Thread: Ways forum admins/mods can hack their users

Fil0x - November 23, 2014, 6:27 pm

Can you tell me all the ways forum administrators and moderators can hack their users?

Jason™ - November 23, 2014, 6:27 pm

Uh idk maybe changing their password?

This either a complete joke or possibly one of the skiddiest questions on the planet!

First off why would you want to hack your members?

Second are you really that incompetant that you cant hack them with with all of their info? haha

Lol, just store creds in plaintext in the mysql db, there ya go! But this makes it abig security risk too!

What? No, not me lol. I'm not an admin or mod.

I'm a member of a forum and I saw an admin dude threaten to hack one of his members and I'm wondering how he could.

Well I am going to be honest, depending on the admin he could most likely certainly make their lives hell.

How though? The person had an account, but deleted it, and now just posts as an anon.

He could just inject a wide spread exploit in the site to infect people

Which would do what exactly? Install RATs in people's computers or something?

Yes Sir! ? and FYI it wasn't your post that induced my comment, doesn't matter anyway.

Calm yo ass down.

Haha.. Trust me I have a far better method from all the above. It doesn't require keeping plain text password in db !

PM me if you want it :) Happy to share
