Thread: Best ways to make a stable income online?

Zombie Juice - November 23, 2014, 2:38 pm

So i'm 17 and it's my last year in highschool and while i'm still living with my father, I want to know the best way to make an like a stable income online.

I am ready to work and not just here for easy stuff.

Depends on your capital.

How much do you have to start with?

Do you have any specific skills?

Where are you located?

Try google adsense, I mean like open a blog or a site, gather tons of visitors to your site, make it famous. That's a stable income I guess.

Hmm, I'm not such a guru on this but I would suggest trying out PPD (Pay-Per-Download), get some starting cash and then invest it into something else.

PPD is a great way of making quick cash but unless you put some work in it it's not going to be very stable.

I started it back in Jan. 2013 and kept going with it until now and will continue to do it for about 2 years probably, then I'll switch to stocks, I really like the idea xD.

Get a stable job online.

Sometimes you gotta simplify things.

Here is how I see 'stable income'. If you want a truly stable income make sure you keep everything in your own hands. Avoid only relying on affiliate networks, or bots, or OTHER websites. Make your own assets such as twitter pages, youtube channels, your own products/websites and cut out all extra factors.

Extra factors such as affiliate networks, bots, and utilizing other website. Those things can change/go away without you being able to do anything about it.

Here is a great thing to do. Build a big page on social media grow a nice REAL audience in a popular niche. That page then becomes your asset, your stable income. From there you can monetize it with your own adsense blog website, you can also promote other peoples products and sell shoutouts.

This is a impossible question to answer without more information. How much money do you have to invest, what are your strengths good with math, coding, etc. There is no such thing as a button in which you click and earn $1,000 a day. If you have $1,000-$5,000 then you could make very good money investing etc, and if your good at coding you could make a website and make money off of ads and so forth. PM me if you need help

You could get adsense and if you target a certain group, you could make plans and set up meetings with other companies that might be interested in buying ads. PM me if you need extra help
