out things about myself.

I feel I have the ability to empathise with others really well, I often find myself trying to help someone out of their problems despite me having problems of my own that would normally require most of my time. Everyone > Me is what is going through my mind at all times (pretty much). I don't know if this would make me an autophobic or just very empathetic.

I am dealing with depression at almost all times (but I have had a good couple of weeks right now), so I'd like to think of myself as experienced in the matter, which is why I try helping people out of depression rather than failing in the attempt of fixing myself.

I'm an easy person to speak to, yet not too clingy when it comes to conversations.

I consider myself talented in playing the piano (not as talented as I would like to be though), played since I was 5 on a tiny piano with 3 octaves, and I currently have a keyboard that I play on occasionally.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in Instinct SF, SRPP, Health Wise, Innuendo, and some gaming sections

I'd like to think that I am pretty clever, hence why I spend my time in SRPP. I also like seeing other people's opinions in this section.

I work out quite often (up to 7 times a week actually) so I consider myself quite experienced in the "Health Wise" field, hence the activity in the Health Wise SF.

I suppose this is the one you'll care about though:

I visit the Innuendo section occasionally because I like listening to other people's problems, and seeing how a lot of people are having it worse than me.

I suffer from what you may know as a bipolar disorder, one week bad, one week good etc. and I like to visit the Innuendo SF on my bad weeks.

I have been pretty good for the past 1-2 months now, so I haven't really posted much, but I do occasionally visit it to read through it.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I feel I can contribute a lot within the group, having a lot of experience in depression and dealing with different kind of difficult life situations.

I also feel this group might help if I have real life issues of my own, rather than getting bashed on by the countless trollers in the Innuendo section.

How can you contribute to our subforum?

I can contribute through bringing a lot of activity. I have quite a lot of free time on my hands, and I like to spend most of it on Hackforums. I'm currently spending most of my time in the Instinct section (hence I've gone from 0 posts in the SF to 1500 in less than 2 months), and I'd like to have a couple more sections to be active in.

I like usergroups especially because I get easily annoyed by the amount of trolling in the actual forum.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Three years ago a friend of mine, the best friend of mine at the time, died in a car accident on his way to school. Only 3 months later my uncle, who was also one of my best friends, lost his ability to walk and talk after he fell down the side of a mountain breaking his neck and pretty close to everything else.

This experience was devastating, and it has really opened my eyes on how easy it is to lose someone, yet hard it is to get over them.

I believe that this incident changed me a lot during the three following years, before it happened I was happy all day and all night, staying out with friends and having no problem doing whatever work is required of me, but after I can barely even make new friends in fear that something will happen to them.

I have a nice set of friends right now, and I'm hoping they'll stay around for at least a couple of years.

I don't think I've ever spoken publicly about this, at least not on this forum.

This was only one paragraph, but it was pretty long, so I'll stop writing

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Right now my priorities would be my education and staying healthy.

The most important things in my life are the people surrounding me, I try to keep them safe so that I won't have to suffer the same thing that I went through in 2011 (Read up.)

I also spend quite a bit of my time with my family, but not even remotely close to as much as I'd like to.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I joined in 2012, and came back this year because I had no friends.

Spoiler (Click to View)

Yes really.

I stayed because the community here is fantastic, I can pretty much ask about anything and get the perfect answer only after 3 troll posts.

I've had a lot of fun here.

Anything else you would like to say:

If you wonder about anything just PM me.

The application turned out shorter than I had imagined but oh well, I am terrible about describing myself without making myself look like an autophobic self-loather.

I really hope to be accepted into this group. I never got the chance to apply for an innuendo group before, yet I've always wanted to be apart of one.

Thanks for taking the time to read my application.

Edit: I don't like my voice, and I'm awful at speaking in front of a camera, which is the reason I wrote this down instead of videoing or recording it.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:FPS Gamer, pretty good with the computer I'd say. Haven't really learned to code, and I know CPA to an extent.

Which section are you most active in and why?: According to my post activity it's the giveaway section. Haven't really posted there in the past 2 months though.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I've seen Phoenix around for quite awhile, you guys seem pretty close as a group itself. After reading your morals, I noticed mine are pretty similar. I prefer to help people, but haven't really realized that till a recent event that happened. Also your group name is the name of the town I live in ^.^

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:Welp, this doesn't really mean much I guess, but.. I was at K-mart one morning and I had just been shopping with friends. I saw a guy collapse right on the ground. I stuck some candy in his mouth, and ended up getting him a coke. Just nice knowing I was able to help someone. (He passed out due to not having any sugar). Honestly it's a great feeling being able to help someone, even if they don't need it.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?: Family is probably most important to me. I always feel like families, friends, and co-workers should come first. Even if you dislike someone you're always able to help them. Simplest of things, can make the biggest impact. You never know what could make someones day.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?: Hard to say. I like some of the community. I'd probably say the fact that I can help answer people's questions, and hopefully make them a member long term aswell. If I were able to keep a handful of members here, just by answering their questions, I think that'd be a great feeling for me overall.

Anything else you would like to say: Hrm, not sure what else to say. Have a good one :Blackhat:

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I'm an avid software developer and spend much of my time participating in Computer Sciences, ranked #4 in the state of Texas and hoping to with the HP Codewars this year. PM me for additional information, certificates or proof.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Lounge, Innuendo, Marketplace, and Junk (because 850 posts on my doxe-us thread were lost).

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I'm confident that whilst wearing the userbar I'll bring prestige to the group, whether it's for giveaways, help desks, or releasing a project, all respect will be shown through the name of the Phoenix.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

If you would like to hear my entire stories view some of my threads in the Innuendo section, or feel free to PM me.

I'm currently experimenting with different religions, and as much as I would hate to say it, I'm probably unreligious. My knowledge in other cultures has enabled me to help other members facing difficulties.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Computer Science, exploration of my own psychology & mind, and dedication to the HF marketplace.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was referred here by my friend on another forum early last August, since then it has become an unyielding habit.

Anything else you would like to say:

My presence to the group will now be of distaste, if at any time you're upset towards my actions feel free to expunge me from the group.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:I am very strong within the topics of Philosophy, Marketing, Business, depression and gastroenterology. Most people in my group of friends come to me with any questions regarding these topics. It is ironic because today at basketball tryouts my friend said his parents were pressuring him to get on the A Team, he said he doesn't want to be because of all the politics.

Which section are you most active in and why? Health Wise, because I have things in my life that revolve around health issues and topics.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I look up to EVERYONE in Phoenix, I don't say that either because I want to kiss your butts. I really liked the synopsis of the group and what they do, to add to this.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I have to diseases which are both chronic these are both named "Colitis and Crohn's disease". When I lost my grandma and my parents separated I went through severe depression, I threatened to kill myself and wanted to leave the world. I am now mentally and physically stable and excited for my adventures in life. I am a very enthusiastic kid, I listen to what is told and carry out that task.

I have had my up and downs like everyone else. I strive to be the best but people always put me down. I deal with stress and many complications throughout each one of my days on Earth. Mostly I am a very good kid and I like adventuring to places that are a new "space" for me.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities in life include: family and friends, school, marketing and solving issues of family and friends.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? What really made me stay here on HackForums is the Health Section. The health section made it fun to be a "practice" doctor and I really enjoyed doing it. I am no longer active because all of the threads are about working out.

Anything else you would like to say: I would like to say I am very happy I have the opportunity to join Phoenix and am ready to fulfill my fellow members' requests, If you have any questions PM me. As you can tell my usertitle is "I'm the Orchid in the Daisy field." meaning that I stand out. I really hope I am granted a chance to join this outstanding group. Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I am working on becoming a professional web/graphic designer which hopefully I will see. I am great at giving people real life advice due to everything I have been through. People skills - Talking to people about their problems, helping them out, supporting them through it is my best aspect. I know it's not something major, but it's something big for me.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Innuendo section now because I am at a point of my life where I am not having the best of luck and I am using my experiences to help people get through problems in their life; whether it be relationship related, life related, whatever. I try to relate, put myself in their position and be there for them. I have been inactive in all sections lately due to how sick I have been feeling and being back in the hospital.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

This group fits me perfectly. It's all about being a family and that's what I need - People who love and support you online. I've been through a lot and have been going through a lot and could use a group of people who will support you and not troll you.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

My name is Mahdy. I currently suffer from two severe stomach diseases and a bone disease causing me to have been in and out the hospital the last two years. This thread sums up the way I see life and will make you truly see why I belong in this group.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My loved ones and then my health and that's that. Regardless what is going on with me, my loved ones come first. I do whatever I can to be there for them and support them with whatever help they need, even when I need them.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The support of every group I've been in and every person I met made me continue to keep pushing and not give up.

Anything else you would like to say:

I really would love to be in this group. It's emotional aspect fits me perfectly. I'll have another group of people I can call my family to talk to just about anything without the fear of getting laughed at or trolled. I feel like, with Phoenix, it'll be another "home" group. I tried making this as long as I could while being in the hospital. I am sorry for the length, I saw the recruitment and despite the pain I am in, I needed to do my best to apply because everyone on HF that truly knows me, including people in this group, know this group will be perfect for me. Also, I have a story I wrote in regards to my life. I think this will also show why I deserve to be in here: <http://mahdysstory.wordpress.com/>

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

Unlike some people here, I'm not going to list the skills I have in Gaming, Marketing, etc. I know that's not what Phoenix is looking for.

I'm particularly proud of my intellectual abilities. I have been able to accomplish outstanding success in my academic career, and am still growing in knowledge every day. I have been fortunate enough to share these abilities with the hackforums community by providing a free homework service. It is currently closed due to the fact that I was getting way too many requests (over 100) but I have completed most of them. If I am accepted into phoenix I would have no problem re-opening it with the phoenix name: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4436895>

I'm also a very emotionally strong person. I've been through many hardships in my life such as: losing my mother, having to move away from my friends, losing my grandfather, and sadly, a lot more. I think with my emotional stability I can help other in relieving stress and depression. Or, I can just simply be someone to talk to, who has been through it all.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Currently I am the most active in the lounge, currency exchange, and l'appel du vide subforum sections.

Lounge - I like to participate in the various Hackforums discussions so I can interact with my fellow members, I also try to help people out where ever I can.

Currency Exchange - Looking into my business side of Hackforums, I am a trusted exchanger in the currency exchange section, and have completed over 100 exchanges and over $5,000 worth of exchanges.

L'appel Du Vide - As this is a great group, and one of the only ones I am apart of, I try to be very active in it's sub forums, participating in various intellectual debates.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?

Currently my biggest motive in joining Phoenix is the fact that I am running a Student Support help desk with 4 Phoenix members - Justin Timberlake, Bugatti, Rivalry, and Killamuvz.

We may not have much attention on our thread at the moment, but we are going to be advertising it a lot more, very soon - with signatures, and possibly even a paid sticky in education nation.

