I'm skeptical. If you're making hundreds of dollars per transaction (according to your PayPal screenshot), why would you waste all this time creating a 42 page guide so others can benefit? I'm sure you didn't type out all this step-by-step information, as you claim, just so you could make $35 bucks per sale for this ebook WHILE also offering after-sales support? Why not just use that time to make more money with your own method?

What is this return for an average user of your guide and how much time/money will be needed in initial investment?

There is no secret behind why I'm selling this,

1. It will never saturate
2. Extra income

Those are the main two reasons, I am not fearing saturation as it is impossible with this method, and I want the extra income.

Nitoh reported $300 made if I remember correctly, CallMelso reported $140.
Time can vary based on how quick you are to deploy the method.
