Thread: What is stopping you?

What is stopping you right now from making millions or billions?

I'm not crazy... You CAN make this money but what is stopping you? Ask yourself this very question... You will soon find that nothing is stopping you, only yourself... The moment I realized this was the moment I made a change and I believe I'm walking on the right path to become a billionaire.

But what if we have no skills then?

I suppose that the fact I don't own a computer and haven't had any success in previous try's is a bit of a turn off. I have always understood that if I'm willing to work hard enough I can get there so I have started spending time reading about how other have succeeded until I find something which works for me. Congrats with having such success, it's great to here.

Your feelings, mind, experience and your area is stopping you.

Feelings - Everyone has a small lack of confidence. Noone is 100% confident.

Mind - Your knowledge about money and it's value is also making you lose confidence - Rendering you ever more unable to earn $.

Experience - You have experience with money and you know how hard it is to get - This stops you, too.

Area - Everyone around you is struggling with money, there is never enough money for everyone - You don't even think about earning billions when you're surrounded by common people with standard/low income.

This is just one point of view.

In my case - I am a student, not yet 18 but I earned a lot and even made my own HF 150$ GiveAway (Join it in Member Contests)