Not only that, but I am a laid back individual who is always opened to helping people, and making new friends.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Ever since the beginning of my high school career, I have tended to stand out from every other person I have met in my endeavors. I see countless people every single day wasting their lives, guided by an unfortunate misdirection in their life, which leads them to spend countless hours spending their energy on things that aren't important in life. Despite this, I have excelled in every subject that has been thrown at me: From Mathematics to Sciences, I am cognizant and knowledgeable in a multitude of studies.

Is it due to this, that I opened up my own free homework service here on Hackforums to utilize my vast knowledge to help benefit the community. I believe that with my knowledge, I can contribute to topics both inside and outside of the Phoenix sub forums.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Currently the most important things in my life is my family and school. Of course nothing is more important than your own family, but I also take a great care and put in a lot of effort in my schooling, as you'll go nowhere in life without a good education.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was first introduced to these forums from my friend Buzzle. This may seem like something a bit sad, but Hackforums is a huge social outlet in my life, I have met so many great people here that make me want to continue posting, contributing, and being apart of this awesome community. Not only that, but I am constantly learning and expanding my knowledge each day on Hackforums.

I'm an avid reviewer who enjoys making album, movie, and show reviews as well as recommendations.

I'm an amateur graphics designer (who makes amateur thread layouts) who admittedly needs some practice.

I also recently picked up a tablet so I can learn to animate soon, hopefully.

My most active section is Anime Adventures, with over 1100 posts in the section. This is because I'm an avid fan of animation and the work that goes behind it. I love discussing it with others, and the subforum is just the best way to do so. I feel I've contributed to this section greatly. Here are some notable threads I've made in the section:

I want to join Phoenix to make acquaintances with other helpful, knowledgeable members of HackForums. The members of Phoenix are all very well spoken, and set a good example all around HF. It'd be a great way to share my skills with others (including all members of HackForums), while they share theirs with me.

I'm an 18 year old (pretty cool dude, if I say so myself) who's soon to be a college student in the Spring. I moved to the US when I was very young, and only kept a few close friends throughout my school years. I'm really into running track, art, and media. I've been a fan of art for as long as I could remember. Not much of me has changed since I was a kid; I still only keep a few close friends, as I'm typically pretty quiet.

As of now, my priorities are both my education and my family. Both are pretty regular, but important things to me and my life. I'm about to go to college in the Spring, so focusing on my education is a pretty important factor to having a better future. My education is important because it will determine my future career (I hope to be a computer science major). My family is important because they have supported me all of the way through, 100%, no matter what choices I make.

Honestly, the members. At first, I think I joined to buy some things off of the marketplace, but I explored the site and found many interesting and cool topics that were being discussed. I started talking with members, having discussions, and eventually it led to HackForums being a regular part of my life.

I was going to make a voice or video application, but it looks like I was cursed with bad timing, as I caught the flu yesterday. Anyways, thanks for taking the time to read my application.

Leadership- I have been to three leadership academies and I was an instructor in one.

Communication- I have taken multiple courses on communication and have read at least 30 books around communication.

Fitness-I have always loved working out and have dedicated several hours every day to heavy lifting or intense cardio and I will be available to help fellow members out with supplementing and workouts etc..

Lifestyle-I have read and listened to hundreds of hours of text related to hacking your own life and becoming the ultimate version of yourself.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I don't really set myself to one section but I love SRPP.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I would love to join Phoenix because I love the leaders and the members in the group. I would love to be part of something bigger than myself and do giveaways and helpdesks as I see you guys do a lot. As well as share what I am learning with everyone in the name of Phoenix.

I can say HF literally changed my life, I seriously couldn't imagine my life if I haven't signed up in January 2k11. My name's Rohan and I am from India, I am 19 years old and I like to learn new things everyday, everything in my life changed after meeting and making a specific person a very deep part of my life, I won't say who, but he has a huge part in making me who I am today.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

- >Family.
- >College.
- >Handling clients on Hf with their problems.
- >Making cash. ?
- >Donating some of what I earn.
- >Helping parents and making them proud of me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

After joining I was inactive for the first 10 months, after then I started picking up more interest in hacking then gaming(dota), but then I left again for 6 months because of high school final year and when I came back I made a friend whom I mentioned above that plays part in my life being the way it is now. I guess that's the only reason of me being active. ?

Anything else you would like to say:

Shoutout to Eternal, Coppersan, and noob adam. And sorry for my grammar.

Name: You can call me Thor.

Age: 16.

Gender: Male.

Religion: I don't believe in anything.

State/Country: Norway.

Time Zone:(UTC+01:00) Amsterdam, Berlin, Bern, Oslo, Roma, Wien

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I am pretty good with computers and gaming. I have started my own hosting company for example and I am mostly always bringing good help if anyone needs help with computers. I am using my computer most of my time, except when I watch tv, eating and doing homeworks ? I have been interested in computers since I was young and I have a huge potential to help with computers etc. and to have a good community.

Which section are you most active in and why? I am mostly in the sections buyers bay, ebook bazaar, gaming and a little computing. I like all those stuff. I like to see if people needs anything bought or so.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: Because my opinion is that this is a pretty good group and I'd like to bring my skills into it. I'd like to help people and also get friends. I am a guy who loves getting new friends, helping and having fun. Enjoy life when you have it ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: I am just being myself. I don't want to be like everyone else when it comes to the most. Well, I play very popular games and so, but I like it how it is myself. I am a very nice person with a huge potential to help and such. I am 16 years old now and I feel like I am beginning to get serious with computers and that. Well, if you get known with me and maybe play games, I think you will see me as a good guy. I think people will describe me as nice and a happy guy. I like making new friends and enjoying life, that's how I roll.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? The most important must be family and friends. I don't think there is other things which is higher.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Because this forum is fabulous. I just enjoy all the people here and it's a pretty good community. I like most of the stuff in the sections and I feel I am beginning to be known here soon, although I have only been here for a year only. I'd highly recommend this forum to other people, it's lovely to be here.

Anything else you would like to say: I hope all of my best I am going to be a member of this group. I wish all other members good luck and have a fantastic day. Greetings from Unmasking.

Expels' Phoenix Application

Name: Sam / Expels

Age: 14

Gender: Male

Religion: None

State/Country: Ohio / USA

Time Zone: EST

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I'm quite good at marketing, legit, and well working products. I currently sell eBooks, and accounts to various things (mainly auctions.) I'm working on a few new projects to hopefully boost up and help the marketplace positively.

I have people skills, I can talk with someone and understand what they're saying and attempt to help as good as in my power.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in The Lounge and eBook Bazaar.

The Lounge: I enjoy general talk, I like seeing what's going on for the day or hearing current / new stories.

eBook Bazaar: I'm constantly providing support or helping my customers, or replying to questions & such.

Vices: I enjoy seeing & reading about drugs from people and where they got them, or stories of getting ripped off. Currently BMO is about to kill himself because he can't get some a-pvp. Just shows how serious drug addiction can get.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I would like to join Phoenix because it's a role model group, similar to The Empire. It's gone through some changes and it's a very hard group to join and requires skill and activity to join. I feel like if I join people will respect me more, and I'll be a better member of HF.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

My name is Sam, I came to HF from a sniping clan via skype. I was asking where I could get some XBL and they referred me here. After viewing the Free Services & Giveaway section I started really enjoying the forum and upgraded to l33t. That was back before the userbar update and I just started from there. After my account got Phished back in April and I got RF'd, I've been semi-inactive. What really was bad was in July someone reverse SE'd my ISP and hacked all my shit. Luckily after recovering it all I'm active and better than every with Master Donor, and my eBook sales thread revived. I'm only a few weeks away from being a 1 year member here ?

Where do your priorities in life like? What is most important to you?

Family

Friends

Hobbies (Skating, vaping, etc)

School

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
The free services and giveaway section. After I received my first rep I definitely started enjoying the site. After upgrading to l33t I was LOVING the forum. I just stayed after that, started reading up in the lounge and just grew from there.

Anything else you would like to say:
I was previously in The Empire twice, I hope you can remember me as a good member. Hopefully I get accepted ?

Which section are you most active in and why?

I would say the graphics section or the rewards and favors section.
I PM more then post. The reason that I'm active on those section is that I like to help people with graphics or with other things.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I want to meet people and make new friends. I want to learn new things from and also teach others.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

As you know my name is Jon. I was born in Vietnam moved to Canada when I was 8 years old. I love helping out as many people as I can in my neighborhood or though out the city. Everyday I go and volunteer at the Boys and Girls Club in my city I am currently pursuing a career in nursing. I also on my time enjoy doing sports such as Taekwondo.
I love to read books (Sci-Fi/ Fantasy mostly).

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Definitely education at the moment. I want to become a nurse after university.
The most important thing to me is my family. Making them happy makes my happy.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

My friend referred me to this site, and I love being her ever since.
I enjoy helping out people in this community that's why I stay.

There are certain amount of open slots. Applications better be really good then.

Going to be straight-out-honest, some of these applications are complete ... ???

Seriously, if you want to have a chance of getting in this group, don't make your applications look like it took 5 minutes.

Want some feedback from me as of right now?

- Only some applications stand out to me currently. (By some I mean 3-5.)
- You still have time to edit your application to make it better. I recommend you do that if you feel your application needs to be edited.

Age: 18

Gender: Male
Religion: NA
State/Country: CT/North America

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I would say that I don't have much skills at things right know. I probably have skills at things I haven't discovered yet. We all do. The skills I have right know would have to be with computers and fencing. I've been in computers since I was 12, they have always interested me. I've learned a lot about computers over the years. Parts in particular. I've gone through 2 labtops over my years, just a few months ago built my first PC. The computer came out great and runs great. (I have pictures if you would like to see. My 2 second skill would be Fencing. Fencing started up in my school in 2004 from 3 kids who wanted to do it. Are school was one of the first schools to have Fencing in the state. Since then pretty much every school has Fencing in my state. I'm a senior in High School and I've been Fencing since I was a freshmen. We go to massive competitions in are state and also scrimmages with other schools.

Which section are you most active in and why? As of right know the section I'm most active in is the Android sub-forum. This sub-forum interests me as I've had Android phones since 2 years ago coming from apple. I'm always browsing the Android Reddit sub-forum everyday to see what is new or changed. Also XDA I browse daily.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I want to join Phoenix because I've seen members in the group around the forum since the group was formed. Everyone in the group seems knowledgeable and nice. I also miss The Empire and Tibit ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: I'm a very outgoing person, I always want to hangout with friends as much as I can and have fun. I hate being a lone and not doing anything. Something quite memorable that happened in my life would have to be passing my drivers test and getting a job. Passing my drivers test was so exciting for me because I have a lot more freedom know. Getting a job was also pretty cool because I've met some awesome people and its nice making your own money.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? The priorities in my life lie in my everyday life. I have priorities in my life everyday that I have committed myself to or have to do. The most important things to me is getting school work done, hanging out with friends, spending time with my girlfriend and visiting my family when I have time.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I joined HF for the griefing section for Minecraft. After a while I left that section and started to explore the rest of the group. I really stayed around when The Empire was still on the forum.

