Thread: [\[SUPPORT\] \[RANT\] The Official Thread of Relationships](#)

Warren Buffett - November 24, 2014, 11:19 pm

This is the official unofficial thread of relationships. We all know relationships are hard, well if you don't know anything about being one, that is. Girls can be confusing and guys can be too simple sometimes. That's why I think this thread is for those who have questions about boys or girls and about anything that has to do with being in a relationship. It would be great if some girls would be able to come in and help guys and vice versa. This thread is for those who have questions about relationships, that's also including me.

I'm already aware of there being trolls and skids that are going to pretend to be a gender online that they're not in real life so that will be closely monitored.

I'm not a relationship expert and I think we all can learn new things about better relationships with their special someone. If you are answering someone's question, please make sure to reply with a "Quote" instead of replying with just a reply or PM. Let's try to keep the answers in replies so everyone may see them as there might be people that are wondering the same thing. I really hope this benefits some people.

Some questions that may be asked in thread like this is, how does one respond to jealousy, love, or pride. Or, a girl talked to me for the first time, how do I respond? These are some things everyone wonders about. Thanks for everyone's input in this thread. Please keep in mind that we all started somewhere in our relationship life so please be respectful to others. Thanks,

Honestly, best relationship advice comes from those who aren't in one.

And good job on the thread OP. looks like you put some effort into it

Best relationship advice comes from those who are willing to learn from others. It's a complicated thought but it does make sense. Thanks too!

Glad to see you are offering this help to people in need.

I can say though, that you definitely seem to know what you're talking about.

Maybe I wasn't too clear on this but I'm not offering this as a service. This is a community thing and should be contributed by everyone. This way, not only will I be asking or answering question but everyone will be able to help out when they want to.

Warren Buffett - November 30, 2014, 7:38 am

For those that still need help, this thread is still open to the community.

Warren Buffett - December 15, 2014, 6:34 pm

Okay, I'm back to this. Anyone that needs this, feel free to take advantage of it. Just remember, myself and members on HF will be more than happy to help. Good luck!

I'm willing to help out on this (:

Been in a relationship over a year now and am a female, so I might be able to help those of you out who are confused about some girl stuff.

If you see me online and I don't respond, feel free to PM me and remind me lol.
Sometimes I forget about the threads I post in.

Alright, so I'm 14, nearly 15... I've recently started going out with a girl, she turned 16 this year, so she's a year older than me, but it's my first "real" girlfriend, like I had a girlfriend a long ass time ago but it wasn't exactly a relationship because we were young.

Just I don't know how to act with her when we aren't alone, like we are really into each other, we have the same interests, she's gone through similar shit I have, her personality is amazing, she is beautiful, just amazing in general to me.. But, I'm really new to all this, and acting around her in school is awkward a lot... Any help?

Now she loved me I know this she wanted me and I didn't really like her at first but eventually changed and fell in love. She recently broke up with me and basicly said because shes a teenager trying to figure out her feelings.... IDK what to do man I miss her so much! any advice on possibly getting her back? thanks

I would talk this out with her. Ask her what kind of feelings she's trying to figure out. Give her some time and see if she's just saying that or if she's actually trying to figure out her feelings.

Ahh right, well... Yeah I am, I'm sort of getting used to it more, I've started hugging her more, and I'm waiting for tomorrow to kiss her for the first time. I'm staying at her's tomorrow, we have a good night planned...

Hmm, not a very popular thread, however I really appreciate your contribution, OP.

I have a question, I'm not currently in a relationship, however there's this girl I really like and we're having fun together and great moments, however we're only really close friends and nothing more. We've kind of "agreed" to remain friends and we both know nothing more will happen.

I would really like to step up and have a relationship with her, now or later, it doesn't matter, currently she doesn't want a boyfriend, she said she'll want one later and probably I'm going to for it then.

Do you have any advice on how I could do this ?

Appreciated!

I would talk to her about getting in a relationship before you tell her that you have feelings for her and that you want to date her. You need to know how she feels about relationships. Good luck.
