Thread: My VCW is sooo slow!

1337Phr3dy - November 23, 2014, 5:35 am

Hey guys, I have a problem with my vcw. When I use my vcw in Google Chrome the video is sooo slow. Do you guys have any ideas how to make it faster? Btw, EasyVCW doesn't work in flash player 10 standalone itself.

But I can't delete the Macromed folder because I don't have permissions.

Pm me at 7:00 pm central time zone. I know how to fix that since I had the same issue myself.

I am sleeping at 7:00 PM time zone. I can send you now and you'll help me when you can.

Just follow the video exactly, including the part where you open up Firefox and go to chatroulette, every single little step.

If you don't have permission you can download a program called Take Ownership, and that'll fix the permission problem.

I can't post links so PM me for download link or just Google "Take Ownership"

Thanks man! I've had this 2 problems, now let's see if it works.

Actually I could delete the folders, done the steps from the video, still the same. Thank you so much anyways.

UPDATE: Do I need to delete the most recent flash player that I have?

Whats the exact issue? It doesn't work at all (loading wise since that video tutorial was for that) or is the actual java loading is slow or the ManyCam view is lagging? Please add more specific information.

Yes you do. Just do what the video says.

Well, EasyVCW 1.51 works on Google Chrome, but it is slow, and it works, it may sound weird, but when I click in the settings of flash player and I click in the things of microphone settings and that stuff in there, the vcw videos moves, and sometimes when I am moving the mouse while it is on the flash player settings, the video moves too. Its weird. But when I drag the EasyVCW file to the Adobe flash player 10 sa it closes.

Well, that was a nice answer. Actually, have you read my thread with attention, because I did what he said in the video, but it didn't work. So before calling me a dumbass, read the whole thread. Thank you.

There is no fucking way that it didn't work, it's literally impossible as I had the same problem with you TWICE in my lifetime, and those steps sure did solve it

1337Phr3dy - November 24, 2014, 11:34 am

Whatever, if you don't believe me, ok. I will do it again, and tell you what is the results.

You might need to disable hardware acceleration. Just go to like chat roulette and right click then go to settings then you should see hardware acceleration checked. Just uncheck it then you should be good. Just go through all the tabs if you can't find it.

1337Phr3dy - November 24, 2014, 11:41 am

I did that. Didn't solve anything. Thanks anyways.

420 Blaze It - November 24, 2014, 11:41 am

Ctrl+Alt+Del Program, Realtime Priority, try that.

1337Phr3dv - November 24, 2014, 11:57 am

Where is that 420 Blaze it? And I didn't watch the video again, but I did try to unistall flash player 15, but it didn't unistall it.

Thanks leroyjkl, I appreciate the help. EDIT: I solved it before. A user helped me. And his post that helped me is in this thread, but still thanks.

I did that, but in Chrome it says it is installed yet.

Guys, I am so sorry, but it doesn't seem to work. in chrome:\\plugins says that it is installed, and it says a path of a file that I think it is a file that proves that it is installed. Should I delete that file? The path is C:\\Program Files (x86)\\Google\\Chrome\\Application\\39.0.2171.65\\PepperFlash\\pepflashplayer.dll

I did delete The Macromed folder in System32 and SysWOW64 and in Roaming. And I did delete the folder "Adobe Flash Player" in the Adobe folder in Roaming.