Anything else you would like to say: Thanks for this limited time recruitment ?

zSerity - November 5, 2014, 4:37 pm

Seeing some really nice looking apps and competition. I wish I could make a video or voice app but I can't at the moment.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I can program, know a lot about crypto currency, and am amazing with computers including building them. I currently know java, and a little about the .net framework, and I am getting into web applications, like java-script. I have been using crypto currencies for many years, and also have built 4 computers, and am very active on reddit /r/buildapc.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I have started to post again after hibernation, and have become active in crypto currency, and I want to become more active in the pc customization section.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I really want a group to be a part of. I think it is awesome becoming part a a group because you meet new people, and can learn new things, plus I feel some of the things I can do can really help the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Let's start off with my family. I come from a Upper-Middle class family. We are a family that has earned our place through hard work and dedication. My grandfather has started over 5 very successful businesses, and I become a very good investor, and my father is a very hard working man. In our family we don't hire people we do the work ourselves. From this I have become very hard working. I started caddying very young and moved up the ranks very fast, making a lot of money. Now why did I tell you this? I want you to know I am a dedicated student. If you want to see my report card I just printed It and I have all Honors classes, with one B and the rest A's. I will work day and night for this group, and hopefully make it the best group possible.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Right now I have so much that is important to me, but when I don't I always must find something to do. I really want to get into the best collage possible. I am shooting for University of Illinois, which is somewhat of a hard school to get into. Now that summer is over and I don't have a job, I am trying to earn money online, and become more active on this site. The most important thing tome right now I to prepare myself for the real world, by learning as much as possible, and also help people learn themselves, especially on here.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Well I am not as active as I wanted to be, and just now have started to become active. I have loved this community from the start. I get so much shit when I tell people I am from the HackForums, but I try to explain to them what this site really is. This is a community, a family that teaches each other, and helps each other learn and grow. In any section you are in people are helping each other by answering questions, or giving things away. This is not just a community, we are a family.

Anything else you would like to say:

I would just like to thank you guys for this opportunity to join your group, and good luck to everyone applying.

I am a firm atheist. I just feel that religion is so regional. That if I were born in Afghanistan I would be a Muslim damning all other religions to hell. But if I were born in the United States I would be a Christian and I would be damning all the other religions to hell. I just feel that if there was a God there would be a much better way of telling which religion was right. Also, each religious doctrine is heavily flawed with contradictions and inaccuracies that makes me not want to be religious. Sorry for getting all serious on you hahahh :) ENOUGH SERIOUSNESS FOR THE REST OF THE APPLICATION.

I kind of suck at life hahahah :) I'm not specifically good at one thing but decent at a bunch things. I have recently been learning C++ and I am getting pretty decent at it.

Code #include <iostream> using namespace std;

int solve(int, int, char);

int main()

    int solution, num1, num2;
    char oper;

    cout << "Calculator\n-----\n" << endl;
    cout << "Syntax:\n" << endl;
    cout << "1 + 3\n" << endl;
    cout << "Operators: +, -, *, /\n" << endl;
    cout << "Equation: ";

    cin >> num1 >> oper >> num2;
```

    solution = solve(num1, num2, oper); cout << "Answer: " << solution << endl;

    cin.ignore();
    cin.get();
    return 0;

int solve(int num1, int num2, char oper)
```

    switch(oper)

case '+':
return num1 + num2;
case '-':
return num1 - num2;
case '*':
return num1 * num2;
case '/':
return num1 / num2;
default:
cout << "\nIncorrect operation! Try again: ";
cin >> num1 >> oper >> num2;
solve(num1, num2, oper);
} Might be a bit sloppy x)

I am also somewhat decent at GFX (but thats for you to judge BB). I did my signature and my avatar and a couple of random users signatures.

I love love League of Legends and I play that quite a bit. Im currently Gold 1 if you know what that means.

I have the most posts in League as of right now but I dont really post in it that much anymore. Recently I have been posting only in the SRPP section. Even the SRPP can be pretty toxic, I have been really enjoying it.

I know some people in the group and all of the people seem superr nice and it would be an awesome group to be apart of. I really love you guys <33333

Phoenix has always been one of my dream groups and when you opened the apps I got really excited hahahha.

Hello :) My name is Jared. I am a very optimistic, and happy person. I look at the positives in life, but I don't ignore the negatives. I call myself quite lucky because I have found one of my true goals in life at such a young age. Making people happy is all I want in this world. If I were to die, I would be happy as long as I made a couple of people smile along the way. Which sounds extremely cheesy and cliché but its who I am. I would defiantly describe myself as a peoples person. People say I have a way of telling when something is wrong and for some reason everybody can be really open with me without even knowing me for very long.

I guess you could call me an emotional person. Not in the way you might seem its just I have very strong emotions for my friends and family. I love way too easy (which is causes a lot of trouble with my girlfriends). I don't have mild emotions I have extremely strong ones. When I'm happy (99% of the time) I am really happy, when Im sad, I am really sad. There isn't much in-between. But then again Its a rare occasion when I get mad or sad.

I spend most of my time playing on the computer and hanging out with my friends. I go to a lot of parties but only sober because I don't need to be high to have fun, hahahahah :) I try to be friends with everyone because i love people so much and human interaction. It defiantly did not used to be that way. For a long time I suffered from deep depression and used to hide in my room all day. It sort of switched, my primary emotion used to be sadness with little to no happy and once I hit freshman year (I'm a junior now), through amazing experiences I got out of my depression and now I am soooooo happy its ridiculous.

One of them would be the happiness of others. I dont care to much about my own for some reason. Making people smile and laugh is all I want in the world.

My dream job is to be an actor. I have been in drama all throughout high school and even parts of middle school. Even though it is a long shot, it would be my dream to be an actor and spread smiles that way :)

I just really liked the community. But the thing that kept me here was probably the diversity of the sections. When I first joined I was really into the hacking element but as I kept on the site I really got into the Anime, Gaming, and SRPP sections.

I love you all and could you rub my nipps please?

In all seriousness though, this would be an excellent group to be apart off an hopefully I can prove to you that I would be a good member!

Which section are you most active in and why? League of Legends and the Lounge/Writers because I like talking to people.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: Because Kinky is leading it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: Well I just finally finished recovering from a break and surgery that happened on my shoulder. The thing shattered in nine places and I'll remember that.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? The three F's in life: Friends, Family, Food.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Just the active community convinced me to stay.

I know some programming languages. I know HTML,CSS,JavaScript(Basics),Pascal,VB.NET(Opened a MC Gen with VB.NET skills), SQL.

Which section are you most active in and why?

So I'm active in 3 sections. Lounge,Coding and Begginer Hacking section. I like longue because I like to laught with other people storys, Coding because I love coding like I said before and Beginner Hacking because I like to learn and help members with my knowledge.

I think I'm active at 3 sections! Longue,Coding and Beginner Hacking.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I would like to join this group because I want to share and get knowledge about everything. Learning and sharing knowledge is the best you can do in life!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Hello. I'm 1Byte I'm from Portugal but I was born in England. I'm still at school learning programming and computer science.

Since I was a kid I've allways liked the Computer and Internet world. When I got my first computer with internet connection was like new world to me. I got hooked to it in a few days. After that every day I come online. About my 10 years old I really started understanding more of computers. More than the average people. That was when I realized this is my career. "This is what I want to do for living", that's what I said. Since that date I started learning more and more.

Someday (when I was 16) a friend told me about this amazing forum where we could learn and share knowledge with people, and here I am!

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The most important thing in the world to me is my family! After that is my knowledge, and it will allways be!

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I stay active at HF because here I could and I can learn new things each day. I can help members with my knowledge, I can even learn about small business. If I never found out HF, I would never learn how to open my own shop.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Lounge. Most fun and great area to be around, anyone is welcome and able to talk in!

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I believe that I want to join Phoenix because it's a HQ group dedicated to helping others and always will. They don't worry about the userbar design or the people's hate.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I am a great kid with my own problems in life. I don't really struggle with friendship or helping others and I can really take the lead if needed. I head a great leadership skill inside of me. I love to help others and make sure that they come first and get a great laugh or have a great time instead of crying or sitting in a room. I have lived in a southern community most of my life and I feel like that has really made who I am...

Me being grown up in the south with christian ways and learning respect and more has really changed me but I choose not to believe with a god anymore. I have been frowned upon by some in the past but in my opinion I don't care. I act like it doesn't matter and I keep moving on. With this attitude I have taught others to act the same way and changed a lot of people I have met.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities lie in my family and me. What is most important to me is my friends and family and especially my self.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Seeing a great community of people who are fun and great to be around. I met a lot of people in the past who have helped me in my journeys.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the sections that interest me most in the View New Posts tab. I was mostly active in the Beginner Hacking Section when I first joined this section though.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I was once a part of TE, and I know that Tibit and a whole bunch of other members in this group are pure HQ. I like that this group is breaking the meta and doing things that other groups haven't done before. Bravo.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

An explanation of what makes me who I am would have to be Technology. I am so surrounded by technology, that I find that I can't go from one room to another without some sort of technology that I am drawn too (It doesn't help having a job involving Technology either [:). Without technology, I don't think that I would be the same person that I am today. Technology makes me happy, and I love the wonderful things and people I can find on it.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life most likely are towards my family, my work, and my girlfriend. They are the most important things to me, and I don't think I would be the same without them.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Honestly, I began helping people and I stayed because of the first reputation I received on this forum. It showed me that I was doing something good, and that I should keep it up. Reputation doesn't really mean a whole lot to me anymore, but I like the kind of person it made me here on this forum.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am active in both the Philosophy/Debate sections and the Innuendo sections. I naturally enjoy debate/intellectual topics (hey look, a hacking forum!) so it is something I pop into occasionally if there is an interesting topic. As for innuendo well..I'm trans. So...anything regarding sexuality or gender will naturally be my area of interest/focus for reasoning such as "I think I've got a unique outlook to provide" or just that I try to help others when I can, especially if I can relate to what they are working through.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I feel like this specific group will better connect me to well-minded individuals in addition to providing me unique opportunities to serve others where I could not have done myself.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Alrighty, I'm a trans woman in the middle of transition (hormones, voice, laser, the works...so much stuff) who works fulltime as an IT, and will be going back to school to finish my degree in Computer Science. I have a very avid interest in helping those who are struggling in either sexuality or gender (I've had both of them flip on their heads on me and had to (and still dealing) with unaccepting parents). I like to debate...a lot, so I can be a little assertive at times. My preference is to debate (when appropriate) for the sport of it, not for emotional investment, I try to avoid gender or sexuality debates because of how close to my heart they are.

