

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Monetizing Methods

Limited Edition - November 26, 2014, 3:17 am

I noticed sonex became moderator of the MT forum so I am happy to know things will change around here for the better. Congrats sonex.

I just wanted to say something to everybody... When you're posting 'monetizing methods' could you please make sure they work before you post them. What I mean by this is have real payment proof to back your shit up.

I see so many topics like: "Auto-pilot - Earn with hitleap" - Personally, I only know of 1 method that worked with hitleap and its recently been patched. It never earned anything worthwhile anyway. Now I see people making topics saying they have proof when all they have is proof that their earnings are adding up on a site they found. This does NOT mean it works, hell, URL shortener sites will let your earnings add up on site but when it comes to paying out they'll refuse the payment. Wait until you have payment proof before posting and so if it doesn't pay out, you only waste your own time and not everybody else's.

"happyminercoupon or similar websites" - c'mon, any idiot can see these sites are 100% fake but I do understand that there are a lot of people who surpass been an idiot. This may be a bad example because you need to share the link 5 times to check if it actually works but do it some place else.

"PM me for this method" - I know this has recently been added to the rules and users can not do this, I thought I would bring it up anyway. Stop making these topics, or finding away to twist the rule to make a similar topic and then sending users your ref link to a site like probux or what ever the fuck it is called. There's a referral forum, use it!

What I am getting at is don't post a method unless you know it 100% works. I personally tried all these shitty hitleap methods and many other ones but I didn't post about them and waste other people's time. I just did them, realised it didn't pay and moved on.

Instead of posting "new awesome totally 100% working method" topics when you don't know if they work or not, why not post ASKING if it works or not. I can almost guarantee that somebody on HF would have tried and tested the method before you found it and will be able to stop you wasting your time. IF nobody has come across the method before, you'll still get recognition for finding the method because you made the first post questioning if it works or not. If you want to know if a method works or not and don't want to make a topic, feel free to PM me and if I know the answer, I'll tell you.

I hope some people actually see this and this forum can continue to improve.

sonex - November 26, 2014, 4:11 am

(Nov 26, 2014 04:17 AM)Limited Edition Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) "Auto-pilot - Earn with hitleap"

I'd just like to point out yet again, if you're making a tutorial, please add prefix [TUTORIAL] instead of bunch of text unrelated to actual thread, this isnt a rule nor you have to do it but makes life easier for others.

(Nov 26, 2014 04:17 AM)Limited Edition Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wait until you have payment proof before posting and so if it doesn't pay out, you only waste your own time and not everybody else's. If your method is something new and you're unsure whether it pays out or not rather dont post it yet, if on the other hand your tutorial is something in general, you dont need to post proofs though.

(Nov 26, 2014 04:17 AM)Limited Edition Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) "happyminercoupon or similar websites" True, freaking waste.

(Nov 26, 2014 04:17 AM)Limited Edition Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) "PM me for this method" With me in charge now, I'm yet to see such thread pop out. If you or anyone else notice someone who does it and I somehow missed it, feel free to shoot me a PM.

(Nov 26, 2014 04:17 AM)Limited Edition Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What I am getting at is don't post a method unless you know it 100% works. I personally tried all these shitty hitleap methods and many other ones but I didn't post about them and waste other people's time. I just did them, realised it didn't pay and moved on.

Correct, or I said if it's something in general that you know works but you just want to share knowledge e.g. freelancing, we all know it works though.

(Nov 26, 2014 04:17 AM)Limited Edition Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I hope some people actually see this and this forum can continue to improve.

If we try hard enough we can change this section within a week, all it takes is some of your free time to post something usefull. Thank you for this thread once again.

Necromancer134 - November 27, 2014, 5:21 am

I'm glad to see this section being improved upon. Thank you Sonnex, Limited Edition for this thread, and to the people who posted quality tutorials.