Thread: Online Symbol Next To Name...

Goodbye123123 - November 5, 2014, 8:17 pm

Hey guys, today I have been looking for a graphic design but I needed it quick so I was looking for people who were online... Now to do that, I had to click on each thread and look to see if they were online.

Suggestion:

Why not have a little green dot next to their name on the page that lists all of the threads so I don't need to check if they're online or not. I believe this can help out a lot of people and save some time.

Ex:

Thanks!

Great idea OP, would love to see something like this implemented into the forums.

Sure would be useful. I too today was looking through virtual MP to find an online seller for some csgo keys.

I'd rather have:  as it looks much, much cleaner than a greet dot. Nonetheless, I agree to this idea. Hope it gets implemented. If not however, someone NEEDS to make a userscript for this.

That would cause extra load on those pages. I'm not sure why you would need this anyways.