I spend my time with friends, something regarding transition, working, or playing Minecraft, Factorio, or Dragon Age at the moment, haha. In the future, I think I want to write my own fantasy book series in addition to working in Network Security for some time before working as a professor at some university in Computer Science. I love learning and sharing my knowledge with others. I feel like teaching is my way of giving back all the times I've bothered people with questions stemmed from my own curiosity. :)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Financial stability first, I do not want to have to always be worrying if I can pay for x or pay for y. I don't need much to be happy, but I want to ensure that for what I do need, I can easily provide it without much stress.

Secondly, I do eventually want a family with a husband and kids.

And thirdly, I think traveling around the world to different countries and learning about different religions, cultures, and languages would be the most amazing thing....ever. ^^ So if I have extra money, I'd love to do that too.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Primarily the debate and innuendo sections, haha. I bonded with a couple people along the way.

I've long not had much interest in hacking. I do mostly programming these days or gaming.

Anything else you would like to say:

While I know voice/video applications are preferred, I would like to request due to....what is going on in my life that if possible my situation be considered on why I may be hesitant to do that. :) Maybe a few months from now but I'd like to request some privacy in that area. Thank you for your consideration!

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

One major skill I possess is social engineering. One thing I am a bit ashamed to admit is I have eWhore'd for hours a day for about a month straight. But during those times I myself think that my SE skills have sharpened and improved greatly. Other than my SE skills I would say that I am able to make decent graphics. (My portfolio here) I've been having a lot of free time and decided to invest a lot of my time into the forums and learn more about Photoshop and Cinema 4D to provide GFX to the community. One last thing I guess you could call a skill is that I am quick to learn things and am very open-minded to new ideas.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I have been on the Marketplace section a lot recently. I find the concept of starting a possible business or network with others very very enjoyable. I am always looking for potential people to work with and just enjoy the business side of HF. I have recently been lurking on the Webmasters and Coding sections as I am trying to learn programming starting from HTML.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I know that opportunities to join groups focused around community and fellowship is a once in a lifetime opportunity. I think that this group perfectly fits with my persona. I love to help out other users and see the forums be a positive place to be.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Ever since I got my first computer I was always looking for somewhere to communicate with other people who enjoy spending a majority of their time browsing the internet. I wasn't able to find a website that offered something like this so I resorted to the PC game Runescape. I would be on this game ALL the time and really grew to the game. I think all the time I invested into this game really turned me into who I am. Everyday I would come back from school looking forward to interacting with new people on the game and to get my stats up as well. Not only did this game teach me how to socialize with others but also how to be dedicated in something. I would spend hours doing the same thing over and over just to get 1 or 2 levels in a certain skill. This really taught me how to be patient and be dedicated to all aspects of my life (School work, friends, family).

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

When I was in elementary school my parents would always lecture me about getting good grades and staying focused at school. This really affected me in my junior high and sophomore years in highschool. I would find the perfect balance between using the computer and studying for school and just followed my little routine until I got to my junior year of highschool. Everything went downhill from there. I wasn't studying enough for my AP classes and ended up failing them. ? By this time my parents were separated and I mainly lived with my grandmother. Because there was no one to be strict with me and discipline me I started to just ignore my AP classes and ended up flunking them at the end of my junior year. So I ended up graduating highschool with nothing other than a diploma. Eventually I was able to find a part-time job being a cashier at a local hardware store. And after all that I would still look forward to logging onto Runescape or these forums and do what I love doing. So I guess you can say my life priorities are to be a well-known user on these forums as well as eventually moving out and living a life on my own.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Since the day I found these forums I knew that I would be addicted. It was the place to meet new people and make deals and find help in just about any topic you can imagine. So the main thing that probably inspired me was my love for these forums and what it offered, nothing more and nothing less.

Anything else you would like to say:

I am really looking forward to being a part of your group. My application is pretty lengthy and has a lot of side-stories but hopefully you can find some entertainment in reading them. Other than that thank you very much for considering me and I hope to be accepted!

While we are wanting newer members overall, that does not mean we are excluding those that are currently in groups, they will just be more strict on the applications.

Voice/Video applications tend to have the highest rate of acceptance, so long as we can clearly understand what is being said, several of the voice applications so far the person whispers or is not very well-spoken with English making it hard to understand.

The recruitment will likely end within 1-2 weeks from today.

Negotiation/Persuasion, I have no examples of this however I'm sure if you had a talk with me this could be proven a fact.

Web Development, I'm a web developer. Have no current projects. No I don't do OOP PHP as I think it's a waste of time. <- Feel free to argue with me on it.

Gaming, I'm fairly decent at gaming. I don't play games like WOW, COD, or LoL. I mainly just stick with counter strike. (pc master race)

Technology, Ask me anything you want.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in the market place, coding, and webmaster sections of this board. Mainly because I'm a web developer, own a hosting company, and well. Who doesn't like money?

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I know this sounds stupid and overly generic but I want to meet new people that have things in common with me.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

When I was 7 years old my house burnt down because my brother with autism decided he was going to play with a lighter. Yes, he actually is autistic. No, I'm not saying this in an insulting way. What makes me? Well, I guess you could define me as someone who doesn't put up with shit for no reason, hates being wrong BUT will admit that he is when he is, and likes to have fun (assuming I get along with others).

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

inb4 I sound like an idiot but I want to go to law school, after that run for local offices and try to work my way up to presidency to greater the country I live in because if you don't see how bad it is right now you must be blind.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

At first I joined for the marketplace and am still here for a great majority of the market place. I also like helping people even though I seem like an asshole most of the time so I spend a few here and there helping people when I can.

If you want to interview me over skype, teamspeak, etc that can be arranged.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I've never been that guy who's the best at one or more things. I always aim high and fall short, yet I'm okay with that. I'm cool with being that ordinary guy. I'm good at things, yet not the best, so if you're looking for expert coders and what not, then I guess I'm sending in an empty application. I suppose it could be said that I'm good at giving support to people in need, and doing the best I can to help people.

Which section are you most active in and why? According to HackForums, The Lounge, Griefing and Innuendo, however recently it's just the Lounge and Innuendo.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I've got friends in the group, and seeing the general activity of the members it looks pretty amazing. Definitely my dream group (no I'm not ass kissing.)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: Well, I'm 17 years old, and I have quite a complicated life. How so you might ask? Good question. I lived in Astoria, NYC since I was 12 when I moved to Turkey. Why? My parents thought it'd be a good cultural experience. They are both divorced, yet both wished to move so that was awkward. At the time I might have argued, but now I'm aware they were correct. It started off as 3 days with my mother, and 4 days with my father a week, however now I just stay with my father and see my mother occasionally. Ah, I should mention my father is blind (retnitus pigmentosa), so he needs me. Aside from all that, I come to the USA during vacations and see old friends. The change in scenery is by far the most memorable thing that happened in my life.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Personally, I don't have many priorities. I do have an important motto, and that's "don't live in the past, enjoy the present." Took me while to grasp this, but that's my lifestyle now. I also think that if you can, it's your obligation to help people.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The community by far. I came from small forums for game servers, and seeing such a large consistent community amazed me. I love meeting new people and socializing with them, so Hackforums had a great impact on my life.

Anything else you would like to say: Sorry for not adding any cool GFX or trying to spice up this application, I personally don't think any application would need them, it's the writing that matters.

Age: 15

Gender: Male

State/Country: Canada

Time Zone: MST

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I am an excellent writer, I love writing short stories and communicating with others.

I am beyond extremely social, I love going out and being with friends or even talking to another human.

I like to think I am awesome graphical artist, you probably don't give a shit about any of these other skills I am about to mention but it does show you which skills I possess.

- Great at speaking
- Great at competitive sports/games.
- I can cook minute rice in 59 seconds (Too hardcore?)

Which section are you most active in and why?

League of Legends - I absolutely love the community and I enjoy the game, I try to be very helpful to all of the members in the section.

Non-Free Accounts - I sell most of my products there and like giving feedback to others.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

Well, I have a ton of friends in your group so I know I'd get a long just fine with everyone in the group, I'd like to find a chill group that is laid back and social where I can be myself ya dig?

I love the concept of the group, it's clearly a very exclusive group and is more than helpful in numerous sections.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Well, my name is Levi. I'm a 15 year old Canadian male living in Beautiful British Columbia. I grew up in a very small town where I have met all of my friends.

Ever since I was little I was very social with anyone I could meet, I talked to strangers even though my mother told me not to, I talked to every kid at school even if I didn't know them just so I could make another friend, around 3 I started getting into video games which then lead me to join multiple communities/message boards such as TTG, Runescape, and even more.

I enjoy going to the gym with my friends, going to the skatepark with my friends, and being with my friends whenever an opportunity arises.

That basically sums up my life so far, I ride bmx, play lacrosse and I'm hoping to play football as soon as we get a league going in my town (it's so small and no one likes football like wtf?)

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My family is most important to me, because when you have nothing left they will be there for you always.

I really hope to find a career in trades, there is a ton of work for it around my community and there is always a job that needs to be done. I really hope I'm successful in life. Being successful and having my family with me are my biggest priorities.

Nothing else matters except family.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

The community, there's always a new thread I can post on, always someone I can try to help, and there is tons of knowledge to be gained here.

I stayed mostly because HF is my number one money maker.

I'm here to make money and talk to other members, without HackForums I'm not sure who I'd be.

Online forums and my friends really helped me succeed in my life, I can't wait to see what happens next.

Anything else you would like to say:

Thanks

Name: Optimized, but my name is Sam!
Age: I am 16 currently.
Gender: Male
Religion: Catholic, however I am in the middle.
State/Country: London, England.
Time Zone: Greenwich Mean Time

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: Currently I am very well known in the ewhoring section, I am very active in that section, and I am very experienced with ewhoring, making high earnings when I put effort in to it. I am also quite experienced, well I wouldn't call it a skill, but putting my self before others, I own 2 skype groups on Skype, A prank calling one and also an ewhoring one, in the groups I make sure everyone is having fun/learning but make sure they feel as if they are actually part of the group, before I consider my self.

Which section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the eWhoring section (although, according to HF I have more posts in the lounge) because it is a topic I enjoy, I love and I am dedicated to, it gives me a good feeling when posting in it and I love to share my knowledge of the topic with other members in the section. I am also very active in the lounge since the lounge is a very, widespread, as I may call it topic, there's posts in there daily about very different things, and I like to read them, and give my opinion on it, sometimes it may be advice, and I also try to give good advice as well.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: Personally, I love the user bar, it really appeals to me, as in, I feel like when I see it on a user, it shows there a very, welcoming calm relaxed member who wont flame you over nothing. Phoenix is also a very nice group for me, as it is not directed at specific fields, like most of the HF groups. From what I have seen members of Phoenix are very, respected/respectful happy and generally make you feel like there the people on HF who cuddle you when your down, or help you get back up on your feet.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: Hey, I'm Sam, I don't know much about my self, which sounds weird, but I know that my family has had a history for cancer, well my Dad's side has, although my Grandmother died 2 months ago, she didn't die from it. I love to get on the PC, it's my life, When I come home from school, I jump on Skype & HF and just have fun. I like to game also, on games like GTA 5/CoD, although not very often, as I am not a violent person.

