

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How long do you wait between anime?

Esdese - November 11, 2014, 7:30 am

Well as the title states, how long do you wait before you move onto another anime?

I usually just go on to another one as soon as i'm done with whatever I'm currently watching, but I just finished Sakurasou no Pet na Kanojo and I'm super in the feels so I don't feel like watching anything ?

Peanut Butter - November 11, 2014, 8:02 am

10 minutes -> none. Don't see a point to waiting if you want to watch something else.

Esdese - November 11, 2014, 8:08 am

Well, I would really like to have the will power to wait cause normally I get super feels after finishes an anime, and then that mixes with other anime and I get emotionally fucked up hahaha

Vip?r - November 11, 2014, 8:53 am

As soon as I can find something new, I don't even wait to finish, watch both.

bdawg104 - November 11, 2014, 4:01 pm

Usually about a day and then I move onto another anime.

Scorpion_Sec - November 11, 2014, 4:02 pm

None at all i watch the next episode in 3 min or less

Nevieth - November 11, 2014, 4:05 pm

I actually tend to wait about a day or two once I completely finish up an anime series, sometimes if I already have another planned for afterwards and I'm looking forward to it, I'll make it immediately.

Most of the time as I said already it's about a day or two, only reason being is that I have to search around HummingBird for a new show.

Leminiscent - November 11, 2014, 4:15 pm

Sometimes a day, sometimes a week, sometimes a month. It all depends on what I feel like doing atm. Sometimes I'll watch multiple series' a week, sometimes I'll watch one series a month. It all depends on what I feel like doing.

Chips Ahoy McCoy - November 11, 2014, 4:17 pm

I only wait if I got feels from a series. I waited like a week or so before starting a new one after watching Sakurasou.

In?sane? - November 11, 2014, 4:18 pm

Completely random depending on what i feel like doing at the time, don't really see a point in having a specific time frame in between animes.

Nine - November 11, 2014, 4:19 pm

After I finish an anime, I just try finding something new and just start it. On the same day, but just a couple hours later.

Sasaki Haise - November 11, 2014, 4:20 pm

Depends on the series. If it's amazing, I just go through the fanfics and stuff until I get mad absorbed into it before moving onto the next.

Nevieth - November 11, 2014, 4:24 pm

(Nov 11, 2014 05:17 PM)Endomous Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I only wait if I got feels from a series. I waited like a week or so before starting a new one after watching Sakurasou.

Agreed, after Zankyou no Terror I had to wait a little bit because I was an absolute mess after episode 11.

dw039riqr30iq0f - November 11, 2014, 6:28 pm

I usually make a pause of 1 day or so to find a good anime I'd watch after I'm done with one. But atm I just have too much things I wanna see so as soon as I finish a serie I watch another one.

Tyranny - November 11, 2014, 6:33 pm

I like to watch my anime in one go, followed by anything else related to the series, and then I will move straight on to a new series. I don't like to wait long amounts of time between series. Gotta keep the anime fix constant or else I will break out into a cold sweat...

Dragon. - November 11, 2014, 6:41 pm

(Nov 11, 2014 09:08 AM)Esdesse Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, I would really like to have the will power to wait cause normally I get super feels after finishes an anime, and then that mixes with other anime and I get emotionally fucked up hahaha

You need to watch more anime. I haven't really gotten "the void" since I finished White Album 2 (and that was in like May).

Esdesse - November 11, 2014, 8:04 pm

(Nov 11, 2014 07:41 PM)Dragon. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You need to watch more anime. I haven't really gotten "the void" since I finished White Album 2 (and that was in like May).

For some reason anime like Zankyou no Terror doesn't give me super feels, but anime like HS DxD and The pet girl of saraskou or whatever give me hella feels, but like feels that make me reminisce.

kurorolucifer23 - November 11, 2014, 11:31 pm

as soon anime finish im finish too haha

frisco - November 12, 2014, 4:13 am

I usually think I will do something useful and finish a lot of work after I end a series. But NO, I just have to move on to the next one instantly, because i feel like i still haven't had enough. :/

frisco - November 12, 2014, 4:14 am

I usually think I will do something useful and finish a lot of work after I end a series. But NO, I just have to move on to the next one instantly, because i feel like i still haven't had enough. :/

Lu Good - November 12, 2014, 6:04 am

Like 1 week or something and you ? :)

alphaking25 - November 12, 2014, 7:05 am

Usually i'm not really into waiting :D just keep watching until i'm really bored :)

32thekast123 - November 12, 2014, 7:30 am me too i dont like waiting to find a new anime instead, while i am follwing an anime i search for a new so i can directly move on the next one. but that doesnt works always well :(.

Esdese - November 12, 2014, 2:14 pm

I really wish I had the will power to at least wait 2-3 days before starting up another anime.

DragonBook - November 12, 2014, 4:30 pm

I used to not wait because I had thing lined up, but I just finished the last season of Yuru Yuri and there is nothing I really want to watch... or haven't seen already.

Yennson - November 18, 2014, 9:26 am

I never waited maybe once happened to me to wait two days but it was a matter of higher importance.

robo2207 - December 30, 2014, 2:47 pm

Have watched 2 at the same time not really a big deal :)

Lower - December 31, 2014, 12:11 pm

I just watch anime when I feel like it. If it's a good series, I might not feel like watching another series for a couple of days, but normally - I can move onto another series straight away if it interests me.

