Thread: Simply Imagination I Web Design I WIP

MissChiff - November 12, 2014, 5:24 pm

Making myself a miniature web design template. CnC is what I'm looking for :)

[I am also a freelance designer if anyone is looking for graphics ?]

Good design but the colors seem kind of boring to me. Also that background picture isn't the best. Great starting point though op :)

Love it, where'd you get those logo's from?

I agree the picture is boring. And I used those colors to match the tie on the background image. I kind of wanted to make it subtle.

Looks really good and clean, I like it a lot ?

Stu-Pot - November 13, 2014, 9:57 am

Looking sweet man, keep it up!

I made a very nice Thread Design aswell.

Looks good man, looks sleek and professional

EDIT: I noticed the image has a glove in the top pocket, at first this looks like a hand calling you in, which matches well with the title simply imagination, don't know if that was intentional.

Great job, Chiff. I really like the clean colors and design; it really emphasizes your tagline and what your website design is 'all about'.

I hope to see even better work from you.

Doesn't look very polished and not a fan of the font choice.

Looks quite similar to this. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4531655>

I suppose he was inspired with my latest piece. Which isn't a bad thing but there are better sources for inspiration scattered across the web.

Some thing you might want to think about.. is that the layout isn't best to be used for portfolio/freelance purposes imo.

A change in the background image could make a overall improvement in the design.

The current position of the "Login" text makes me feel like its less of a button and more of a form. Maybe brighten the gray a tad more so it stands out.

Perhaps remove the "More Info" text under the "View Portfolio" button. Simply add more info by expanding the canvas and provide more to the homepage.

Enough with the criticism, hopefully you take it into consideration upon your next version. Not bad OP, keep it up I would love to see your updated version.

Did you design what is in these triangles?

I did mine based off Coinbase's website, and the body isn't even remotely similar to that, but thanks for the input.

Thanks for the feedback, I'll post a revised version when I get the chance. And no, I didn't design those web designs.

Are you planning to develop this into a functional website?