Ever since I discovered the eWhoring I've been addicted to it, I generally enjoy to ewhore, because it makes me feel good, yup; you heard me. It makes me feel valued, since I have been through depression in my life several times. I feel as if those days are over, but I am not sure in all honesty. My parents are divorced, they mainly divorced because of me, no I did not make them, when I was like 3, they didn't want me, I was an accident I assume.

I am a very social person, I love to put my self out there and talk to people, in the real world, I get somewhat bullied, although I tend to stop bullies now. I am not very popular at school, but I have my friends and my groups. Also I have quite a few female friends, who are there for me and generally are close, although we are just friends, I tend to have a small crush on one of them. I also like to do Maths, although most people don't enjoy it, I love a bit of Maths, I hate puzzles, but I love general equations, They just make me feel good about my self.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Most important to me is my family and friendship, although I do not know fully where I stand in my family I love both sides of them, and I have lost a lot of my family to cancer, but I love them a lot, and will not forget them. Also friendship is key for me, I feel that the friends I have now I will go far with, although people say family is life and friends will come and go, I feel as if my friends right now will be with me for as long as they can, we have a lot in common, and we just generally know a lot about each other.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? I will be 100% honest here (not that I haven't been). I joined HF back early '14, because I felt as if I was going to become a l33t h4x0r with them pro skills on CoD, but I originally joined as a bit of a leecher, I just downloaded stuff and joined in for giveaways. I left the forums quickly. In late aug/early sep, I had been feeling very depressed had no one to go to, and most importantly, felt alone. I didn't know what to do, and some how I ended up on HF. I started to realise that Hack Forums generally is one of the nicest forums I've been on, apart from the Minecraft Forums, it's the first forums I had hit 100 posts on, now look at me, 1200 posts, pretty spectacular. The community at Hack Forums is a true mixture between nice honest friendly people and Flamers. So far I've only really met Honest and friendly people, and from what I've seen, I would never leave Hack Forums.

Anything else you would like to say: This application took me around an hour, I put a lot of effort into it and Phoenix is one of the groups that I really do want to be apart of. Although applications should be Quality over Quantity, I tried to keep a good balance over both. I really hope you've read my application, as I would really like to join this group. Best of luck to everyone and I wish the best of luck to all.

Best Wishes & Regards,
Optimized.

Which section are you most active in and why?

Beginner Hacking since I Like to help out the Beginners who just started And ask a few questions myself. It is very

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I want to join so I could learn off of others. And possibly teach someone something. Its also boring to hack alone :(.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: I am David And I was considered an outcast at my school, I got good grades but all the teachers hated me because I would never listen. I was sort of a smartass and would never do homework, Anyways ive got into hacking and Ive been doing ok. Ive never been in a group Thats a bit about me

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

Well First off My family is priotity, But other than that I have Work, Hacking, Working out And sleep is last.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Everyone that needed help with stuff I could help them and do anything for them and that made me happy. People also always wanted to help me

Anything else you would like to say:

I would like to say It would be a honor to be part of this group.

Name: Steven "Nevieth" James

Age: 18 years old, born August 13th, 1996

Gender: Male

Religion: Atheist (You wont find me flaming anyone for their beliefs however)

State/Country: Colorado, US.

Time Zone: Mountain Time

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I have several skills which can pose a great benefit to the group/ community as a whole. One of my skills is I'm a fantastic listener and am able to provide legitimate responses which help grow a discussion, I treat everyone equally and am willing to help out whenever needed.

Some examples of my discussion abilities, I've helped contribute to a Q+A thread about homosexuality;

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4527311>

Another skill that I posses which could help benefit a group/ community is that I'm available almost all day as I work a night shift, I'm able to be around to chat with people and I like to think I'm a very social person. I'm a decent gamer and have been a member of several gaming clans including a World of Warcraft raiding guild. I get along with people and always help out my fellow member. :D

Which section are you most active in and why?

The sections that I'm most active in are the Lounge, Griefing section (I haven't actually grief in about two years), Anime Adventures, Minecraft, and Innuendo.

Lounge: I love to just hang out and chat with my fellow user most days, I have fun and always try to leave everyone in a happier mood.

Griefing: I haven't actually used/ posted in the Griefing section for about 2 years I would say, but when I did post it in I was quite active. I don't see myself going back to it however.

Anime Adventures: I absolutely love anime, some people may call me a weaboo however I'm merely a fan of the genre and I'm proud to be. An example of one of my threads:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4506478>

Minecraft: I've been playing Minecraft since early 2010, I've bought and owned two accounts and have played on Iphone, PC, and Xbox 360. Back in 2012 - 2013 I did nothing but breath and eat Minecraft, it was my life. I've owned several servers and had a blast doing it. An example of one of my threads: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3968073>

Innuendo: I love helping people through difficult situations, so this is probably why I spend so much time in this section. I currently am a top contributor for an "Ask-A-Homosexual" threads which is hosted by this very same group, linked here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4527311>

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I've always been a fan of the Phoenix, I've always looked up to the group and it's members. The community which the group is based around always surprises me with new amazing posts/ threads and benefits to the community as a whole. The Ask-A-Homosexual thread has helped so many members learn not to be afraid or distrustful of homosexuals and it's all due to the group and it's incredible efforts. The reason I want to join is because I want to be one of those people who inspires others and helps out everywhere, I have no interest for making money on this forum and I'll help out people just because I can, not to benefit myself. It would be an awesome learning experience.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

This one's a bit tough, not because of the one to three paragraphs, but because of personal life experiences. I'm going to go all out, I'll share some of my most darkest secrets and open up to everyone so that I'm transparent. When I was growing up my family and myself were never considered wealthy, at any one time we had less then a thousand dollars spending cash... we lived paycheck to paycheck and only survived with the care of each other. My sister at the time had always had medical issues, by the time she was 10 years old she had already had 3 strokes and a seizure. With those you can easily see where some of my stress originates from. However when my sister was about to turn 11 and I had just turned 7, she had her first day of middle school... absolutely loved it. She couldn't stop talking about how she couldn't wait to go back... however when everyone had gone to sleep at the end of the day, my parents went to check on each of their children like usual, but what they found was not what was expected. In my room I was told I was sleeping soundly, nothing wrong with that... however in my sister's room they found Amanda (my sister) face down against the rug and they thought she had another seizure so they called the paramedics. By the time they arrived my sister had already died of an asthma attack, it would seem she had been trying to get to her inhaler but died due to lack of oxygen.

Because of this I've always grown up with something of a weight on my shoulder, I had become angry and had gotten into several fights while in elementary and middle school. Losing a sibling is not easy and I doubt I'll ever get over it, however I've decided to stay strong and never give up... about a year or two after my sister passed, our house was foreclosed on and we were forced to move out. We had moved every single year for the next 4 years, from small apartment to another, it was miserable knowing the house we grew up in was gone... that my sister was gone.

Fast forwarding about 5 years I was now about 16 - 17, living in my own grandfather's house with my mother and father, we were poor... without my granddad we would be on the streets... literally. I was forced to go to a local public school which resides in the ghetto, I didn't have fun... the teachers legitimately carried weapons on them for their own protection, it was basically a gang school. I had been assaulted several times by some other school mates, my property stolen or destroyed... and the only reason I was given was either one or the other... either it was "because you're white", or the other one which really got to me was "because you're a faggott". I was always insecure but being physically attacked and threatened because of my sexuality was quite new to me.

A year later I actually dropped out of high school and decided to go for a GED instead, I've gotten it however because I dropped out I still can't get many job opportunities to start off with, I've yet to go to college and I currently work a part time job at a Sams Club doing shipping and stocking overnight.

To make a long story short, because of my previous life experiences I tend to dedicate my time and efforts into helping people in similar situations and get them through it, life's no fun at times and I know what some people have gone through. I merely want to better some people's experience with life while providing a hostile free zone to air their frustrations.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life reside in helping others and learning all that I can learn, I'm currently setting my goal for a college degree in Language Arts and Literature, I've always enjoyed creative writing and news reports, while also being able to in sure as many people as possible are enjoying and learning from what I'm doing. I want everyone to love each other and tend to stick up for the little guy... specially randomly on the street or back when I was in school.

I want to help people, to make sure they know that they're amazing, special individuals and to NEVER let someone talk down to them, because every person is fantastic.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

What caused me to stick around and become a part of the community on Hackforums? Honestly it's going to sound quite cheesy but it's the truth... the people. The different people I get to meet, they amaze me with their intelligence, creativity, and senses of humor. I've always been fascinated in community boards, and never thought I could find one that I actually fit in with... specially because I'm not a hacker, however this forum can easily surprise you. I joined to grief Minecraft servers, about 4 years later and I'm still here because I've made plenty of friends and enjoy every post I make. I try and dedicate my time on here making someone's day, someone... somewhere... will have a great day and it's going to because of me. That's my goal on this forum, that's why I stuck around.

Anything else you would like to say:

Nothing much, mainly thank you for this opportunity to apply, I'm genuinely sorry I can't make a video application or voice application, I have a pretty terrible cold in which I just got over bronchitis, along with a ton of snow outside... it makes it pretty unbearable to even open up my mouth to breath or eat/ drink let alone to record audio. I was going to wait a few weeks for when I feel better however I saw the applications will be closing soon and knew I should take the time and write out a well drafted application.

I've never been an actual member of a group here on HF, the only group I've bee a "member" of would be Respawn I believe, and it was for about 5 hours. When Respawn was being sold, they had this deal where anyone who applied would be accepted as basically a farewell to the group, so I applied... was accepted, and chatted a little in the subsection until the group was changed. I've never had an interest in joining up with a group as I don't need to join a group merely for the userbar, however I've always idolized many Phoenix members here and would love to help out as many users as I can with anything I can do. I'm not on the forum for the money, the respect, but merely the chance to make someone's day... somewhere.

Thanks for reading through my application, and hopefully no matter what happens I can help out as many users as possible. Keep up the great work, cheerio!

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess :

I enjoy to negotiate, I've come to find out that I'm quite good at it. One example would be earlier in the year when I was purchasing my car off of Craigslist, the gentleman wanted $3,000 and I was able to talk him down to $1,000. I feel that negotiating is kind of a lost art among our generation.

I am also good with helping people cope/deal with death, whether it be among their family or one of their friends, as I have had personal experience with this topic even though mine was family orientated, I had to deal with most of it by myself.

I do enjoy to draw and paint in my free time, I have taken many painting classes and would consider myself decent at doing both, doing shading and what not would have to be my favorite, I can post some pictures of my latest work if you would be interested in viewing it.