Play Boy - December 31, 2014, 2:54 pm

Hmm. Whenever I feel bored I watch anime. It could be one after the other or a short break or a long break.

Lawliet - December 31, 2014, 3:14 pm

I simply watch anime when I feel like it, to be honest in october this year I ended my longest anime break which was 2 years long. I regret nothing.

Ahri????? - December 31, 2014, 7:21 pm

I usually take my time after watching a anime, all depends on my mood and how hooked I am into starting a new one. Typically it's 1 week, need to balance my video game, anime, and soon school time.

Lyrlei - January 1, 2015, 2:23 am

The only time i watch anime is when an update of a good anime comes out- Or when a good anime comes out.

I make sure to finish all episodes as far as my free time can afford- or when i get bored.

Daniel Faraday - January 1, 2015, 3:27 am

Depends what's out in the season. I don't have enough time to watch everything I want, so I usually watch the first episode of everything that looks good, and then watch a few week to week, dropping the ones that weren't that great. Then I go back and watch most of what I dropped, and some of the hidden gems I missed.

Best example would probably be when Kyoukai (Fall 2013) and Shinsekai Yori (Fall 2012) came out. I didn't pick Kyoukai up until episode 2-3, because it was in the same season as Log Horizon and Magi.

Shinsekai Yori had the terrible luck of being in the same season as Psycho Pass, K, Magi, Zetsuen no Tempest, and Btooom!, and SAO. I dropped it on episode 2 and didn't pick it back up until around episode 7-8.

Private Network - January 1, 2015, 4:04 am

I never wait, because I want more excitement.

InfinityComplex321 - January 1, 2015, 6:49 am

I usually wait about a year, for any type of anime I watch.

VYKTOR - January 1, 2015, 9:14 am

I have been watching anime without any break. I watch on a daily basis & I only wait when I come across an anime full of feels.

When I finished watching Code Geass & Mirai Nikki, I took a two day break as there were too many feels.

Esdese - January 1, 2015, 12:46 pm

(Jan 1, 2015 10:14 AM)V?K??R Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have been watching anime without any break. I watch on a daily basis & I only wait when I come across an anime full of feels.

When I finished watching Code Geass & Mirai Nikki, I took a two day break as there were too many feels.

I think after Mirai Nikki I didn't watch another anime for like 2 weeks tbh. Shit was way to intense.

Now I wait like a day or less depending on how feely.

But recently I finished Zero no Tsukaima and that shit fucked me up, so I waited like 4 days hahaha.

VYKTOR - January 1, 2015, 2:06 pm

(Jan 1, 2015 01:46 PM)Esdese Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think after Mirai Nikki I didn't watch another anime for like 2 weeks tbh. Shit was way to intense.

Now I wait like a day or less depending on how feely.

But recently I finished Zero no Tsukaima and that shit fucked me up, so I waited like 4 days hahaha.

ikr, the feels were to much to digest after watching Mirai Nikki.

It was really one of the most intense romance anime with psychological genre in it.

I used to think about it almost all the time during those two days.

Esdese - January 1, 2015, 3:01 pm

(Jan 1, 2015 03:06 PM)V?K??R Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ikr, the feels were to much to digest after watching Mirai Nikki.

It was really one of the most intense romance anime with psychological genre in it.

I used to think about it almost all the time during those two days.

I used to, for the longest time. I had no idea there was an OVA so I was really fucking sad over the ending then I saw the OVA and cried I was so happy Imfao

Kenpachi - January 1, 2015, 3:07 pm

I don't really wait. I just find a new one and move on to that.

QuickMan - January 1, 2015, 3:23 pm

If i have something next planned to watch i go watch it right away. You can never have too much anime.

Patskies - January 1, 2015, 4:24 pm

Usually a couple of days, just so I can stop constantly thinking about how much I loved or hated the ending xD

Chips Ahoy McCoy - January 1, 2015, 4:26 pm

(Jan 1, 2015 05:24 PM)Patskies Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Usually a couple of days, just so I can stop constantly thinking about how much I loved or hated the ending xD

Exactly me right now with Toradora. I haven't started any new series yet after finishing that one.

Patskies - January 1, 2015, 4:32 pm

(Jan 1, 2015 05:26 PM)Endomous Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exactly me right now with Toradora. I haven't started any new series yet after finishing that one.

I haven't watched a new series of anime in weeks, I have been watching Naruto and One piece as episodes come out but nothing new. Just waiting for the next season of Kuroko No Basuke to come out xD shaheermalik - January 3, 2015, 10:26 am

no time man

not at all

i just cant wait even a day

Esdese - October 9, 2024, 7:04 pm

(Nov 11, 2014 09:02 AM)Tsundere Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As soon as I finish a series I move onto something else.

I still do this to this day. I don't know how people wait inbetween shows.

Vip?r - October 10, 2024, 9:18 am

(Oct 9, 2024 07:04 PM)Esdese Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I still do this to this day. I don't know how people wait inbetween shows.

nice gravedig nerd

I binge watch shows as soon as they are done airing

fswn - October 10, 2024, 7:53 pm

watching other animes lol. i'm kidding, most of the time i forget about them and come later to full finish them

Chrome - October 10, 2024, 11:46 pm

I havent watched any in about 2 years.

neboo1 - December 16, 2024, 6:26 am

As soon as I can find something new