I find enjoyment in many parts of auto mechanics, I would consider myself to have a decent amount of knowledge about older cars, most of them being built before 1980

I also do a bit of gaming in my spare time, games such as: Counter Strike Global Offensive, ArMA 3, DayZ, Grid 2, and I'll try any other game that looks interesting to me.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I would have to say I am most active in "The Lounge" than my second most active would be "Virtual Trade" in the HF marketplace. I also post in the "Innuendo" section and the "Vices" section frequently. I am active in these sections as they are currently what I am interested in. I use "The Lounge" when I need a good laugh or am rather bored, I use the "Virtual Trade" section to sell ingame items. When I post in the "Innuendo" and "Vices" section when I feel like helping people with their problems or whatever they may need help with.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?

I would like to join the group "Phoenix" as I feel that it would be a great environment for me to learn and produce new ideas, meet plenty of wonderful new people that could become great friends, and potentially help people learn skills that they do not yet obtain.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: I never really had much money growing up, but have seen how it can better lives yet at the same time destroy them. I was an only child living with my mother who had been ill since I was around 7, she would always provide for me first before herself. She has taught me to put others first before yourself in most situations. We lived on child support from my father which was around $400 a month, he'd be late on the payments some months so we'd have to make due with what we had. We lived on such a small amount yet there was always food on the table and a roof over our heads. She recently passed away which caused me to relocate to living with my father. I have seen my parents struggle and I have always wanted a better life for them and myself. I would love to one day be able to buy my father and other important people in my life some of the things that they have been dreaming about owning since they were my age if not younger, I plan to accomplish this.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life are family and leaving a better foundation for my children and family to grow off of. I would love for my children and their children to not have to struggle to get by and know how to make a living for themselves.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Many things have caused me to stay active on Hackforums after I joined, mostly it was that I enjoy the community and liked to visit with members and make friendships, I also saw that I could sell items here which I was instantly drawn to. One of the other reasons I stayed was that the forum was active, there was always new posts and plenty of them would make me laugh or teach me something I didn't know.

Anything else you would like to say:

I would like to thank Tibit, iKinky, Troye, and Eternal for allowing us the opportunity to submit an application to join the group "Phoenix," if you have any questions feel free to ask. I would also like to thank you for looking over my application.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

Animation: Spoiler (Click to View)

Vectoring: Spoiler (Click to View)

My skills mostly reside in design.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in group sub-forums, aside from that I'm active in The Lounge and beginning to be a more frequent user in the innuendo section. Back to the original question, my most active sections are The Lounge and Rate My Graphic. I'm active in The Lounge mostly because it contains miscellaneous threads that don't have a place anywhere else, these threads someone's can spark one's interest; considering they don't have a set subsection there's more freedom in what is posted there.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

Phoenix, Phoenix is comprised of individuals knowledgeable in their individual fields, members of Phoenix are mostly residing in the Innuendo subsection. From previous information it seems as if Phoenix members help others with personal problems, to list a few: Stress

Relationships

Depression

and there are many more.

I enjoy helping others, it's a sense of reward that you can't seem to let go of; like an addiction.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: What makes me who I am?

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life rely on only a few things, relationships, school, and family. Out of these three options, everyone would pick family. But let's try to move past that, and try something new for a change. School is most important to me at the moment, your diploma in college, and your graduation papers in high school serve as a symbol of whether you're worthy enough for a job or not. Everyday life relies on the school system, everything you do is in some way, associated with it.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I stayed part of the community of HackForums because I felt the need to develop my skills as a designer, I received help from multiple users, and it improved my experience here.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:I want to join Phoenix because they are an outstanding group. They help people with a lot of personal problems in the innuendo section but also in other sections. They have a lot of good threads allowing people that are seeking help to contact them via post or pm! They are making other lives better.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Hello, my name is Lupe, I am 22 and work with kids. I play soccer and tennis. In highschool is used to play football, played 3 1/2 years. I enrolled into college at Cal State Fullerton of California with a major in Computer Science. I am an animal lover. Have 2 dogs at the moment. I have one idol in this world and it is Taylor Swift. Ever since my sophomore year in highschool and having a 1st love her song got me through my day. I've seen how nice of a person she's been and that encourages me to be like her. Every day I wake up I live by on of her quotes, "No matter how tired you are, no matter what kind of bad day you're having, be nice to people." I am such a huge swiftie fan , beyond what you would think. I have a tattoo on my left arm dedicated to her (one day I will show it to her in a meet and greet :P).

For 4 years (high school) I dedicated myself to trying to become a professional gamer on the Call of Duty aspect. I attended MLG events only to place as highest T30. I am an avid gamer but now I'm just casual gamer.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities in life is to finish school and get my degree. What is most important to me is my family, 2 dogs and Taylor Swift.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I just really loved the community. I joined looking for help in coding then after a while of sticking around I started to enjoy posting in the lounge a lot.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I'm a programmer (as you could tell by my name). I'm fluent in a few different languages, and make a good amount off of HF. Not that it would matter, but I'm also very good at almost any Call of Duty game. More innuendo wise, I've dealt with loved ones who've submitted to drugs, alcohol, and have even committed suicide. I'm always available to talk to users when they're in need of anything I'm able to assist them with.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I usually browse the new posts, but I usually find myself in their one of the programming sections, the marketplace, and the Lounge.

Marketplace - I'm very involved in the HF marketplace.

Lounge - The most general topics that I love to read

Programming - Well, you know.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: It seems like a high quality group that I'd like to be in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Well, I don't really like describing myself, but I'm more of 'the quiet guy' that has an infinite mind. I'm always thinking, but I never really express my thoughts or opinions. Something memorable, I don't know if that's supposed to mean bad or good, so I'll just go with good. Something memorable for me would have been when I was around 7 and my parents got in a car accident and almost died, but survived. My stepdad had to wear a neck cast for 2 months, and my mom broke her ankle. I'm very thankful they're still alive.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities, let's see.

Keeping up in school, helping others, and playing around online.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was mostly interested in the programming sections at first, but then I realized how cool the rest of HackForums was and decided to stay and browse around more.

It's now part of my daily routine.

If you like this, I'll whip up a video and send it to you guys. Just let me know :)
I'd love to see you in Phoenix. Good luck, man.

Some nice apps out there. Keep them coming.

In a more general sense I'd say I'm proud of my ability to have a diverse involvement in the forum, be it in the lounge, personal life or other sections, I always have questions to ask and answers to give. I truly believe when you give love you get love back.

Which section are you most active in and why?

The Lounge

The Lounge is one of my favourite places on Hackforums, it's ability to be nothing specific yet everything all at once at the same time makes it the ultimate place to find new and quirky topics to discuss that simply don't have a home anywhere else on Hackforums. There are always some colourful characters in the lounge up for a laugh or serious discussion and sure enough you'll find me there amongst them discussing away.

Personal Life

I don't pretend for a second to anyone that I am more knowledgeable than they are about life. But I won't hesitate to try and help another member should they need it, in essence that's what Phoenix is to me.

To be a member of Phoenix is to stand behind a name that cares.

I love the personal life section because I feel like people can post their problems without worry or concern that they will be criticised for doing so.

I like to be a name that people know they can trust and feel safe to PM with any issues they have with the knowledge that if they want it to, it will of course stay between them and me and I will to the best of my ability help them.

I also enjoy the Personal Life section for the amount of information I'm able to learn from other people's experiences of life.

I'm never short of threads to read no matter what they may be about.

Freebies and Giveaways

Of course, Freebies and Giveaways is one of my favourite sections because it's an opportunity to give back to a community that has taught me so much without asking for anything in return. As demonstrated above I enjoy doing regular giveaways be it a quick few people or a much larger one, knowing I'm making a slight difference to someone's day (possibly) makes me happy.

In the near future I plan to grow my giveaways even more, before Christmas I'm going to do an upgrade contest, 1x Ub3r 1x L33t 2x Ep1c 2x Gift.

I also plan to do another huge Bitcoin giveaway.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?

Phoenix has an impeccable reputation on Hackforums, they are a group that care. Every member goes the extra mile to help another member, be it with a problem they may have or simply answering a question. They will always give you the time you need. I would love to be able to have the opportunity to stand behind the Phoenix name and continue to help users to the extent that every member of Phoenix currently does, it's probably one of my greatest aspirations on HF.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.

I don't see myself as anything other than another member on HF that is prepared to give some of their time in order to help others. I think this reflects what kind of a person I am in real life. In my group of friends I believe I'm someone who takes great care and pride in putting other people's well-being before mine. I can't be entirely happy if I know one of my friends or my girlfriends has a problem that's upsetting them, and I will take the time to help them as much as I can to restore their happiness.

I believe one of my greatest personal achievements is helping one of my friends who was in an extremely dark place find their way back to happiness again.

A couple of years ago one of my friends lost their mother to cancer, around the same time she began falling out with her other friends (girl group). They began picking on her for no reason and it really got to her. She felt like she couldn't escape. I only learnt about the problems she had with her friends when she called me one night in floods of tears, the only words that came from her mouth were "I've done something really stupid." It completely tore me apart because I knew she was depressed and I knew exactly what she had done. I'd prefer to not share the latter parts of this story but after she returned from hospital I spend a lot more time with her, we definitely both grew as people and as she let me in and trusted me more and more I was able to get her back to a more stable and happy place,

To me that is probably one of the greatest achievements of my life.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I will keep this short as I feel I have explained that in my previous answer, my main priority in life is to make an impact on others in the most positive way I can whilst also making sure I maintain self happiness. I believe these are the most important things to me.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

To be honest I didn't stay active straight away. I joined back in 2011 and at that time I was a completely different person, I learned a lot but didn't give back as much as I do now. About a year ago I came back to Hackforums with everything I've learned from life and tried to use it to the best of my abilities to help members. I've also learned a heck of a lot from all the amazing people here :3. To answer the question, I stay for the community, the things I can give and the knowledge and stories I can obtain from other members that I don't believe I would be able to find anywhere else.

Anything else you would like to say?

I'd just like to say quickly I am completely realistic of how unlikely I am to get a place on Phoenix. I completely appreciate how many other members probably have more rep or better stats than I do. I will leave it to you to decide if I'm worthy or not but I will tell you this, if you take a chance on me I can promise you I will do everything I can to maintain the impeccable reputation of the group that is Phoenix.

If there are any other questions you would like to ask me please feel free to PM me and I will get back to you as soon as I can.

Pretty interesting applications.

Good luck everyone.

Tirus - November 13, 2014, 12:16 pm

Voice Application: <http://vocaroo.com/i/s1KYgdqHbwgx>

Name: Tyler or Tirus

Age: 16 years old.

Gender: Male

Religion: Agnostic

State/Country: Don't feel like publicizing

Time Zone: ETZ

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: So honestly I could sit here and boast about my knowledge but I will sum it up, I am very knowledgeable in everything related to beginner hacking all the way to coding which includes web exploiting and hacking, RATing, Keylogging. I know C++, C, Java and PHP. Like I stated, I don't want to boast about my knowledge but rather prove to you guys my knowledge and my worthiness into Phoenix. Also touching on the web exploiting and hacking I know SQLi, XSS, BASMA, DNS poisonin, RCE(Remote code execution), LFI(Local File Inclusion) and numerous other web exploiting hacking methods. I also am very knowledgeable when it comes to Windows. I was in The Brotherhood until my inactivity occurred and I honestly enjoyed helping people out with troubleshooting problems via Windows and if I can't solve a problem, I never give up, I will redirect that person to someone or something that can possibly help them better than I can.

Which section are you most active in and why? The beginner hacking section because I enjoy sharing the knowledge that I've obtained via HackForums to members whom may not know something I do, I know how hard it is to get help being new here and I will help anyone who is enthusiastic enough to learn and have a will to learn.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: Phoenix seems like a prestigious group and I was previously in The Empire until it was sadly closed and changed into The Phoenix and I met a lot of smart, new people in the Empire and I'm sure there's a lot of intelligent and awesome people who would share their knowledge with me and I can share my knowledge with them.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: My name is Tyler and I have been on HackForums for nearly a year expanding my knowledge every single time I log in. I live in the United States of America and I'm in High-school. I have always had a interest in computers and how they work and I just recently(roughly 1 year ago) decided to learn everything I've always wanted to about computers and that's why I am here on HackForums and upon learning things that I have learned I have decided to share my knowledge because learning what I learnt wasn't easy and I understand how it feels to be discriminated against because you may not be a specific group or intelligent enough in a certain subject. I apologize for this being small, I am not a very interesting person besides my love for HackForums and computers.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My priorities in life as of right now is graduating high-school and becoming intelligent with computers because I know I need to know a certain amount of stuff to do the job I want to do in the Navy(a CTN, Cryptological Technician Networks). The most important thing to me right now is success, family, friends, school, and expanding my intelligence. I am glad to say that I have achieved every single one of them so far.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? After learning how to code CFG mod menus I realized the amount of knowledge that I could obtain via HackForums and upon learning what I want to learn I could help people whom are interested in learning and are enthusiastic about learning as myself.

Anything else you would like to say: It was a pleasure being apart of The Empire and I would like to thank you for taking your time by reading my application and I wish all the other applicants the best of luck with their applications. Have a good day!

Which section are you most active in and why?

786/1,316 of my posts belong to the VB section. This is where I started learning about the language. I consider myself to be more of a teacher there now.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

I've never been in a group before. Hopefully it will be a good experience.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

One to three paragraphs?

Damn, son. I'm a programmer, not an english major.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

The most important thing in my life is success. I hope to have a well-paying programming job some day soon, and therefore be able to afford a more luxurious life.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I've learned a lot over the past few years and I like learning about computers. HF has taught me many things from hacking to programming to graphics. Whenever I was tired of learning one thing, there were many more sections to browse and learn from. I guess it just kept me busy/entertained.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I am very involved in politics most notably economics, I am very interested in political debates and economics is an area I have always been fascinated with because it combines my favorite things Math & Politics.

Which section are you most active in and why? SRPP because I am passionate about my political beliefs of freedom & liberty for all.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: As someone who has lived many years of my life hiding in depression, sex addiction & drug addiction I feel as though I have tools to help the community.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

I grew up in a small rural neighborhood in a small community

My father was always pretty busy but he showed me alot of neat things and explained how things worked I used to always watch car shows with him and help him with fixing electrical stuff which is probably where my technological interests come from.

when I grew older I had a few huge events happen which affected me emotionally and then I started having anger & depression issues when I was in high school I started doing lots of drugs/sex & getting in fights I didn't care what happened to me and lived in the moment.

I'd rather not get into it much in a public post like this but I was put on anti-depressants and while on them I had a suicide attempt and was sent to a psychiatric hospital for a little while because of this I am no longer able to join the US airforce which I really wanted to do with my life.

When I was younger I was raped which caused a lot of sexual confusion & anger issues. I don't like talking about it now but I have pretty much gotten over it but it really affected my highschool years. It led me to years of self destructive drug abuse.

I always blamed others for my problems and I did have some shit things happen but eventually I realized my problems were due to me not moving on we all have hardships and I could easily overcome them and live happier I have been off drugs for a while and try my best to refrain from meaningless sex but I do drink a bit more than I should. Once you have the skills to overcome your hardships you stop becoming a victim and become in control of your life.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Happiness & protecting my people & their culture. I live in a small rural community full of hunters/farmers and I don't want the government banning my people's right to bare arms and telling us how we can run our farms.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?
The SRPP section really appealed to me when I saw how HQ it was compared to other forums.

Anything else you would like to say:

Sorry about my bad grammar I have never been that great at writing I never valued it that much in school either it is hard for me to write my thoughts down as I don't think in language my thoughts are not really word form.

Age: I am not the oldest person in the world, though, I really think I am very mature for my age. I am currently sixteen, soon to be seventeen. Hope you won't judge me upon my age, as I am far more mature than what my age says.

Gender: I am a male.

Religion: I'm an atheist. I have no intention of believing anything, as I think it only causes trouble and I am not convinced about any of the religions.

State/Country: I'm a resident of Denmark and I have always been.

Time Zone: GMT +1.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I'd like to list the skills I would mean I possess.

Helping others

I like dedicating my time into others treasure. By that, I mean, I appreciate helping others, sometimes, I take people behind me in such a way, where I actually treat them better than myself. I wouldn't say that's a positive thing, for me, but it's something I've always done, which I can't change.

Maturity

Even though I am not up in the age, I would like to present myself as a very mature person. Just because I am very mature, that doesn't mean I can't see the side of fun, I can and I love having fun, though, I am a very mature person and I can be very serious if it's necessary.

Experienced

I have tried both positive and negative things in life, which I would say has really made me experienced in talking to people with problems. I have tried the best and worst of both sides, let me just say it that way.

Competitive Counter-Strike player

I've played Counter-Strike for over ten years now and I've been playing very competitively many of the featured years. I would say myself, that I am a very experienced player and I would say I am a very good player. By this, I can instruct people, within and outside the group, in the name of Phoenix and give them tips that I master. I would do my best, to help out in any way I can.

Quite a good writer

Personally I think I am very good at both expressing myself and writing a good long text which is enjoyable to read. From my many years of playing role playing servers, which required me to fill a lot of applications and other writing-required formats, I would say I have experienced myself in relatively closely mastering the English language. I do make grammatical flaws here and there, but heck, who doesn't?

I can also write very fast, I wouldn't express it as a very good feature for Phoenix, but that means that I can help out writing, which I love to.

Which section are you most active in and why? I would say so myself, I'm a very mixed person, though, I would say so myself I am mostly active in The Lounge and the Counter-Strike section.

Why? As I said, I love to write, whether it be a long text or just a short text of me expressing myself and regarding the Counter-Strike section, I would say I am very active in there, due to me have been playing Counter-Strike for such a long time.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I want to join Phoenix as I want to try something new, I don't want to just try to be apart of something gaming-related. I want to join something, that varies over everything on the forum, a group that doesn't focus on just ONE thing. I may have applied to some groups recently, but I wouldn't say that makes me unfitting, just interested. I applied for Brotherhood which focuses on gaming and then I applied for Revolution which focuses on helping the community. Both two very fitting groups for me, I would say.

Phoenix doesn't just focus on helping though, they also focus on what I can do for THEM and not just for the community, which is something, I think is very cool.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: Well, hey there, my name is Mathias, I am from Denmark and I am sixteen, soon to be seventeen years old. Currently I am in school studying technology and I am currently at the second last month of school. After that, I am considering to get an education concerning something related to business or people, I haven't really decided yet, as I am not sure what path I want to take. I really like helping people, whether it be about problems, or just helping people, who requires talking to people once in a while. I want to study business, as I really love talking to people, as to why I want to be apart of a business that requires me meeting up with people.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My family and friends. As I explained in my application earlier in stage, I sometimes take people in focus before myself, I wouldn't say it's a positive nor a negative things, though, it sometimes can be a bad thing. I can't stand seeing people being treated poorly nor having a bad experience, hence I want to help them.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? Let me quote a post, that I made a few days after I joined Hack Forums.

Spoiler (Click to View)Quote:Hi.

My name is Mathias, also known as CSGOBoosters. I came to Hackforums, as I was hinted towards this site by a friend. My real intention here on Hackforums, was to pretty much just advertise for my CSGO-Boosting service, though, I figured out how addicting and cool this forum is.

There's so many options here, whether that be running a boosting service like me, selling Facebook likes, selling electronical-books or even just chatting here, in the lounge. Normally, I'm not the biggest forum browser, but I have to say, I may just have to start browsing this forum .. a lot.

So, let's talk about me, personally: As you can see on my profile, I'm twenty-four. I'm currently studying IT-Infrastructure in Denmark (Yes, I am also originally from Denmark.) In my free-time, I normally hang out with friends, play/boost in Global Offensive, working-out, playing football or just doing what I am now, browsing websites. I'm a very large fan of Reddit and I mainly browse it 24/7, even at work/school, heh.

My main intentions on this forum, has excessively changed. As previously stated, I just got on here to advertise for my boosting service and possibly get some Facebook likes. This has eminently changed, now I want to build up a long-term reputation, not just for marketing, but just for being a friendly fella. I like helping a lot out, whether it's a stupid question or a very complex one - no reason to be disrespectful, just because some people may not be as astute as some of you here.

- PS: I have understood, NEVER to buy eBooks, haha.

Hope you'll take me in with open-arms and I can't wait to start out being a hardcore poster here!

See you around.

Anything else you would like to say: I hope you'll take me into consideration, even though I am a very new member here. As I explained to others, I am a new member on Hack Forums, though I am very experienced on forums related to HF. I hope you'll take me into consideration and give me a chance.

Regards.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I am a well rounded user, most of my posts are in the market but I usually just look on View New Posts and reply to things I can help with or things that interest me :)

Why do you want to join Phoenix?:

From what I have seen and heard around the forum Phoenix seems like a very nice group that I would be interested in, a lot of times around the forums I attempt in helping people, 2 of my more popular threads are for asking about and making friends on the forums due to a large number of kids telling me they don't have many. So basically, I enjoy helping people and I would love to talk with and work with others who feel the same way :)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

To be quite honest when it comes to real life I am a bit of a anti-social, I don't have many friends and I don't enjoy social occasions due to various reasons, Through a very large portion of my life including to this day (but much less then the past) I have been bullied but it has showed me to not take what others say to personally because they two can be having problems. Also this helped me develop my graphic, server administration, and various other computer skills greatly increase over the years. It has also allowed me to find what I'm truly passionate about. Not to mention that because of my online habits I have met the love of my life and so far it has been the longest/best relationship I've ever been in (knock on wood)

But over all although I have gone through a tremendous amount of pain in my past it has helped me to overcome the things now that I might now of been able to if I hadn't gone through so much and I am truly grateful for that.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My #1 priority is to go to college and get a good job to support a family that I plan to some day have. I hope to have children and settle down in a nice house in Florida. The most important thing to me is to try my hardest now to be able to reach that goal. So school work, online projects, music, ect ect.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

Originally I joined hackforums recommended by my friend Vegar (know goes by Zeroday) Who told me about all the cool minecraft names sold. As soon as I came on I noticed all the simple questions in the minecraft administration section and answered a lot of them. The more time I spent online the more I found my self enjoying the site until now where the site is a huge part of my life and I spend a large portion of the time I can online posting and just enjoying.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I have many interesting skills that I possessed but the ones that I would like to share with you is Gaming and Money Making.

Gaming

I have been gaming ever since I was the age of 5. With my passion for games, I have achieved many goals such as leveling to 200 on Maplestory, reaching max levels on Runescape, and hitting Challenger on League of Legends. I've even been paid to perform for teams in the competitive scene. Gaming suits me the best as I am without a doubt competitive and dedicated.

Money Making

In addition to Gaming, I enjoy making money. I have tried many different techniques to make money whether it was offering services online or providing services in real life. I have made over 25,000 through the Internet at the age of 18, and plan on making more in the future!

---

Which section are you most active in and why?

With HackForums, I can easily say that I am the most active in the Gaming and Market Area. I give many advice within the gaming section, anywhere from making guides or just simply answering questions. In the Market Area, I provide gaming services and often sell in game currency and items.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.

I am definitely an extrovert... I try to get along with everyone. I'm happy go lucky, loud and at time obnoxious. I am always trying to make people laugh..or smile. Mainly because that keeps me smiling. I am kind and generous, caring and honest but if you cross me.. I will remember that. If your my friend, you've got a friend forever...but if you blow my trust... I will never trust you again!

I am impulsive and spontaneous...not always a good thing since it gets me in trouble a lot. I tend to open my mouth and speak my mind if I feel I'm right... but it sometimes I'm wrong and feel awful when I am...cause I usually hurt someone's feeling in the process...But I always apologize... mainly because the guilt kills me. I am very brave and consider myself very courageous. I feel I'm average when it comes to intelligence, but I love to learn, so this site interest me. I self-analyze all the time, but I try to learn from my mistakes and self improve. I believe in helping others and doing my best for the world. I'm definitely NOT perfect!! I can be very short tempered!! I enjoy playing sports, Basketball, Baseball, and Wrestling.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

I feel that life is huge gift. Unlike many who take this gift for granted, I try to live life to its fullest. Family and Friends have the most significant impact on me. I don't know, what I would do without them. They are always there for me, and help me when I'm at my lowest.

-----
What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

What keeps me active in the community, is I like to interact with many members of HackForums. The forum sections are very organized and split up well. Ultimately, the friendly and helpful community keeps me on!

Anything else you would like to say

I would like to thank you for creating this group. You are opening a brand new community where members can interact each other and become friends.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I can love people. I can patiently listen to people and help them out. I'm a great listener and I can easily comfort anyone with any kinds of trouble. I have a strong personality and very good at making neutral decisions.

Which section are you most active in and why? Mostly the tabs under the Computing/Coding sections. That's the areas I expertise in, part of my profession as well. So obviously that's the section I love the most.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I badly want to connect with others in here, make more friends, be more active, help others out, be part of something to do something.... Being a part of group is awesome AFAIK. I'd love to get on board with all these lovely members.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: I'm a determined motherfucker. I can guarantee that I'm one who has suffered hell loads during the age period 5 - 20. There was not a single day I slept peacefully because of all the shit that was happening. My dad was a furious guy and would cause some kind of trouble with the neighbors who wouldn't talk to us anymore and I have lost several friends that way. Several other problems like divorces, land problems, relationship problems etc made us completely isolated. After my college education, I was forced to look after the shop which my dad had managed(would have been possible to make huge profit out of it) but I decided to fuck it and follow my passion. I was tied to a chain for almost 2 decades so I finally decided to do whatever that pleases me and that's how I became who I am.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My family obviously. I'll do anything to take care of them. I have always made sure I do not hurt them. Even if I make my own decisions, I know after sometime they'll realize I did it for good. But if I know something is going to hurt them, I'll definitely not do that.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The Empire. /nuf said.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I have many interesting skills that I possessed but the ones that I would like to share with you is Gaming and Money Making, Running a stresser.

Gaming

I have been gaming since i was 11 i love call of duty, league of legends

Money Making

I Love making money the only way i make money right now is running a booter.

-----

-----
Which section are you most active in and why?

I would mostly be active in marketplace and gaming sometimes.

-----

-----
Why do you want to join Phoenix?

I would love to join Phoenix because it looks like a sick usergroup and i would love to be apart of it.

-----

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.

I am who i am because its just the people i hang out with who bring me here today. How did i get into stresser's because i used to get ddosd alot and i just looked into it. I've really been into DDoSing and all that other stuff because i just think its cool 1 click to the button and that person is offline. I love gaming because its just very entertaining and its what i do.

Which section are you most active in and why? SRPP because I enjoy feeling smart.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: A good portion of TE seems to make up the member-base.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are:

I'm just an average guy trying to make my way. I'm funny every once in awhile, and overall I'm pretty blunt. I also like beer. I would try and write another two paragraphs, but I'm really not that unique so they'd be utter bullshit, so this is what I leave you with.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? Right now it's college, a few years down the road it'll be getting a job, and after that it'll be a family.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? At first I just enjoyed the SRPP section, learning things from the likes of malichi and Apathy, then it was Void, then it was TE, now idk.

Anything else you would like to say: Nope.

Well, it's up to them if they want to put quality in their application or not. It'll just reflect back on them when the leaders decide who to pick and who to skip.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

I'm a programmer I'm fluent in a few different languages, and make a good amount off of HF. Not that it would matter, but I'm also very good at almost any Call of Duty game. More innuendo wise, I've dealt with loved ones who've submitted to drugs, alcohol, and have even committed suicide. I'm always available to talk to users when they're in need of anything I'm able to assist them with.

Which section are you most active in and why?

I usually browse the new posts, but I usually find myself in their one of the programming sections, the marketplace, and the Lounge.

Marketplace - I'm very involved in the HF marketplace.

Lounge - The most general topics that I love to read

Programming - Well, you know.

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: It seems like a high quality group that I'd like to be in.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.:

Well, I don't really like describing myself, but I'm more of 'the quiet guy' that has an infinite mind. I'm always thinking, but I never really express my thoughts or opinions. Something memorable, I don't know if that's supposed to mean bad or good, so I'll just go with good. Something memorable for me would have been when I was around 7 and my parents got in a car accident and almost died, but survived. My stepdad had to wear a neck cast for 2 months, and my mom broke her ankle. I'm very thankful they're still alive.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?

My priorities, let's see.

Keeping up in school, helping others, and playing around online.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining?

I was mostly interested in the programming sections at first, but then I realized how cool the rest of HackForums was and decided to stay and browse around more.

It's now part of my daily routine.

If you like this, I'll whip up a video and send it to you guys. Just let me know :)

Which section are you most active in and why?Well i'm not quite sure I browse all the sections quite a bit but maybe "The Lounge" and "Member Contest" and "Hacking Tools and Programs" Those would have to be the ones i'm in the most no particular order

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I'm going to be honest here you guys seem like a very high quality group with cool members and I would like it to be my first group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: Well my whole life i have been homeless moved around by my father because he couldn't take care of us. I just recently turned 17 I now have a job I purchased a trailer for us and i'm taking care of him. As he has cancer and is now doing "chemo/KEMO". Anyways with us being homeless and moving I have had to grow up way to fast I didn't get to be a child so im very mature and sometimes I hate it but I guess I wouldn't go back either.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you?Well being prepared for the future getting a life of my own while at the same time taking care of my father. I think going back to school as well and getting a degree in programming and or computer science.

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? To be honest I don't know I like the site and the community I guess it inspires me that all this can be in

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I have been successful in e-whoring using public packs and method for these reasons

1. Good Communication Skills [I talk to people as a normal human being first]
2. Understanding Nature [I don't just ask people to fuck off just coz they wont buy]
3. Business Sense. [I don't keep reducing the price of pic packs just coz they say its expensive, I wait for them to come back later and buy it for the price I quoted.]
4. Good at photoshopping Names on to Body, Paper, etc.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess:

Astronomy: I am an extremely big fan of anything dealing with astronomy. I love working with rockets specifically. With so many small things that can effect a rocket, perfection is key when making them/working with them. Specific Impulse, Gravity, Drag, and Mass is just the main areas that you have to work around.

Hunting: I LOVE hunting. I go hunting every year for Turkey, Deer, Pheasant, and Elk. I'm an extremely avid hunter and give up a lot just to go on a hunting trip. I can teach members how to track, the difference between tracks, what the tracks represent, how to gut/clean your kill, and how to process the meat.

Game Design: Game designing is one of my favorite things to do. I can do anything from the 3d animation, down to the code. Making little games here and there to get feedback on makes me happy, and game design is part of my job in real life. I have used Thinking Particles, and other software that many people haven't heard of. As a matter of fact, I worked with a friend who is at Infinity Ward. We used some of my Thinking Particles work in the new CoD that just came out. (If you'd like proof, please message me.)

Which section are you most active in and why?

I'd say the marketplace. Marketing is something I like to do. Outside of the marketplace, I like going to the Lounge or SRPP. I love debating and sharing different views with others, and seeing their perspective on things.

Explain, with examples, the skills you possess: I am pretty much a RATER. I can program HTML5 which isn't much of an accomplishment. But I got into ratting and with a couple of friends made about 50 slaves in a couple of hours even though I knew nothing about spreading.

Which section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the lounge, personal life, and RATs sub-forum. It's the only forums I belong in. :P

Why do you want to join Phoenix?: I want to join Phoenix because I have never been in a group before. It would be nice to be in a group and meet some people on HF. For now I'm a lone wolf. :P

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself personally or possibly something quite memorable that happened in your life, or an explanation of what makes you who you are.: What makes me who I am is the internet. I live and breath internet. I'm on it constantly, from morning to morning. I never get off of my computer unless my girlfriend comes over or friends. Ever since I was 5 or 6 I've been interested in computers, at 11 I finally wanted to know how they work and what happens in this little boxy tower. :P Long story short, the internet.

Where do your priorities in life lie? What is most important to you? My family, my friends, and my girlfriend. Those are the most important things in my life. (that and the internet ofc :D) Without them, I don't know what I would do. :P My priorities, making it through this world alive? :P

What caused you to stay active and be part of the community on Hackforums after first joining? The internet fascinated me. I remember how I got to this forum. I was searching up "DoSer" so I could boot someone offline on MC. xD But instead of that, I saw something greater. I saw a place to stay and a place to have fun at. Unfortunately, for me, it's not fun at the moment, as I don't know anyone on HF.
